God Bless You As the New Year Dawns

God bless you all as New Year dawns to bring its smiles or tears, God grant its passage proves to be the brightest of your years; But as I make this wish I know for some it can't come true— Those facing Sunset where now live their dear ones gone from view; For them the past holds golden years around which mem'ry clings, In fancy, voices long since hushed they hear with laughter ring; To all who hide hearts filled with grief, who fight back tears and sighs, No New Year brings the happiness they knew in years gone by;

The years take from us as they run, their toll of many kind,
They leave hopes shattered, health impaired and vacant chairs behind;
In youth, our song and dance and mirth to New Year's dawn we give,
Age finds us travelling back to youth and years that we have lived;
We view the wise and foolish things we did in by-gone years,
Those things that brought us happiness, the things that brought us tears;
God grant a loving Father Who has watched us from the start,
May find our good surpasses had to bring joy to His Heart. May find our good surpasses bad, to bring joy to His Heart;

In youth we wait impatiently—time drags so slowly by— In age, we sit in twilight's peace and years seem then to fly; No matter what the hurts may be in your heart or in mine, Let's leave them at the Feet of Christ to heal at New Year's time; It matters not where now you stand—as Youth with strength to spend— Or in the Sunset—facing Home—before the Journey's end; God bless you all as New Year dawns, God love you as you roam, God keep you in His Heart and Hand, and lead you safely Home.

The Advantages of Having a Pew Reserved

There are now quite a few pews available for rental in the Church. There are many advantages to be considered from the renting of these pews. In the first place there is the advantage of convenience. The pews are reserved for their holders on Sundays and Holydays of Obligation. The pewholder has the advantage of choice of location and may go directly to it rather than looking for a seat in some unoccupied pew. The rentals are very reasonable, hence there is good reason why more of our parishioners should be pew-holders.

This applies not only to those who live in the parish at the present time, but also those who formerly lived here and are now with us in spirit. These folk will be welcomed as pew-holders. If you are interested call at the Treasurer's Office in the Rectory.

Dear Friends:

By the favor of God and the generous co-operation of the entire parish, our Golden Jubilee celebration was a great success. It is only right then that we should render our sincere thanks to all those who by the generous sacrifice of their time, energy and money made this success possible.

We are deeply indebted to the good men who went around night after night from house to house soliciting contributions to our Golden Jubilee drive. Theirs was a labor of love for which God will surely bless them.

Nor must we forget our little choir and altar boys who helped make our services such a pleasing spectacle. All praise to those who got them ready.

Ever since the Bazaar of 1937, our people have generously given of their means to make it possible for us to hold this celebration. They outdid themselves in the drive begun in September.. To date, their contributions total approximately $17,000. These donations have enabled us not only to pay for the numerous improvements in the Church but also to reduce our funded debt by $7,500.00.

From the very start of our preparations for this celebration, we were confident that all we had to do was to make known our needs and our loyal people would respond with a will. It is so gratifying that these expectations have been abundantly fulfilled.

May the riches of God's blessing descend upon our parish and remain with it forever.

THOMAS J. HIGGINS, S.J., Pastor.

NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS

"The grace of Our Lord Jesus Christ and the charity of God and the communion of the Holy Ghost be with you all." This is the wish which St. Paul addressed to the Christians of Corinth (II Cor. xii, 13); it is the wish which the Fathers of the Church of the Gesu extend to all the members of the congregation as their solemn New Year's felicitations.

May God be with you with the abundance of His grace and the fullness of His love and may He infuse into your souls the richest gifts of His Holy Spirit!

May He bless you and bless your children and your homes!

May He bless your labors and all your undertakings and bring them to a successful issue in accordance with His Holy and Adorable Will!

May He be with you in prosperity and abundance, that you may not abuse the gifts of His bounty!

May He be with you in sorrow, in sickness and poverty, giving you strength and patience to bear them with resignation.

May Sin never find entrance into your hearts and may the grace of God be the brightest ornament of your souls!

A Happy New Year To All

Heroes of the International Brigade

Here is something for those newspaper writers who are trying to "smear" General Franco and his army. See if you can find this news in your Philadelphia papers: Two correspondents—one a New York newspaperman—after a recent visit to Spain give us this highlight on "Spanish Democracy"—and especially on the great "heroes" of the International Brigades who are fighting for that same "Democracy."

It is the story of Belchite once a picturesque city of 6000 people—say the correspondents: "The story should be interesting to Americans because the Abraham Lincoln Battalion, made up of American radicals fighting with the Abraham Lincoln Battalion, made up of American radicals fighting with the Spanish Reds, had a prominent part in the war-time history of this ruined city." It is a story the writers believe has never been told. The Hermitage, an old church and monastery was built on a hill near Belchite. Listen to the correspondents: "The Americans held this place for nearly seven months until almost decimated by the National troops. While the International Brigades held the Hermitage, they profaned it. There is not one single religious object left in and around it, expect a statue of the Blessed Virgin in a niche above the main door of the church—the head of this statue is missing—obscene drawings were likewise chalked on the walls of the church ing—obscene drawings were likewise chalked on the walls of the church, interspersed with names of various International Brigade Units."

These two correspondents continue: "An interesting story about the Hermitage was told the writers by an American newspaperman of nationwide reputation. When the Abraham Lincoln Battalion and other International Brigade Units attacked the place in September 1937 they were unexpectedly held up for several days by the stubborn defence offered by 300 Carlist troops there. The Nationalist troops finally capitulated. Instead of being treated as brave men, however, they were lined up in the courtyard of the Hermitage and shot down in cold blood by the enraged International Brigaders. The newspaperman who gave these facts said he had secured them directly from officers of the Abraham Lincoln Battalion themselves. He declared, 'These officers shamefully admitted this savage massacre of the Carlists. They told me the men had gotten out of control and they could not restore discipline until the butchery was over. The same old gag 'out of control.' Think of it! Heroes of the International Brigade-fighting for 'Spanish Democracy' getting 'out of control' to slaughter brave men who had surrendered to them! Heroes don't do that!'" So much for the Hermitage— Now for the city of Belchite itself. Again say the two correspondents: "Other International Brigade Units held Belchite itself. Not only did they profane the interior of the city's prinicpal church and the chapel of the Carmelite Convent, but they also smashed the tombs of a score of nuns buried behind the latter place. In the humble little cemetery the rude pine caskets had been dragged out, and the bodies of the nuns dumped in a heap on the ground." "Certainly," an officer with the correspondents remarked, "these fiends didn't expect to find any gold rings or other valuables buried with these poor nuns! What a useless act of depravity."

This is only one of the many fearful and savage crimes committed by the so-called "heroes of Spanish Democracy." The American people are a fair-minded people. Isn't it time for the American Press to lash out against the foul crimes done by these "heroes" in the name of Democracy?

On Sunday, November 13th, the New York Times carried excerpts from 22 papers of the nation—all condemning vigorously the present Nazi attack on the Jews. We join with these 22 papers. This attack is an inhuman, brutal, cowardly thing, to be repudiated by every decent man and woman. Our Holy Father, members of the American Hierarchy, Clergy and Catholic laymen have raised their voices in protest.

Here is a question. Will the New York Times or any other daily newspaper collect and publish 22 like condemnations from the daily press, of the savage murder and inhuman butchery of Catholic laymen, priests, bishops and nuns in Spain? Why not? These are facts—300,000 laymen slaughtered (outside of battle), 6,000 alone of secular clergy (not including religious orders), 20,000 churches and chapels destroyed or partially ruined. Let us be fair. Savagery is savagery—not only in Germany against Jews—but in Spain still. Let us condemn it openly, fairly and with no pussyfooting. Let the Philadelphia papers begin. Maybe others will follow our courageous example.

The names of some Priests, Nuns and soldier boys were omitted unintentionally from the lists in our Golden Jubilee Book. We regret their omission, and also the fact that some convents failed to receive invitations to our "Fruits of the Parish" Day celebration. The Jubilee Committee.

Copies of the Jubilee Book are still on sale. The price is one dollar.

Souvenir photographs of the Jubilee Mass may be ordered at the rectory. Price 35 cents and up.

Sermon Preached by Rev. Joseph Hogan, S. J. at the Opening of the Golden Jubilee Celebration December 8, 1938

"Be you also as living stones, built up, a spiritual house." St. Peter—Epistle I—C. 2, V. 5.

Two significant letters form a fitting introduction for today's celebration: The first is dated September 29, 1866. It reads:

Very Rev. Angelo Paresce, Provincial, S.J. Very Rev. Dear Father:

I called at St. Joseph's this morning, expecting to find your Paternity here, and intending to communicate our acquiescence in your proposed purchase, Stiles, Thompson, Seventeenth and Eighteenth Streets. As you seemed to think that more or less prompt action was required, I have thought it well to make known to your Paternity our approbation, that you may immediately proceed to secure the lot.

I am very sincerely and respectfully
Your obedient servant in Christ,

† JAMES F. WOOD, Bishop of Philadelphia.

The result of that letter was the building of the Gesu Church.
The second letter is dated September 6, 1922. It is addressed: "To the Reverend Clergy and Beloved Laity of the Diocese of Philadelphia."
It reads in part:

Very affectionately yours,

†D. CARDINAL DOUGHERTY, Archbishop of Philadelphia."

The result of that letter was the magnificent Gothic buildings at Overbrook.

The story of the years between those two letters—more than a half a century—might be called a Pioneer's Dream. It is a story written in brick and stone—but more than that—it is a story written in labor and sacrifice, in the heroic devotion of human hearts to God and country.

Part of that story we shall outline this morning.

In 1848, an exile from religious persecution in Switzerland came to our shores. In November, 1866, the plot of ground, stiles, Thompson, Seventeenth to Eighteenth Streets was purchased for the sum of $45,000. In 1868, that same exile from Switzerland whose name was Father Villiger, was sent to begin the construction of a chapel at Seventeenth and Stiles. For some time this Chapel was called the New Saint Joseph's, afterwards, the Holy Family Church.

In March, 1879, ground was broken at Eighteenth and Stiles for the future Gesu Church, and in December, 1888, the Church was opened for public service.

This is the bare skeleton in dates and figures. The story of that skeleton clothed in flesh and blood and spirit is a story of heroism and sacrifice. It is the story of heroic Priests and people who kept the fire of our faith lighted through the dark days of persecution in Maryland; it is the story of men who travelled the hills and valleys of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Delaware, and finally found their way to the little shrine in Willings Alley, and thence to our beloved Gesu.

That story is part of the history of Philadelphia. When Father Villiger planned this church, he set his mind on the great arch above us, unsupported by many pillars. The architects hesitated. They were afraid it could not be done. But Father Villiger insisted that it could be done by making broad and powerful foundations. And so it stands today as he planned it. But Father Villiger was no mere planner of pillars and arches. He was a shepherd of his flock; he loved to have that flock around him. His joy was in being among them. He instructed them and, like St. Paul, he sorrowed with them in their sorrows and rejoiced with them in their joys. He knew that a church is more than brick and stone, more than pillars and arches. He had before him the beautiful words of St. Peter: "Be you also as living stones, built up, a spiritual house," and those of St. Paul: "Ye are the Temples of the Holy Ghost." It was his people, the sheep of his flock, fod.

For this we have the testimony of two saintly men, intimate friends of Father Villiger. In 1901, at the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of St. Joseph's college, Archbishop Ryan said of Father Villiger: "He has done great things in that half century; many of them visible; built a glorious church, and later on this grand institution (St. Joseph's College, Seventeenth and Stiles), but these are only visible evidences of the invisible good that he has done, the souls that he has consoled, his sympathy and assistance to the broken-hearted, the encouragement of sinners who knelt at his confessional—Invisible Work! That only God and His Angels saw."

And Father Dornhege, then pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church, said at Father Villiger's death: "His great life work was not the building of this magnificent church, the erection of this large school, this great college; but the work that he esteemed the most important of his life was the great work of saving souls."

And so Father Villiger was building an invisible arch—an arch that would swing from the Cave of Bethlehem to the great Throne of God; its foundation stone was Christ Jesus; its stones the precious souls of his people. And God blessed his work for from this parish have gone forth more than some have gone to their reward. The others and students for the priesthood. colleges, in parishes and missions, in hospitals and homes for the aged and the orphans, but today their hearts come back to the Gesu of Father Villiger.

And what shall we say of the thousands of faithful hearts who toiled in their daily lives and gave of that toil that this church might be? If their hovering around this church. Every brick is a witness to their generous memory. The records tell of hundreds, who in the joy and vigor of their youth pledged their faith one to the other in Holy Matrimony at yonder altar, and the same records tell of our beloved dead who were brought before that same altar to have the requiem of peace chanted over them as they came to the journey's end.

This church is hallowed by the presence of God. It is also hallowed by the smiles and the tears, the joys and the sorrows of the last fifty years. Smiles and tears, joys and sorrows, not empty and without hope, but sacred and fruitful through the faith taught us by Father Villiger.

Two of Father Villiger's outstanding characteristics were his wonderful faith and his childlike simplicity. He loved God and he loved God's Saints, and this prompted him to gather so many of their relics and place them in prominent positions in the church. This church with its tremendous size is a symbol of the breadth and the depth of the services Father Villiger thought ought to be rendered to God. That heritage of Faith he has left to us.

In May, 1893, Father Villiger returned from a trip to the Holy Land, and on the 9th of that month the parishioners held a great demonstration for him in the Academy of Music, and presented him with a gift of $10,000 for the purchase of an organ. Mr. James A. Flaherty, an outstanding citizen and devoted member of the parish was selected to make the presentation in the name of the parishioners. Mr. Flaherty said: "Father Villiger is back among us; he comes as no conqueror, no great statesman, no brilliant scientist, no public character, but simple Father Villiger, our much loved pastor."

It is true—Father Villiger did not come as a conqueror with sword and trumpet—but he did come as a conqueror of hearts. You cannot conquer hearts by the sword and the gun—only a heart can conquer a heart, and of Father Villiger it may be truly said: "His heart was the heart of a child, and such since time began, are those the eternal uses to speak to the heart of man."

On November 5, 1902, a wail of sorrow went up from every home in the Gesu Parish. The news spread rapidly—"Father Villiger is dead." As the body of this veteran soldier of Christ rested before the great altar he loved so well, thousands poured past his simple coffin and looked upon him as "he lay like a warrior taking his rest, with his martial cloak around him." Many followed him to his grave in Holy Cross Cemetery, and carried away handfuls of earth. No beat of drum, no funeral note—only the tears and prayers of the people he loved. There you will find a simple stone with the inscription:

REVEREND BURCHARD VILLIGER, S.J.

Born May 14, 1819

Died November 5, 1902-R. I. P.

There he lies with the great city built up around him.

"Daily the tides of life go ebbing and flowing beside him Thousands of throbbing hearts where his is at rest and forever, Thousands of aching brains, where his no longer is busy, Thousands of toiling hands, where his have ceased from their labors, Thousands of weary feet where his have completed their journey."

Yes, Father Villiger, you have come to the journey's end. God accept you, Christ receive you. Pray for us that we may be worthy of the heritage you have left us.

Members of the Gesu Parish—while you take a just pride today in fifty years of your church's existence, this celebration has a wider meaning for you. You are members not only of the Gesu Parish—you are members of the great Archdiocese of Philadelphia—an Archdiocese that yields to none in loyalty and service to the cause of God and country.

Its growth reads like a romance. In 1734, the congregation of Old St. Joseph's numbered little more than forty persons. In all Pennsylvania in 1765, there were about six thousand Catholics. Between 1732 and 1763 six churches were built by the missionaries—two at Philadelphia—the four others Conewago, Goshenhoppen, Lancaster, and Reading. Bohemia in Maryland, and Mill Creek in Delaware, also shared in the missionaries labors—and the records show us that the veteran Father Farmer rode horse-back once a month to New York.

When we think today of our hundreds of thousands of Catholics, our hundreds of churches and clergy, our splendid Catholic hospitals, our 136,-000 children in our schools, our homes for the poor, the afflicted, the aged and the orphans, the wonderful organization of our Archdiocese, let us never forget that heroic band of soul-builders that went before us and kept the torch of truth burning in old Philadelphia.

Let us breathe a prayer for, and take inspiration and high resolve from a courageous Hughes and a saintly Kendrick, a gentle Barbelin and a zealous Greaton, a noble Ryan, a beloved Villiger, and a host of others—patriots all, fighters all in the army of Christ—men who kept burning the fires of Religion and Patriotism kindled at that Sacred Shrine in Willings Alley.

It is fitting then that His Eminence Cardinal Dougherty as the Shepherd of this Archdiocese which has done so much for Religion and Patriotism in Philadelphia should, in his own name and in the name of the Bishops of the United States, transmit to us the latest message of our Beloved Pontiff Pius XI a message which warns us to assume greater responsibilities than ever before against the "dangers that threaten our democratic institutions."

America—you are no stranger to the Catholic Church—you cannot forget her. Before your Liberty Bell tolled its message, the tinkle of her mission bell was heard in your forests—the names of her Saints are on your rivers. Her great missioner is in your hall of fame. In the day of your danger, too many of her sons went swinging down to the rescue line for you to forget. Too much of their blood has watered your soil for you to be unmindful of her. America—the Catholics of this land will never let you down.

Venerable Shepherd of the flock committed to Peter by the Lake of Galilee—your voice is the voice of two thousand years. It is the voice of Peter, and Dinus, and Cletus and Clement and Xystus and Cornelius and Cyprian, and Leo and Gregory, and Pius and Benedict, and another Leo of our own day. It has called to us across the waters. Venerable Father of a church two thousand years old, but ever young in spite of your four score years, still standing erect, facing the battle-line, we have heard your voice through our own Shepherd. Our minds are keen to grasp the truth of your message, our hearts are aglow with its fire—we shall put on the helmet of justice and buckle on the armor of Christ; we shall heed the cry of the poor, the widow and the orphan—we shall wrestle with the powers of darkness, we shall stand shoulder to shoulder to keep this nation under God a free nation. Yes, Beloved Father, Venerable Shepherd, we have heard your message. Our message to you is simple, short, strong, sincere. It is this this Archdiocese of Philadelphia will not fail you.

Laborers in the Vineyard

Sermon delivered on occasion of Jubilee Celebration, December 10, 1938

By Rev. D. F. Comey, S.J.

It is a curiosity that the happiness of reunion often carries with it a memory of the heartbreak of loneliness. It is possibly even more curious that the joy of today, our homecoming day, is enhanced by the painful memory of the home-leaving. Every cassock worn here today and every veil suggests a story of a boy or girl who sternly faced a problem and courageously reached a decision to leave home in order to follow Christ more closely. The farewell that broke from trembling lips tugged and pulled at the heart and choked off words. And then there was a silently lonesome home as a homesick boy or girl marched courageously into the future, pledged to the special service of God. Farewells are always painful. And the farewell was made more poignantly painful because God seems to choose his priests and sisters and brothers from homes that are brightened by generously given affection. The pain of that homesick loneliness is not forgotten either by those who went away or by those who stayed. The memory of it adds to today's joy. For it is heartening to know that not even such pain could tempt the boys and girls of the Gesu to run away and hide from the beckoning finger of God.

Strange, isn't it, that in spite of pain remembered there should be so much happiness reflected in the eyes of those who have returned and in the eyes of those who have waited. Not strange at all. For the happiness of this day is a partial payment of the reward that God has promised to those who give so much as a cup of cold water in His Name. Generosity that springs from love is always pleasing to God. For the generosity that is born of love is divine. God loved us enough to leave His home in Heaven to take up a home on earth. And because He found here love like His own, God beckoned to boys and girls of this parish, asked them to do what He had done,—to leave home that they might join hands with Christ in preparing for God's children an everlasting home in Heaven. The call was heard and answered. And the pain it entailed is amply repaid in the happiness of today's reunion.

Reunited today we look to the past but with a great deal more eagerness we try to steal a glimpse of the future. For the joy of today is but a tiny spark from the fervent glow of happiness that will be ours in Heaven. For then we shall read the story of the Gesu in its entirety. Spread before us in the book of life will be the history of the work in God's vineyard done by boys and girls who learned their A B C's in our own parochial school and, while doing so, learned the meaning of love from the Sisters who taught them. Little girls in white approached the Altar rail with trembling reverence to receive their First Holy Communion and these same little girls have prepared countless children in other parishes and in other cities to bid a hearty welcome to Christ; boys who wore a cassock on our Altar or in the choir have been clad in a priest's vestments and have mounted the steps of a thousand altars even in far-off mission lands; boys and girls who have walked in our May procession have been trained and well equipped to instill into other young hearts a tender love for the Blessed Mother of God. In that book of life each one will have a page. And along the margin of the page will be found the jotting made by God; for God will note the smiles and the tears that have punctuated the work in His vineyard, days of exultation and days of disappointment, days of blissful happiness and days of bitter sorrow. All this will be written on the margin, but the page itself will be written in gold—a tale of shining heroism, of generous devotion, of wholesouled sacrifice under the banner of Christ.

We are happy today. Yet there is something missing. Our happiness is based on knowledge of the great work done for God and His church. This knowledge, while secure, is somewhat vague. And we want to know more We want to know how many babies have been blessed and baptized; we want to know how many children have been guided through the grades; we want to know how many sorrowing penitents have knelt to hear the comforting words of absolution; we want to know how many sick patients have been nursed through serious illness. How many? We want to know. But the number is counted only in Heaven. And that is as it should be. For we would blunder in the counting. How many of us would remember to include the Sister who never taught a child, never nursed a patient, yet served God faithfully and well day after day, year in and year out answering the doorbell and greeting each visitor with a smile. Might we not forget too the Brother who served God in the kitchen or in the dining room? In God's vineyard there are many corners and there are many laborers. Some gather the grapes, but others spade the earth and build fences and gather up stones. Then, too, in every vineyard there is a watchman. And we should not forget the watchmen of God's vineyard,—the parents who went down on their knees in the dim silence of the night to ask God to pour His blessings on their boy or their little girls so very far away.

Though we know so little of the great work that has been done, we have comfort in the thought that one day there will be a final reunion. And on that Day God will present the finished book to the world. It will be a more inspiring story, too. For the work of God is not yet finished. And the laborers will be summoned even unto the eleventh hour. This means that little children from this parish who now romp and play and make huge blots on their paper in school will find vague stirrings in their souls that will make them timid and frightened; they will lay awake at night and wonder if it is a dream, if they are thinking of something that is too high for them. These children will battle and struggle with love of home and love of father and mother and then once again to them will come the gentle but firm voice of Christ: "My child, give me your heart." It is asking a great deal, Lord. Yes, it is asking a great deal. But, then, he that shall leave this life and life everlasting in the next.

Parents will find it difficult to diagnose the troubled soul of the child. The grace of vocation is one of the mysteries of God, one of God's secrets. But the parents of those whom God calls can be of great help. Thanks be to God the parents of Gesu children have never been the kind to try to thwart the plan of God; there is too much generous love of God among them to and kindness and sympathetic understanding will be needed to help the And then once more there will be a lonesome home and homesick boy or blessed the Gesu in reaching into it for a Priest, a Sister or a Brother.

Generosity and love and sacrifice have characterized the people of this parish for the past fifty years and, please God, the same beautiful virtues will be its chief claim on God's favor for the next fifty years. Others will final reunion in Heaven. The pages of the book of life will be turned over say: "Welcome! Welcome Home again. Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

GESU PARISH AND NEIGHBORHOOD IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

The November 16th meeting of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association was turned into a social evening instead of the regular business meeting. Musical and vocal selections were well rendered by the artists assisting and refreshments served by the ladies in charge. We feel sure that all present were well entertained and will want to come to the next party of the Association.

Mr. George V. Deegan, a representative of the Federal Housing Administration, explained the many features of the Federal Housing Administration and told owners how they could make their homes more desirable and comfortable with the aid of the Federal Housing Administration. Further information may be obtained from any of the officers of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association, who are glad and willing at all times to help owners with their home problems.

Father Maguire explained the aims of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association to those in attendance and we trust that those who are not already members of this Association will soon join it and avail themselves of the many advantages offered by it.

A pleasant surprise is in store for all on January 5th, Thursday evening, in the Gesu High School, when a Sauer Kraut Supper will be served. Besides the good eats promised, music will be furnished by DeFranco's Night Owls and the Blind People's Orchestra, tickets 50 cents. So, keep the date open for the Sauer Kraut Supper, Thursday evening, January 5th. Bring your friends—we know you will enjoy it.

And last of all—New Year Resolutions—Come to the meetings, bring your neighbors and friends—Secure new members—Pay your dues promptly, $1.00 per year.

Happy New Year To All

Feasts of the Month

JANUARY FIRST, THE FEAST OF THE CIRCUMCISION (NEW YEAR'S DAY)

ON THE FIRST DAY OF THE YEAR the Church commemorates the first shedding of the Precious Blood of our Infant Saviour. Eight days after His birth in obedience to the law of Moses our Lord under-went circumcision and received the name of Jesus, "Which He was called by the Angel before He was conceived." We exhort our parishioners to begin the New Year well. Many a life has been changed by the memory of a good resolution. START BY HEARING MASS and if possible by receiving HOLY COMMUNION.

THE HOLY NAME OF JESUS—JANUARY SECOND

The Holy Name is so redolent of love for us and so powerful to help us that the Church sets apart a very special feast to honor our Lord's Name. The power of that sacred name is set forth in the New Testament, where it is declared, "There is no other name under heaven given to men, whereby we must be saved." The love and sweetness of that name is described by

St. Bernard in his hymn Jesu delcis memoria, which has been universally accorded a place among the greatest hymns in the Church:

Jesu, the very thought of Thee
With sweetness fills my breast;
But sweeter far Thy face to see
And in Thy presence rest.

Nor voice can sing, nor heart can frame, Nor can the memory find, A sweeter sound than Thy blest Name, O Savior of mankind!

O Hope of every contrite heart,
O Joy of all the meek,
To those who fall how kind Thou art!
How good to those who seek!

But what to those who find? Ah! this Nor tongue nor pen can show; The love of Jesus, what it is None but His loved ones know.

Jesu, our only joy be Thou,
As Thou our prize wilt be;
Jesu, be Thou our glory now
And through eternity.

THE EPIPHANY OF OUR LORD, JANUARY SIXTH

The Epiphany, though it has ceased to be a Holyday of Obligation is still one of the greatest of the Festivals of the Church, and singularly beautiful in the mysteries which it commemorates. These are three in number, the Adoration of the Magi, the Baptism of Our Lord, and the miraculous change of water into wine at the marriage feast of Cana. They are thus poetically expressed in one of the anthems sung on the Feast at Lauds: "Today the Church is wedded to her heavenly spouse, for Christ in the Jordan has washed away her sins: the Magi come in haste with presents to the royal wedding, and the guests regale themselves with water changed to wine."

Doubtless the most touching mystery of the three is the calling of the Kings, the first-fruits of the nations. In their vocation to the faith we see a promise of our own, and in praising God for the mercy which He showed to them, we must also bless and thank Him for having been no less merciful to us. God took His kingdom from His chosen people, in order to transfer it to a people who should bring forth fruit corresponding to the grace that was vouchsafed to them. And shall we not fear lest He do the same to us?

The star which they followed is the grace of God calling us. Its disappearance was typical of the incredulity and indifference of the Jews. Might they not have expect to find the city of Bethlehem crowded on their arrival, too crowded for them to get near the new-born King? And what a God and Saviour in that little Babe? Yet they are edified and moved instead of being repelled,—so precious a thing is faith. Their eyes will not they give all they have to God. Falling down before Him they offer Him gold—the charity with which their hearts are all aglow—frankincense—the tenderness of their devotion, and myrrh—the sacrifice of a mortified

Which do we imitate, the faith of the Wise Men, or the unfaith of the Jews? How do we show our faith in our churches, in our use of the sacraments and other means of grace? How many of those who know not Christ would become great saints, if they had only the crumbs of the blessed bread that is broken to us so often!

THE HOLY FAMILY—JANUARY EIGHTH

We are dwellers with Jesus, Mary and Joseph, the three most perfect beings on earth. Jesus is God and infinite; Mary is God's own Mother and immaculate; Joseph is God's foster-father, our just man, our man of faith. Let me begin by remarking that if our boys and girls made their own the virtues of the Child Jesus, if our married women shaped their lives according to the blessed model left by the Virgin Mary, if husbands in their relations with their wives and children imitated the example of St. Joseph, our families would reflect in their bosoms the peace of Heaven, our Republic would be a paradise of delights, and our Church would be a collection of souls predestined to an eternity of bliss after a short or long period of quiet happiness here on earth.

A holy childhood is remarkable for the three attractive qualities of innocence, modesty and obedience. Innocence is the gentle art of harming nobody, God not excepted. It is opposed to wrong-doing, and belongs to such only as never injure or offend God, the neighbor or themselves. Innocence is what makes the lady. It betokens in its owner thorough absence of sin, and is always accompanied by that species of ignorance our Mother Eve attempted to correct that day she ate the forbidden fruit. Knowledge of good and evil is the unlovely legacy left by iniquity to its slaves after years of dark experiences. We learn this science by making mistakes; and boys and girls are angels till they make acquaintance with the crimes of their fathers. This innocence rests like a blessing on the foreheads of the young. It can be seen in their eyes, heard in their laugh, and touched in the pressure of their little hands. It compels the love of the old, it exacts from them the tribute of reverence and respect; and it makes men and women feel, when near it, much as they feel in the presence of God. Like the color of the rose, it is a charm that once lost never returns, and no other gift of body or soul can quite make up for its absence.

And, oh, the lessons fathers and mothers can learn from Mary and Joseph in the difficult art of rearing their children! Catholic homes ought to be built on Nazareth for a model, and Catholic Parents ought to love, and educate and watch over their children as Mary and Joseph loved, educated, and watched over their divine Son, Jesus. They were always with the growing Child. The shepherds on Christmas night found them with Him and the kings from the East. He made the journey to Egypt in their fond arms. Keep your sons and daughters at home. Keep close to them, keep them close to you. Love, when solid and true, cannot long endure the absence of its object. Love is uneasy, when the person we love is away. Make the family circle so attractive for the young that, when among strangers, they may sigh for it, and long to enjoy again its pleasures. The streets are the devil's headquarters, they are the workshops of vice, and many a boy, many a girl, have been driven by thoughtless parents, by cruel parents, to seek refuge from their sorrows in the streets. Young hearts need sympathy; and, if they find none at home, they are sure to seek it elsewhere to their destruction. Make home what it ought to be, a place as sacred as the church of God, the resting place of peace, piety and happiness; and children will love home as another Heaven, children will love their parents as the representatives of God. Jealously guard the young against bad company. Diligent parents make it a duty to know with what friends their sons and daughters spend the evening. The mind of a good mother is anxious when a son or daughter is long out of her presence. The Blessed Virgin Mary and St. Joseph once lost the Child Jesus, and how they sorrowed till they found Him! They sought Him among their kinsfolk and acquaintance, traveled back to Jerusalem, and after three days' search found Him in the temple.

A NEW YEAR STORY By Mark Sullivan

There is a story by Lord Dunsany in which the action occurs on either 2 New Year day or a Christmas. I summarize it from memory and am probably wrong in some details.

The story is about a business man in London to whom chance brought an opportunity to do a service for an elf, or a fairy, or a genie, or some other creature having supernatural powers and a generous disposition. The genie, grateful, told the business man he would grant any favor the business man might ask. But the genie, after the manner of those in the Arabian Nights, would grant only one favor, and he stipulated that the business man, after asking for it, must accept it. Considerately the genie suggested that the business man should spend a day considering what was the one thing he wanted more than anything else in the

The business man, after adequate reflection, concluded shrewdly as it seemed, that the best possible gift he could receive, one by which he could enrich himself almost without limit, would be an advance copy of the London Times, of the issue that would appear on January 1 of the following year. The genie said, very well, and brought the business man a copy of the Times as it would be 2

Eagerly the business man turned to the page of quotations of the prices of stocks and commodities as they would be a year in the future. With a pencil he made notes. Thus equipped to make an unlimited fortune, he permitted his eyes to range through the other pages of the paper. In them he found the usual sort of thing-civil war in China, imminence of war on the continent-nothing very novel. Finally, his leisurely survey of the paper brought his eyes to the page containing obituaries—and there found an account of his own death.

Doubtless for each one of us during the coming year the things that happen to himself-whether death, birth in his family, marriage, or other act of nature or good fortune or misadventure or calamity—will be the most interesting to the individual concerned; for individualism has not yet been so completely erased from the world as to cause any public event to be so important as what befalls

The Mission Club

The Mission Club run by the Married Women's Sodality is about to close its second series. The series just completed has been very successful.

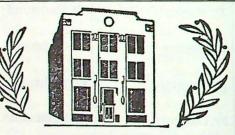

As you all know, this is a very worthy cause, because the profits are sent to the Missions. We would like to increase the number of members for the third series.

Anyone at all may join this club, more popularly known as a Blanket Club. You do not have to belong to any of the Sodalities to be a member. If you care to join, give your name to any of the women in charge, Mrs.. Alminde, Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Foley, or Mrs. Kraft.

We will have a display of articles at Mrs. Alminde's home on February 8, 1939, at 8 P. M. All are welcomed to come to inspect the articles that can be had from this club.

The Jesuit Seminary Fund

The Reverend Thomas B. Cannon, S.J., head of the Jesuit Seminary Fund in New York City, will speak at all our Masses on Sunday, February 5th, at which time envelopes will be distributed for the annual collection, which will be taken up on February 12th.

Don'ts for Churchgoers

Don't get into the habit of being late for Mass. A moment of preparation before Mass may be the means of opening your soul to many graces.

Don't go to Mass without either prayer-book or rosary beads, unless you wish distraction and not devotion to occupy your mind.

Don't talk in church without necessity. Talk with God, Whom you may not have visited, in His temple, since last Sunday; you will have plenty of time to talk with your neighbor after Mass.

Don't criticize the sermon nor the manner of preaching. It is a message from God bearing some truth to you. Heed the instruction and profit by it; it has something for you to learn.

Don't go to sleep or read your prayer-book during the sermon.

Don't leave the church until the priest has left the sanctuary. Take a moment in which to thank God for the graces of the Holy Mass.

Don't talk in the aisles going out. Remember you are in the presence of God in His Holy Sacrament. Your gossip will keep until you reach the street.

Don't forget to bend your knee to the floor as you enter and leave your seat. This is an act of adoration paid to the Real Presence. Do it with faith and reverence, facing the altar.

Don't fail to see the holy water font and the collection box. Take a few drops from the one and drop a coin into the other.

Don't forget all about the special collections for the seminary, the church-debt, the Pope, the propagation of the faith, etc., etc.

Don't acquire the reputation of being "last in the church and first to leave it."

Don't forget to rent a pew or seat in the church, and if there be "standing room only" contribute something towards supporting your pastor. He is pastor, not of the pew-holders only, but of the entire congregation.

What is a Credit Union?

A credit union is a cooperative society organized under a State or Federal law (and the supervision of a State or Federal department) within a specific group of people, for the two-fold purpose of supplying the members of that group with a plan of systematic saving and of making it possible thereby for them to take care of their own credit problems at a legitimate rate

It should be noted (1) that the credit union is a cooperative association-that is, each member has one vote in the management of the credit union and only one vote; (2) it is organized under a State or Federal credit union law and each credit union makes annual reports to a State or Federal department, by which it is annually examined; (3) it is organized to serve a group, and is limited to the members of the group (the group may be small -there are less than 40 members of the credit union which serves employes of the Paducah, Kentucky, Postoffice; it may be large—there are 16,000 employes of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company in the 8 credit unions of Company employes. The group limitation is various—State, Municipal, Federal employes, the members of a church parish, neighborhood, rural community, social club, the employes of a factory, mill, store, newspaper, etc); (4) it is a saving plan, a thrift agency first. To become a member I must first be a member of the group and I must next agree to save at least one unit of $5.00 at the rate of twenty-five cents a week. I may save any amount in multiples of twenty-five cents, or buy units of $5.00 each and pay cash for them; but the primary value of the plan as a thrift agency is to get every member saving on a regular basis, each to his full capacity to save: (5) the money may be withdrawn at any time as from a bank, and is invested in loans exclusively to members for provident purposes at legitimate rates.

How Does A Credit Union Operate?

A credit union operates through a Board of Directors, a Credit Committee and a Supervisory Committee chosen by and from the members in elections in which each member has one vote. The directors choose from their own number a President, a Vice-President, a Treasurer and a Clerk (in some State laws the committees are also chosen by and from the directors). The directors choose the bank of deposit, and the treasurer is bonded. The Credit Committee passes on all loans; the Supervisory Committee checks the books every three months. Annual reports are made to the State or Federal supervisory department, and the credit unions are annually examined in the same way as banks.

Every credit union starts small so that the officers, directors and committees may learn about the routine connected with their work before there is any appreciable business. The largest credit union in point of numbers (which now has assets of over $2,000,000) started with assets of less than $20. There are credit union laws in 41 States and the District of Columbia, and a Federal credit union law which makes organization possible everywhere. The plan operates quite uniformly.

There is a form of petition for a right to operate, which must be signed generally by seven citizens (in no state more than 20) at the time by-laws are submitted. There are forms available for this petition and the zation by electing officers, who must be chosen from the group, but not necessarily from the originating members. The credit union starts when As soon as there is $50 collected loans should be made.

Gesu Parish Improvement Association

We want to take this opportunity to thank all who co-operated in any way to make our Sauer Kraut Supper, on January 5th, the success that it was. We feel sure that all who attended it enjoyed it.

During the next few months we may have some very stormy weather and we suggest that householders make every effort to keep their pavements the ground.

On The contract the months we may have some very stormy weather clean and safe for pedestrians, especially when there is snow and ice on

On Thursday evening, February 16th, our Association, encouraged by the previous two socials, will give a Card Party in the Parish Hall. There will be prizes for players and non-players. Tickets 25 cents, can be secured from any of the officers of the Gesu Parish Improvement Association. So keep this date open on your calendar for this Card Party. We hope to see you all there Start now to secure new members for 1939 for the Gesu Parish Improvement Association, so that the interests of tenants and owners may be well served. Come to the meetings and learn what has been done and what can be done by co-operation of all. Meetings are held semi-monthly in the High School building on Stiles Street. Bring a new member to the next meeting.

Membership dues $1.00 per year.

Some Say There Is No God!

Although the glory of His works tells man in countless ways
There is a God Who rules all things, Whose Hand doth shape our days;
And though all nature sings to God its sweetest song of love,
Yet there are foolish men who say there is no God above;
They tell us life no purpose holds, no goal beyond the grave,
And scoff at God, and at man's work his precious soul to save;
They say there is no soul, no hell; that heaven is today,
And at religion and faith laugh—"There is no God," they say;
No God! Why God is in each breath, each moment that we live,
He is our life, our hope, our strength, whate'er we have He gives;

God's Smile each morn in sunrise comes, His Heart is sunset's hour, He's in each leaf, each wondrous tree, in every lovely flower; God is the Seasons of the year; He's in each flake of snow, The winter winds, the summer heat, His Sacred Presence know; In Spring, when seeds and bulbs and roots lie dead beneath the sod, At His Command they spring to life, to prove there is a God; When Autumn comes and nature wears a million different hues, In trees and mountains, hills and vales—but God could paint such views! Why God means all the love we know—the love of dear ones, friends, He put His Love in Mother's hearts, that's why it never ends;

God lives in every sacrifice that men and women make,
Forsaking all that life holds sweet, to labor for His Sake;
No God! God lives in everything—in stars and sky and moon,
In every kindly deed we do, in every songbird's tune;
Each blade of grass reflects His Touch; each rose His beauty gives,
The quiet hills, the restless seas, tell men God with them lives;
The happiness right living brings, its peace of soul and mind,
Who but a God could give these gifts so we might comfort find;
What man who sees a soul oppressed, yet sees him kiss the rod,
And whisper, "Not my will, but Thine," dare say "There is no God!"

Girl Scouts of the Gesu

"On Thursday night, February 9th, at a quarter to twelve, all broadcasts were interrupted and the announcer sorrowfully proclaimed to America and the entire world that God had taken to Himself our beloved Holy Father. Today people of all races and religions mourn his passing. The world goes on, but it has lost a great man. We all know of the great sufferings of our beloved Pontiff and can only say that at last he has been granted by our Dear Lord that peace and reward he so well deserves. The only thing left for us to do now, is to thank God for having given us such a Pope and to pray that, if it is at all possible, we may have such a man for our next Pope."

tine's Party of the Girl Scouts.

At the Party, which was under the direction of Patrol Leader Edna Green and Assistant Patrol Leader Rita Cardona, we discovered some hidden talent through an amateur contest. The first prize, a chocolate heart, was awarded to Gertrude Keegan, and second prize was awarded to Irene Cromwell. The girls were then led in to our "kitchen" where refreshments were served on a very attractively decorated table.

The Girl Scouts took this opportunity to welcome the girls who have recently joined our troop. Brother Stengel addressed the Girls also.

The Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association

Despite the inclemency of the weather, the Card Party on February 15, sponsored by the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association, was very well attended, and we want to extend our sincere appreciation to all who were responsible for its success, Father Maguire for his continued interest, our guests, our faithful and untiring workers, who tried to make the evening one that would be enjoyed by all, and all who donated refreshments and prizes.

We trust that we may have the pleasure of seeing many new faces at our next Association meeting in the high school building on Stiles Street so that they may know the efforts that are being put forth to help with neighborhood problems. Come to these meetings and if you have a problem that needs to be solved, bring it to us, and if we cannot solve it for you, we may be able to refer you to the proper authority for solution. Increased membership will add greatly to our influence with others.

To cite an instance that our Association is being recognized, there was a property in the neighborhood recently that had been vacant for a long, long time. The windows and door had been boarded up, but nothing had been done about the yard. The fence had been torn down and the yard was very unsightly and was just a dump for refuse. Some of our officers took the matter up with the agent to see if something could be done to correct this condition. After a little persistence on their part, a fence was firect this condition. There a little persistence of the part, a fence was finally put up which has changed the appearance of the corner altogether.

There are some desirable apartments vacant in the parish and some private homes. For further information consult our officers.

Spring is almost upon us and it will pay you to look around your home and see the improvements that should be made. New paper and painting will help a lot and after all, there are not many things that give more enjoyment than a comfortable and attractive home.

Marriage Wisdom

I. If you are not engaged:

- 1. Remember that the Church calls mixed marriage a "detestable abuse." Get acquainted with Catholic girls and boys.
- 2. Be careful what dances you go to.
- 3. Be careful what dances you dance and with whom you dance them.
- 4. Be careful whom you talk to on the street. (N. B. If you are engaged, these last three hints are not needed. You will be careful.)
- 5. Look before you leap. Is he a good Catholic? Will he be able to support you? Does he really love you, and not your face? Are you pleased with him because he sends you candy or flowers, and generally ruins himself spending money on you?
- 6. Don't fool a good boy, and don't encourage a bad one. And above all, don't fool two or more good boys at once.
- 7. Be very good to your father and mother. You may have regrets when it is too late.

II. If you are engaged:

- 1. Announce it right away; first of all, to your father and mother.
- 2. Don't put the wedding off too long. There's danger in long engage-
- 3. Don't let him take any liberties, and don't take any yourself.
- 4. If you find him, or her, unworthy, talk to your father or mother, and don't be afraid to break it off. Better a month's heart break than a
- 5. Be faithful in thought, word and action.
- 6. Before the wedding, have a talk with your mother.

Overcoming Bad Habits

St. Bernard once begged a notorious sinner to refrain from sin for three days, and to live for that time at peace with God. The man thought that he surely could resist temptation for so short a period as three days. He exercised the greatest self-control and succeeded in not falling into his accustomed vice. After three days St. Bernard besought him to live three more days without sin, for love of Our Lady; and he was again successful. The Saint then urged him, as he said, for the last time, to lead a good life for three days in honor of all the Saints. Before they were over, a good life for three days in honor of all the Saints. Before they were over, the man came to him and promised that he would make his peace with God, not for a few days only, but for the rest of his life. The bad habit was conquered.

Holy Name Society

At the Name of Jesus

Every Knee Shall Bend"

The Gesu Holy Name Society held its annual election Thursday, February 9th, with the result that the following Officers were elected for 1939:

President, Mr. James J. Dougherty, 1204 No. 19th St. First Vice-President, Mr. John J. McLoughlin, 1530 No. 18th St. Second Vice-President, Mr. John Carr, 1806 Stiles St. Secretary, Mr. Jerome Curtin, 1624 Parrish St.

Delegates to the Diocesan Quarterly Meeting:

Mr. John Alminde, 1300 No. 18th St.

Mr. Michael Darcy, 1838 Thompson St.

Mr. John O'Rourke, 1501 Master St.

Mr. Edward Coogan, 1714 Ingersoll St.

Mr. Anthony Cherricola, 1527 W. Thompson St.

Mr. John J. McLoughlin, 1530 No. 18th St.

It was agreed at the meeting that the Annual Communion Breakfast be held on the second Sunday in April. The selection of the place and the price was left to the President and Father Maguire, the Spiritual Director. It was also decided at the meeting that the Society through the Golden Jubilee Crusaders start a Catholic Press campaign and a general clean up of the parish to put a Catholic paper in every Catholic home and in as many non-Catholic homes as may be deemed capable of benefitting by such reading. The members of our Society realize that they have a duty towards their neighbor and that they must impart to the neighbor the help that they are capable of giving. They cannot give greater help than by putting a good Catholic paper in their homes. They realize that money cannot be spent for a more worthy purpose. If the people are ignorant of the history of their Church and the tenets of their faith, as well as of the evils that surround them we cannot be surprised if they fall a prey to the seductive doctrines which are drummed into their ears by the agents of hell who are constantly on the move in quest of souls. The example of those who became enslaved by the agents of Russia in Spain and Mexico should be a reason for spreading the influence of the Catholic Press among our people. The men of the Gesu are determined to do what they can in this respect.

THE NOVENA IN HONOR OF ST. FRANCIS XAVIER MARCH 4-12

The Novena of Grace owes its origin to St. Francis Xavier. Fathes Marcello Mastrilli, S.J., was at the point of death when the Saint appeared to him, bade him renew a vow he had made to go to Japan, and promised, it is said, that "all those who, from the 4th to the 12th of March inclusive, should make a Novena in his honor and worthily receive the Sacraments of Penance and the Eucharist, on one of the nine days, might hope with entire assurance to receive from God, through his intercession, any grace they should ask for the good of their souls and the glory of God."

ST. PATRICK-MARCH 17

St. Patrick is Ireland's Patron Saint, and Ireland's love for St. Patrick, now 1500 years old, is today as strong and as holy as ever. He has an abiding place in Irish hearts, his memory is going to endure as long as Ireland's fame, and that can never die. He was born in 373, somewhere outside of Ireland. Brittany, part of present-day France, is, according to most writers the favored spot. A miracle was wrought at his very baptism. The priest called to perform the function was blind. No water was at hand. Taking the child's fingers in his own, the old priest traced the sign of the cross in the sand, and forthwith a brimming fountain arose. The child was baptized, the priest washed his eyes in the Stream of Miracle, and recovered his sight. The boy was taken captive when sixteen by a band of pirates, and sold as a slave on the west coast of Ireland. He tended his master's flocks for six long years, and put the time to good use by unbroken hours of prayer in the solitude of the hills and valleys. During this blessed period he received from Heaven a plain intimation of his future apostleship. Escaping at the age of twenty-two, he at once set about preparing himself for the priesthood. After thirty-eight years spent in prayer, penance and study by study, he was consecrated bishop in 432, the sixtieth year of his age. On a visit to Rome, Pope Celestine had previously commissioned him to carry the faith to Ireland, and consecrated him apostle to that wild but docile people. Then began his sixty years of missionary work, extending over the length and breadth of the island. He landed at Wicklow, on the east coast, no long journey from Dublin, and by slow stages made his way along the shore to the northernmost province of Ulster. Then he retraced his steps southward to belt it. to hold that decisive meeting with the king, his Druids and bards at Tara, in the Grant decisive meeting with the king, his Druids and bards at Tara. in the County of Meath.

From Tara, passage was made across the Shannon to Connaught, through Roscommon, Killala, Sligo and Mayo. On the hill of St. Patrick, near Mayo, our Saint passed 40 days in fasting and prayer, and himself notes that ever after opposition to his work of conversion ceased. He spent notes that ever after opposition to his work of conversion ceased. He spent notes that ever after opposition to his work of conversion ceased. He spent notes that ever after opposition to his work of conversion ceased. He spent notes in Connaught, and left only to revisit the North, touching at Donegal, years in Connaught, and left only to revisit the North, touching at Donegal, years in Connaught, and left only to revisit the North, touching at Donegal, Years in Connaught, and his soft Munster received him most hospitably, and one of them, ancestor Kings of Munster received him most hospitably, and one of them, ancestor to Brian Boru, he baptized near Limerick. After seven years in Munster he made ready to return to Leinster. The Baint soon found himself back again in Ulster; and after founding the Church and Archbishoppie of Armagh, the primatial See of all Ireland, settled down to a life of prayer and study and virtue. He died at holily Armagh in 493, at the advanced age of 120, and was buried in Downpatrick.

ST. JOSEPH-MARCH 19

Saint Joseph holds a unique position among the Saints of God's Church. He was chosen by God to be the protector of the Blessed Virgin Mary and the foster-father of her Divine Son. Little is narrated of him in the Gospels, but that little is full of significance. He was a "just man," calm, considerate, prudent; a man faithful to duty, unselfish, absorbed in the care of the Holy Family, ready for all sacrifices, for persecution and exile obedient to the voice of the angel; a man of silence, from whose lips not a single speech is recorded; a man of loving heart, growing in sanctity all through the years of his companionship with Jesus and Mary. This great Saint is more honored in the Church today than in any previous century. Do you wish health and strength for your work? Go to St. Joseph. Do you wish to find a way out of some business difficulty? Go to St. Joseph. Do you wish to learn that highest of lessons, the secret of praying well? Go to St. Joseph; he is the patron of the interior life. Do you wish a holy Catholic home? Again, go to St. Joseph. He is the head of the Holy Family.

His office was to hide the Divinity of our Lord until the time came for its public manifestation. When the childhood is past, Joseph disappears from view. We have no record of his last days, but Catholic devotion reveres him as the patron of a happy death.

The Lenten Stairway

I like to think of Lenten Days as of a Stairway grand, Each day a step that brings at length the Summit where Christ stands; Ah! Not the Christ Who rules the world, Who made men and all things, Nor He Who judges all our deeds, nor Christ the King of Kings; But just a sad and lonely Christ, in need of sympathy, As He hangs there, awaiting death, for Love of you and me; And as we start to slowly mount this Stairway we call Lent, We view the years Christ lived on earth and how those years were spent;

We see His Heart forever tuned to human griefs and needs, We see Love radiate from all His kindly words and deeds; He healed the sick, He raised the dead, He cured the lame and blind, His Hand was ever raised to bless the lives of all mankind; Yet in a Garden that we pass along these Lenten Stairs We find that Christ with grief prostate, we hear His anguished Prayer; We see the one He loved so well with kiss his God betray, And Peter hear with oath deny, his God and turn away;

We find Him cursed and mocked and scourged, His body bruised and torn, An on His Head, in tortured jest, the piercing Crown of Thorns; We pass His Mother crushed with grief—the faithful One alone, We see the Look of Love which comes when His Eyes meet Her Own; We reach the Summit—there He hangs—Redemption's ghastly Price— Man's soul is saved and heaven won through Blood which flowed from Christ:

O, Jesus, from Thy Calvary's Cross, let Thy Cry plead anew Unto Thy Father for our sins: "They know not what they do!"

William F. Sheridan.

A Monitory

In the Cathedral of Lubec, in Germany, there is an old slab with the following inscription, which epitomizes in an admirable way some salutary matters for meditation. The authorship is unknown, but the spirit is unmistakeable.

Thus speaketh Christ our Lord to us:

Ye call Me Master, and obey Me not; Ye call Me Light, and see Me not; Ye call Me Way, and walk Me not; Ye call Me Life, and desire Me not: Ye call Me Wise, and follow Me not: Ye call Me Fair and love Me not; Ye call Me Rich, and ask Me not: Ye call Me Eternal, and seek Me not: Ye call Me Gracious, and trust Me not: Ye call Me Noble, and serve Me not: Ye call Me Mighty, and honor Me not: Ye call Me Just, and fear Me not: If I condemn you, blame Me not.

Going to Holy Communion

The hands, face and clothing should be scrupulously clean.

It is also eminently proper to cleanse the teeth at least the night before-Devout Catholics always approach and return from the Communion rail with their hands revently joined.

When the priest approaches with the Blessed Sacrament the head should be well lifted, and held as motionless as possible, the eyes closed, the mouth sufficiently opened, and the tongue extended moderately over the lower lip.

Remember that the priest does not wish to touch the lips or tongue of anyone with his fingers, and it is only by following the foregoing suggestions rigidly that this can be successfully avoided.

Do not drop the head forward immediately after receiving. There is danger of striking the ciborium from the priest's hands, and at the very least if you are a woman, your hat will brush against his vestments.

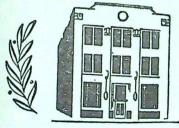

Should there be but a few receiving Holy Communion, or should you he among the last of many, invariably kneel as near the center of the altar rail as possible. Do not insist upon the priest walking the full length of the sanctuary for your special convenience.

If you are going to Communion—go. Do not wait until the priest has practically finished distributing the sacred species and then start from your place, keeping him waiting for your arrival and unnecessarily delaying the

Should the sacred host adhere to the palate, moisten with the tongue and swallow. Never under any circumstances touch with the fingers. You will, as a rule, remove this difficulty by moistening your palate with your tongue before receiving.

It is a recognized custom that after having approached the sacred table you should remain in the church at least fifteen minutes longer to make your thanksgiving.

Upon returning home it is suitable that a glass of water be the first food or drink to cross your lips.—Exchange.

Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association

On Wednesday evening, March 15th, in the high school building on Stiles Street, the members of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association had the pleasure of listening to Mr. Patterson, Supervising Sanitary Inspector of the Division of Housing and Sanitation in the City Hall.

Mr. Patterson gave a very interesting talk on the duties of his particular division in relation to the housing and sanitation laws. He explained how much could be done to improve neighborhood conditions by each individual doing his or her part. He also stated how each housekeeper, doing her part, could attain results for all the neighbors in the block. He very willingly answered various questions that he was called upon to answer and told the members that his department was at their service at any time that they needed his help.

It is the purpose of our Association to have guest speakers from time to time who will discuss the problems that we are interested in. We hope that our members will attend these meetings in increased numbers and that they will offer their suggestions and problems to our officers so that each neighborhood will be helped as much as possible.

We are very anxious to increase our membership and to secure more good workers. The more workers we have, the quicker and better the results of our Association. Much has been accomplished, thanks to those who accomplished. So come to our next meeting and give your name to one of our officers, as a few cannot do all the work that must be done.

We wish to take this occasion to express our very sincere gratitude to our loyal and devoted pastor, Reverend Thomas J. Higgins, S.J., for his many extend to him our best wishes in his new duties.

A Guide to the Holy Week Ceremonies

Palm Sunday

The ceremony of Palm Sunday consists of three parts. First, the Celebrant blesses and distributes palm-leaves (for which, on account of the difficulty and expense of obtaining them in sufficient quantity, branches of box, willow, or yew are often substituted) to all present. Then comes the procession of palms; and, thirdly, the Holy Mass is offered, during which the "Passion" according to Saint Matthew (being that Evangelist's narrative of the sufferings and death of our Savior) is sung.

Now, during this service, the Church sets herself to picture to us two very opposite feelings: joy and gladness at her Master's triumphal entry into Jerusalem; bitter sorrow at His approaching death. On this day, the first day of the week of the Passover, the week in which Jesus died, He entered the Holy City in triumph. We are told that His disciples were with Him, that the multitudes cut down branches of palm-trees and cried aloud with one voice: "Hosanna to the Son of David! Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord." At the same time the cloud of approaching tribulation was gathering dark and thick over the Church, for in five days her Master was to be crucified. To express to us, her children, these opposite emotions, she gives us, first the blessing of palms, and, in the joyous procession depicts the triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem; while in the Mass that follows, the mournful chant of the Passion shadows forth the coming desolation.

Tenebrae

As we enter the church we are struck by many signs of mourning at this sacred time. The Sanctuary looks deserted and unfurnished. The Tabernacle stands open, for the Blessed Sacrament has been removed. The Veil of the Tabernacle, flowers, and other ornaments are gone. Nothing remains on the Altar except the veiled Crucifix and the six candles. In the center of the Sanctuary stands the book for the Psalms and lessons. At the Epistle side stands a large triangular candlestick, holding fifteen candles of common or unbleached wax.

The Office at which we are now to assist is called Tenebrae (meaning darkness) because it pictures to us, by the gradual darkening of the Church, the more than natural darkness that overshadowed the world at the death Jesus Christ.

Office which every prest of the Church is bound to say each day.

Problem of the conduction of the state of the problem of the end of each one of the conduction of the den beind of he Bonedictins, the civite carelle of the building the Bonedictins, the civite carelle of the building the Bonedictins, the civite carelle of the building the Bone and a comment to be some side of the converse the conversions of nature when the carth quarter than brought from behind the graves gave up their dead. The carelle of the care and burial, our dear Lord came forth immortal from the tomb office ended, all depart in silence.

Maunday Thursday

In spite of the morning of Holy Week, the Church cannot allow this day to pass without some signs of joy. It is the day of the Last Supper of our dear Lord—the day on which he instituted the most holy Sacrament of the Eucharist; and in honor of that great Mystery the Church lays aside her mourning, at least during the celebration of Holy Mass, and bids us deck the Altar with our richest ornaments, and wear vestments of white, the color denoting joy and gladness. We would remind our readers that the Last Supper took place on the first day of the Azymes, or the Feast of the Unleavened Bread, and it is for that reason that we always use unleavened bread for consecration in Holy Mass. Again, to show forth the unity and greatness of this Supper, the Church allows on this day only one Mass to be offered in each church, at which the clergy and congregation assist and receive Holy Communion, the priest wearing stoles, the token of their priesthood. This brings before us in a forcible way the scene in the Upper Chamber in Jerusalem, where our Lord alone consecrated and then gave Holy Communion to those present.

The Mass

Amid the triumph of this great feast a web of sorrow is interwoven, to show that our joy is not lasting, for we have not forgotten the Passion of Jesus Christ. The Celebrant intones the Gloria in Excelsis, and the bells ring out joyously in answer to the organ's peals; but after that, both bells and organ are silent until Holy Saturday, to show the sorrow of the whole world at our Saviour's death. The Collects recall to us Judas and the good thief, both are guilty, but one is pardoned. The kiss of peace is omitted, to show our horror of the treacherous kiss of Judas in the garden on this night.

The Procession of the Altar of Repose

On Good Friday, as we shall see, the Church suspends the offerings of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, to commemorate in this solemn way the Sacrifice that was offered on that day on Calvary. The priest consecrates two Hosts on Holy Thursday during the Mass. One of these he receives in Holy Communion; the other he reverently places in a chalice, and reserves to be consumed on Good Friday. The Blessed Sacrament could not be reserved with fitting respect at the High Altar, on account of the mournful ceremonies of this holy time; and consequently a chapel or altar, apart from the High Altar, is prepared and adorned with rich hangings, lights, and flowers: here our Bloomed and adorned with rich hangings, lights, and flowers; here our Blessed Lord remains until Good Friday. When the Mass today is finished, the choir and the clergy go in procession to this Chapel of Repose. After the cross-bearer and acolytes come the choir and clergy singing the Board Victors bearer and acolytes come the choir and clergy, singing the Pange Lingua, followed by the Celebrant and sacred ministers under the concern The ministers under the canopy. The priest does not carry the Monstrance, as in other processions, but the Chalice, containing the Blessed Sacrament, covered with a veil. When he arrives at the Altar of Repose he places It in the then Jesus will not be left alone; by day and night loving souls will keep watch there in humble adoration, making amends for the sorm and insults watch there in humble adoration, making amends for the scorn and insults which Jesus has suffered for our size. which Jesus has suffered for our sins. ### Good Friday

We have come now to the day of the Church's widowhood, and she would e it to be a day of desolation as he true to be a day of desolation. have it to be a day of desolation, as her true children feel it to be. The Sanctuary is altogether have and smeddless true children feel it to be. The Sanctuary is altogether bare and unadorned. The Altar was stripped of its ornaments yesterday morning and nothing. The Altar was stripped of Crucifix, its ornaments yesterday morning, and nothing remains except the Crucifix, now veiled in black, and the six candlesticks. The sanctuary carpet has been taken away, and even the candles are not lighted until the latter part of the function. To enable us to enter into the spirit of this service, and to appreciate fully the meaning of its various parts, we must bear in mind that today the priest does not offer sacrifice—that he does not, so to say, stand in the place of Jesus Christ and speak in His name and with His power; but rather as the spokesman and representative of the congregation present: as a consequence of this, they follow and taken part in the various acts of reparation he performs.

On this day alone throughout the Christian year the Church suspends the offering of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, that our thoughts may be wholly taken up with the contemplation of the one Sacrifice that was consummated today on Calvary. The Blessed Sacrament which the Celebrant receives today was consecrated (or presanctified) yesterday. Consequently, since there is no actual Sacrifice today, this part of the service is called the Mass of the Presanctified.

When the Blessed Sacrament is brought to the Altar, the priest incenses it. He then turns to the people and bids them pray (Orate fratres), and himself prays aloud singing the Pater Noster. He holds up for their adorations the Sacred Body of Our Lord, and then reverently receives It. To mark our mourning and confusion today, the priest does not remain at the Altar to say any public prayers of thanksgiving or to give a blessing, as in other Masses; but straightway leaves the Sanctuary. As soon as he departs, the Vespers are recited as yesterday, and the altars are stripped. The Sanctuary is empty, its light is gone, no lamp burns in any part of the Church, the pictures are veiled; the naked Cross stands alone to proclaim the mourning of the spouse for the Crucifixion of her Lord. They shalt mourn for Him as one mourneth for an only son, and they shall grieve over Him as is the manner to grieve for the death of the first-born.

Holy Saturday

The Mass at which we are now going to assist is really the Mass that used to be offered at daybreak on Easter morn. This will explain why it is of such a joyous character. The vestments are white, the Gloria is sung, the bells ring out cheerfully, the organ is heard once more. Pictures and images are uncovered; flowers again adorn the altar, which is decked in white. The collect of the Mass makes intercession for the newly baptized, "the new offspring of Thy family." After the Epistle, the Celebrant intones solembly the Cospel emily three times the Alleluia, which is taken up by the choir; the Gospel relates to us the visit of Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to the Sepulchre at the distribution of the reserved thre at the dawn of day. The Creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung, as it used to be reserved for the creed is not sung. for the second Mass which was sung later on Easter Day. The Kiss of Peace is still omitted, for it was not until evening on the day of the Resurrection that Jesus stood in the midst of His Apostles in the Upper Chamber in the Holy City Stood in the midst of His Apostles in the Agnus in the Holy City and gave them His peace. For the same reason the Agnus Dei is left out. When this Mass was appointed to be sung on the Saturday morning (in the Holy City and gave them His peace) it was necessary that it morning (instead of at the dawn of Easter Day) it was necessary that it should be followed by following the Church should be followed by vespers. As the service is already so long, the Church bids us since it is a service in the service is already so long, the Church bids us since it is s bids us sing, immediately after the Communion, vespers containing one Psalm and it immediately after the Communion, vespers containing one Psalm and the Magnificat. # Feasts of the Month

EASTER SUNDAY—APRIL 9

Easter Sunday is the crowning glory of the Church calendar. It is the Feast of Feasts. Standing at the head of them as a dazzling sun, it sheds upon all the rest their life and warmth. It was only when the King of Glory, Christ, the Conqueror, came forth from the tomb, that His life among us, His preaching and His promises, His institution of a Church, His claims as our Divine Lord and future Judge, received their full meaning. Take away the Resurrection and you destroy all the light and life of our religion. If Christ did not rise, He failed to give the great sign by which He had promised to prove His title to the Sonship of God. As St. Paul says, "If Christ be not risen again, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain." Yet St. Paul adds the comforting assurance, "But now Christ is risen from the dead, the first-fruits of them that sleep." And in answer a vast chorus of rejoicing sweeps over the face of the earth: "This is the day the Lord hath made; let us exalt and be glad in it." Let us rejoice and be glad; for even as Christ has triumphed over death and sin, so too shall we by His merits conquer our enemies and rise with Him into immortal life.

ST. PETER CANISIUS, S.J.—APRIL 27

St. Peter Canisius, S.J., Confessor and Doctor of the Church has many dren. Wherever he happened to be, whether laboring in cities or stopping tant missions to Pope, or Emperor, or Diets, he quickly gathered the little their Faith. The children especially were greatly drawn to him, and at times journey. Even in a hostile town he could attract them for instruction and

St. Peter Canisius had high regard for religious teaching. "Everyone," he writes, "who co-operates in procuring a solid scientific and moral education for the young, corroborates with his works the doctrine and example entitled to a special reward from God; secures the Guardian Angel and is people when they become older and is a sharer in the good actions they will get potential."

St. Peter Canisius had experienced in himself the power and decisive influence of good teachers and zealous educators. On account of this, he aptitude.

Sorrows of the Risen Christ

A stone rolled back by unseen hands; a grave that holds no dead, A Man they killed and laid therein; a God Who rose instead; Some winding sheets that held a Corpse, now lying empty there, Three Women shocked to find Him gone, His Tomb deserted, bare; Some few who still believed in Him and loved Him to the end, Who knew His kindly words and deeds didst mark Him as their Friend; Thus Christianity began, and so was Christ's Church born, When He in triumph from the dead arose that Easter Morn:

And nineteen hundred years have come and gone since that great Morn, But with the pains of Calvary still the Heart of Christ is torn; He hears men now deride and jeer, and mock and curse His Name, He sees Barabbas chosen now in passion's sin and shame; The cry of old: "Christ Crucify," still rings within His Ears, Himself denied, rebuked, betrayed,—all these things He still hears—He sees the Pilates of today His sons and daughters kill, His churches burn, His precepts ban, men's hearts with sorrow fill;

He sees them teach in school and home, false doctrines to His youth, Which leave contempt for Sacred things—scorn for established Truth; He hears Himself, His world, His works, and souls for whom He yearns, Explained away by Godless men in scientific terms; And as He stands this Easter Morn beside His empty tomb, He sees men's hearts with hatred filled, their lands torn with war's gloom; O, Foolish World, that spurns Thy God, to search for baubles, dross, When all life's conquests, hopes and joys are centered in His Cross.

WILLIAM F. SHERIDAN.

OUR ADVERTISERS

A real sense of appreciation on the part of our readers is due to the firms who seek the patronage of our parishioners through the Parish Calendar. The acceptance of the services of the Calendar's columns by the business men of this community constitutes an essential element of this publication's material success. The value of the Calendar as an agent of publicity for the business men of our community centers in the fact that the Calendar penetrates to the homes of the people capable of offering a most satisfactory market to the diligent advertiser.

We feel that we are justified in claiming that we offer business men the highest class of publicity. The Calendar reaches every home in this parish, and the co-operative act of dealing with our advertisers is urged upon our members. In this way, mutual accommodation of a high order is established.

The vigilant care due our readers has never been relaxed in the standard set for advertising matter. Hence, our advertising columns are really the honor roll of the neighborhood business men, and purchases made from them will be entirely satisfactory.

It is proper, therefore, that our readers should consult the Calendar's advertising pages, and, as far as possible, patronize those who must be reckoned factors in the success of the Calendar. Business houses are thus offered direct communication with desirable patrons, the people are safeguarded by the care of our advertising director, and the Calendar becomes the recognized instrument of a double helpfulness.

O, MARY, CONCEIVED WITHOUT SIN

O, Mary, Thou Who wast conceived without the stain of sin, Stretch forth Thy Arms, which cradled Christ, and let me rest therein; I am Thy Child as Jesus was, Thou art my Mother, too, He gave Thee to me from the Cross when His Life's work was through; O' Mother, in these days of strife, when men forget Thy Son, Have me do all I can to have the Will of God be done; No Mother's Heart didst ever know the Love of Thy dear Heart, For Thou didst bear the God of Love, of His Love Thou art part;

Thy Body bore the Living God, from Thee He took His Form, No part of Adam's sin was Thine, as is each soul that's born; Thy Soul didst never know the stain of sin's defacing trace, For Thou in birth, in life, in death, were always full of Grace; O, Mary, let the Eyes that watched Thy Son, Thy Jesus, die, Look down on me His child and Thine, and hear my prayer, my cry; When life is dark, when sin is near, my Refuge, Mary, be, Tell Jesus that I, too, belong as He does, Dear, to Thee;

Give me a hatred deep for sin, for sin didst kill Thy Son,
My heart keep fixed on Christ and Thee, and have me all sin shun; From out Thy Heart so pure and fair, Thy Soul so spotless white Let come a park of purity to help me win God's fight; O, Mary, what will life avail though I the world should win, If, in the end, I lose my God, my soul and Thee, through sin; O, Mary, without sin conceived, stay always close to me For in Thee lies the hope of souls who have recourse to Thee.

-WILLIAM F. SHERIDAN.

GESU HOLY NAME NOTES

The Gesu Holy Name Society will hold its Annual Communion Breakfast on Sunday, May 14th, immediately following the regular monthly Communion Mass. The tickets are now in the hands of the Committee and a large attendance is expected. Last year over one hundred and fifteen men attended this breakfast and we were obliged to refuse admission to over fifty men who decided to buy tickets on the morning of the breakfast. Buy your tickets early so that the Committee can make arrangements to seat and feed everyone. We will have one or two good speakers and every man should attend.

The Committee of forty-two which worked so hard on the Golden Jubilee Drive just finished calling on all the members of the parish in the interest of Catholic Literature in Catholic homes. The Committee most of whom are Holy Name men reported that they were very cordially received and that over ninety per cent of the parish read one or more Catholic periodicals, the Committee also reported that they received many new subscriptions.

On Easter Sunday over two hundred and twenty-five men went to Communion at the seven thirty o'clock Mass. We are now about to begin a drive to increase our membership and bring it up to that of other parishes. Every man and young man in our parish should belong to this organization and go to Communion with the men in a body at the 7.30 Mass on the second control of the second control ond Sunday of the month.

The Holy Name Society is also making preparations for the outing to Riverview Beach.

Last year we had over seven hundred people from the parish on this outing and this year we expect to have over one thousand people present. We will give more details in the next issue of the Parish Calendar. In the meantime, don't forget the Communion Breakfast Sunday, May 14th, after the 7.30 o'clock Mass.

Feasts of the Month

ST. FRANCIS JEROME, S.J.—MAY 11

Saint Francis was born at Grottaglie, near Taranto in Italy, and entered the Society of Jesus while already a priest. In place of the Mission of Japan so ardently desired by him, his Superiors assigned the Province of Naples for his mission field. Though frail in constitution, it is incredible how much he did and suffered for the glory of God. He waged incessant war against his own body by penances and fasts. He used to preach several times a day in the public squares, in the barracks and in the prisons, touching the most hardened hearts and often receiving assistance from on high with the gift of miracles and phophecy. He was assiduous in attending on the sick and dying, in reconciling enemies and caring for the poor in their numerous Retreats for the clergy, for religious men and women. He died in the Professional state of the clergy, for religious men and women. numerous Retreats for the clergy, for religious men and women. He died in the Professed House at Naples in 1716, a true model of the Apostolic laborer.

ST. ROBERT BELLARMINE, S.J.—MAY 13 Archbishop, Cardinal and Doctor of the Church

Robert Francis Bellarmine was born in Montepulciano, Tuscany, on October 4, 1542. When eighteen he joined the Society of Jesus and after his philosophical and theological studies, he taught theology in Louvain and Rome, where he was the first to occupy the newly founded chair of Catholic Apologetics. In 1599 in spite of all his tears and entreaties to the contrary he was made Cardinal by Clement VIII, and in 1602 was consecrated Archbishop of Capua. Three years after the new Pope asked the saintly Cardinal to stay in Rome to assist in the general government of the Church. The last years of his life were as strenuous and as crowded as all the rest. The only holiday he loved to enjoy was a month's Retreat in the summer at the Novitiate of the Society of Jesus. And from the Novitiate, to which he was finally allowed to retire in August, 1621, he went to his reward in the following month, September 17, feast of the Stigmata of St. Francis of Assisi, to whom he was particularly devoted.

Cardinal Bellarmine was one of the greatest and most learned men of his time. His books on Catholic Apologetics proved such a powerful vindication of the Faith, that Queen Elizabeth forbade her subjects, under pain of death, too keep any of them. Benedict XIV named Bellarmine "the hammer of heretics," and Benedict XV said he was "the model of defenders of the faith." But he was a great saint as well, living a life of ceaseless labor

MOTHER'S DAY-MAY 14

Whoever is responsible for the institution of Mother's Day must have been providentially guided in the selection of the second Sunday of May. Every Catholic mother should consecrate herself to Mary, the model of all mothers and dedicate to her han ability herself to Mary, the model of all mothers, and dedicate to her her children for safekeeping in this world of

All the sons and daughters whose mothers worshipped in this church in days gone by or whose mothers worshipped in this church in the days gone by, or whose mothers now attend this church, are asked, in loving remembrance of that mother living attend this church, are asked, in loving remembrance of that mother, living or dead, to receive Holy Communion on Sunday May 14th "Wathar" or dead, to receive Holy Communion on Sunday May 14th munion on Sunday, May 14th, "Mother's Day." No more consoling gift can offered to a Catholic mother. If God has called your mother to her reward, any flowers of earth. If the vision of God has already have expected to her, any flowers of earth. If the vision of God has already been granted to her, she will share the joys of God's Angels in has already been granted to her, she will share the joys of God's Angels in knowledge that Christ is dwelling in the soul of her child

ASCENSION DAY—MAY 18

The Feast of the Ascension of Our Lord is a Holy Day of Obligation

The Feast of the Ascension is one of the greatest feasts of the Chrisquer, a day upon the mysteries of which greatest feasts of the greatest tian year, a day upon the mysteries of which we may mediate with great profit. On this day we commemorate the assessment of Christian His Heavprofit. On this day we commemorate the ascension of Christ into His Heavenly Kingdom, where, as He told the Apostles TV of the Apostles as the prepare a enly Kingdom, where, as He told the Apostles, He had gone to prepare a place for the children of earth. Christ dwelt is the Apostles place for the children of earth. Christ dwelt in the midst of His Apostles forty days after His resurrection from the tonk forty days after His resurrection from the tomb, and during those forty days He taught them many of the truths of that religion. He had founded days He taught them many of the truths of that religion He had founded when He said to Peter: "Thou art Peter, and upon this rook I will build My when He said to Peter: "Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build My church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." when He said to reter. Thou art reter, and upon this roc. Church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

For forty days after His resurrection did our Saviour Christ endure to remain below, at a distance from the glory which He had purchased. The of faith; what should detain Him here, instead of returning to the Father, glory was now His, He might have entered into it. Had He not had enough of faith; what should detain Him here, instead of returning to the Father, and taking possession of His throne? He delayed in order to the Father, passed when their faith had all but failed, even while they had His pattern before their eyes; and a time, or rather a long period was in prospect when heavier trials were to come upon them, yet He was to be withdrawn. They hitherto understand not that suffering is the path to glory, and that none sit down upon Christ's throne, who do not first overcome as He overcame. He stayed to impress upon them this lesson, lest they should still misunderstand the Gospel, and fail a second time. "Ought not Christ," He said, "to suffer these things and so to enter into His glory?" And having taught them fully, after forty days, at length He rose above the troubles of this world. He rose above the atmosphere of sin, sorrow and remorse, which broods over it. He entered into the region of peace and joy, into the pure light, the dwelling place of angels, the courts of the Most High, through which resound confinually the chants of blessed spirits and the praises of the seraphim. There He entered, leaving His brethren in due season to come after Him, by the light of His example, and the grace of His Spirit.—Cardinal Newman.

OUR LADY OF THE WAYSIDE-MAY 24

Our Lady of the Wayside (della Strada) is the title of a very devout picture of Our Lady that adorned one of the churches of Rome, in which Saint Ignatius and his first companions used to assembled when they first came to the Eternal City. The picture is now venerated in one of the chapels of the Gesu in Rome, the magnificent church erected on the same spot by the family of the Farnese. Countless favors have been bestowed by our Lady on her clients invoking her under this title.

THE ANGELUS

The Angelus is a form of prayer, very pleasing to the Mother of God and highly beneficial to ourselves.

Three times a day-morning, noon and evening-at the ringing of the Angelus bell, all true Christians unite in praise of God and of His Immaculate Mother Mary, in gratitude for the Eternal Word and to ask the intercession of the Mother of God.

Dear to the heart of every Catholic is this simple devotion known as the Angelus, in which by the triple repetition of the Hail Mary, with a few introductory words and a concluding prayer, we greet the Blessed Virgin and lovingly recall the great joy she felt when the Angel Gabriel saluted her in the words of the "Ave Maria" and announced to her that she was to become the Mother of the Son of God.

The Blessed Virgin delights in being saluted in the words of "Hail Mary"; for it renews, as it were, the great joy she had at the moment of the Incarnation of the Son of God. St. Mechtilde, who was greatly devoted to the Blessed VIII of God. St. Mechtilde, who have to Sweet Queen of Blessed Virgin, once exclaimed in the ardor of her love: "O Sweet Queen of Heaven Treatment of the Son of God. St. Mechtilde, who was given of Sweet Queen of Heaven Treatment of the Sweet Salutation that ever hu-Heaven, I wish I could greet thee with the sweetest salutation that ever human heavet heaven, I wish I could greet thee with the sweetest salutation that ever human heavet heaven heave man heart has conceived or human lips have uttered." Instantly, the glorious Virgin Mary appeared to her, bearing upon her bosom the Angelic Salutation in letters of all salutations, this is the in letters of gold, and revealed to the saint that of all salutations, this is the one most pleasing to her.

The origin of the Angelus cannot be definitely traced; it seems to have grown from various customs in different countries, until in the course of time, it was a customs in different christians of all nations. time, it was adopted in its present form by the Christians of all nations.

In Special Trom various customs in different countries, that at the ringing of

In Spain it has been the custom for centuries, that at the ringing of the selus hell countries should stop work-Angelus bell, every person, of every station and occupation, should stop working and recit ing and recite the Angelus.

It is related that when Millet's famous painting, "The Angelus," was on ibition in the growd admiring exhibition in America, two men stood long apart from the crowd admiring its simple hamerica, two men stood long apart from the crowd admiring the other thoughts, one asked: its simple beauty. Then, as if interpreting the other thoughts, one asked:
"But What the country of the country "But what would that picture be, after all, without the Angelus? Just two beasants in a potato field." "What would the world be without the Angelus?" replied that picture or animing globe, with countless toilers on it." gelus?" replied the other. "Just a spinning globe, with countless toilers on

Thirty-ninth Annual Report OF THE

GESU CHURCH DEBT ASSOCIATION

This Association was organized in February, 1900, by the Rev. Wm. F. Clark, S.J. It has for its object the payment of the annual interest on our heavy Church Debt, and the gradual reduction of the principal itself. The good results looked forward to are being gradually accomplished year after year.

During the year March 1, 1938, to February 28, 1939, as appears from our report, the very generous amount of $3,685.00 was contributed which is an evidence of the devotion and generosity of our people, for which we are sincerely grateful.

Our heartfelt thanks are especially due to the Solicitors, who, week after week, cheerfully go their rounds, undaunted either by the inclemency of the weather or the many other inconveniences of their self-imposed work of zeal.

We ask for our Solicitors a continuance of good will and generosity on the part of our contributors. The work is the work of God, and God, Who loves the cheerful giver, will not fail to bless and sanctify every home in which they are cordi-when sorrow touches those we love, when grief or pain they know, when sickness holds them in its grasp, or Death strikes home a blow; We are so happy if we can some ray of comfort find To give them hope, or ease their pain, or bring peace to their mind; we like to have them know we're near, and in their sorrow share, And that we want to do our best their cross to help them bear; When sympathy and friendship make us do these things so fine, To help our friends, how can we turn from Christ, the Friend Divine?

Thorns from the Master's Crown

He is the Friend Who loves us most, the saddened God and Man. Who suffered more than all mankind since first the world began; He pleads with us with yearning voice—so sad, alone is He—
"Take up thy cross and follow Me, if Thou My friend wouldst be;" What privilege sweet to follow Christ, e'en though on Sorrow's Road, To stagger and to fall with Him beneath his heavy load; When crosses come, as come they will, and God sends sorrow down, Remember all these heartaches are Thorns from the Master's Crown;

If, for His Sake, we bravely bear these crosses sent us now, Each cross, so borne, shall pluck a thorn from out His tortured Brow; Will not our suffering be worth while if through it we can make The Heart of Christ rejoice because we bear it for His Sake; Thorns from His Crown our sorrows are—the Crown by Jesus worn— Shall we from life but roses have when He was pierced with thorns; And when at last the time shall come to lay life's burdens down, These sorrows then shall not be thorns, but form our heaven's crown.

Our Altar Boys

On June 4th, new members will be received into the St. John Berchmans' sanctuary Society. This reception will be held in conjunction with the usual sunday evening services. Parents and guardians of both the old and new members should be present on this occasion and in this way be a source of encouragement to these boys who are so faithful performing the sacred duties assigned to them as Altar Boys of the Gesu Parish.

Annual Bazaar and Raffle

With much pleasure and gratitude do we recall last year's Golden Jubilee Bazaar. The people of the parish both young and old were most generous in giving their time and money to make it the fine success it was. The success of a Bazaar does not depend on one or two or even on one or two hundred parishioners. It depends on the generous co-operation of all our parishioners. This co-operation was had last year, and it was because of this that the Bazaar and Raffle was such a financial and social success.

This year there is a special reason why everyone should again rally round and if possible work even harder than last year. Since the Bingo parties have not been had, a fine source of income has been denied us. Our Church Organ is sadly in need of repair. In fact some experts tell us that it is beyond repair. A new organ should be acquired. Is it not possible for us all, to work so hard at this year's Bazaar and Raffle so as not only to cover the loss of the Bingo Parties but also to make such a financial success that a new organ may be purchased?

Our Bazaar this year will begin on Friday night, June 16th, and Continue until Saturday night, June 24th. The Bazaar committee under the joint direction of Father Brennan and Father Duross has arranged many new attractions. There will be at least three rides: a ferris wheel, chair plane, and a kiddy ride. At the present writing we are negotiating for a merry-go-round, but this is not settled yet. Besides these, there are other new attractions; one especially, which is to be kept as a surprise, and which we feel sure, if we may use the expression "will take the house down."

The books for our annual Raffle you have all, no doubt, received. If by some mischance you have been overlooked, have patience with us. Amid so much work, there is bound to be a few mistakes. Extra books may be obtained at the rectory door. The Raffle is being run as last year's. Five hundred dollars will be given away. The popularity contest will be run in conjunction with the Raffle, so choose the boy and girl whom you wish to win those fifty dollar prizes.

We now have a new Pastor, a man who has a wholehearted priestly love for the Gesu Church, and for the people of the Gesu Parish. Let us show him that we also love our parish and our church. Let us work hard give generously. We are giving to Christ, Christ will not forget us.

it need painting interiorly or exteriorly? How about the poor old walls within the home? They have not had a treat for some years now. Isn't it time for that over-due new wall papering job to be done? Last year you had difficulty keeping the rain out of the third story. The poor old roof leaks. Don't you think it is now time for a new roof or to have it repaired? Then the plumbing needs to be taken care of.

Friends, isn't it about time to brighten up the home? Didn't you promise friend wife a new refrigerator, a radio, a vacuum cleaner or some new furniture? How about the interest on the mortgage that is soon due? There are so many things that confront the average mother, husband and wife that one could possibly fill a book describing them. Then there is that good, old, rock-ribbed American pastime—installment buying. Nothing like the inevitable collector hounding you each week. Hasn't it proved annoying to you and sometimes embarrassing, when you have some good friend or dear relative visiting you and Johnny-on-the-Spot shows up for his weekly payment? You don't like anyone to think that certain things in your home are only loaned to you until you pay the bill. All or most of your emergency financial problems can be solved. The installment house can be forgotten about, if you will just get up enough ambition and take a walk to the old High School Building this Friday night or some Friday night real soon and find out for yourself just what this is all about. Mr. John E. Martin, our Treasurer, or any of the officers will be only too glad to give you all the information that you need.

If you really take pride in your community and you really want the literal translation of the word "co-operative" explained in a concrete manner, please come in soon and you will be truly amazed that it has a very definite meaning—more than just the plain word "co-operative." There are no paid officers. These good men and women are giving their time and energy in a truly co-operative spirit. This Federal Credit Union belongs to you. It is a community affair. You, as individuals, banded together to better your lot in your own neighborhood. Don't you think it worth your while to investigate and get first hand knowledge of what it means to you and all of us? If you don't join and still cater to the loan sharks, keep on buying on the installment plan, when you can avoid all this, then you don't want to be helped.

We feel sure that after reading this article, you will become a member of the Eighteenth and Thompson Street Federal Credit Union, under the supervision of the United States Government. It is the best thing that came into the community in many a year. Well, friends, we will be expecting you soon to join us. Start to save now and when any financial problem crops up, you will have the means to meet any emergency.

The Month of the Sacred Heart

Since our Lord's first revelation to Blessed Margaret Mary of the great devotion to His Sacred Heart, the fire of the devotion has spread to every part of the Catholic world. She recorded joyfully its humble beginnings, a convent here, a new shrine there; now we are witnesses of the ever-growing solemnity of the feast, the Novenas of days and of First Fridays, of a Mass and Office, and acts of Consecration of families, of children, of parishes, of Christian countries and of the entire Church, to the worship to this Divine and Adorable Heart and Adorable Heart.

Year by year, this fire from the glowing furnace of the Heart of Jesus Christ is taking hold of souls, changing them, strengthening them, giving them new ardor in the interests of religion and morality. It is not too much to say that the devotion to the Sacred Heart has become the most powerful religious influence of the age. Side by side with the decay of Protestantism and the hideous efforts of naturalism and impurity to draw souls away from God, the worship of the Heart which is Most Pure and All Divine is winning multitudes of souls from ruin and leading them back to faith and purity. The Sacred Heart of Jesus, that most perfect expression of divine purity. The blade itself on the literature of the modern age, and its poetry, love, has stamped itself on the literature of the modern age, and its poetry, jove, has stamped usen on the interature of the modern age, and its poetry, its music, its painting, its engraving, sculpture and architecture, on various forms of organization in League and Confraternities, on schemes of social work and benevolence, and best of all on the daily lives, thoughts, purposes and ways of men and women throughout the world.

Opposition and obstacle have only hastened its progress and spread it more widely. How gloriously time has fulfilled our Lord's prediction to Blessed Margaret Mary: "In spite of My enemies, I shall reign!" In spite of coldness and irreligion, of the contempt of heretics, of the plotting of secret societies, of the deep treachery of Liberal and Modernist, He is enthroned today in the warm hearts of millions of the faithful children of the Church, uniting them to Himself especially by the Blessed Sacrament, uniting them together in societies and confraternities to resist the assaults of socialism, anarchy, infidelity and the soft allurements of a widespread sensuality, by which the Evil One hopes to woo away from God the hearts of the growing generation.

Promises of the Sacred Heart to St. Margaret Mary

- 1. I will give them who confide in me all the graces necessary in their state of life.
  - 2. I will grant peace to their families.
- 3. I will console them in all their troubles. 4. I will be their secure refuge during life and, above all, at the hour
- 5. I will pour down abundant blessings on all their undertakings. 6. Sinners will find in my Heart the source and infinite ocean of
- 7. Tepid souls will become fervent.
- Fervent souls will rapidly rise to great perfection. 9. I will bless the homes where the image of my Sacred Heart is ex-
- posed and honored.
- 10. I will grant priests the grace to touch the most hardened hearts.
  11. Those who propagate this devotion will have their name written in
- my Heart and it shall never be effaced. 12. I promise, in the great mercy of my Heart, to grant the grace of final perseverance to those who receive Holy Communion the first Friday during nine consecutive months; they will not die in my disgrace nor without receiving the Sacraments, and my Heart shall be their sure refuge at their last hour.

The Girl Scouts of the Gesu

On Friday evening, May 12th, our Girl Scouts, under the supervision of our Captain, Agnes M. Sweeney, and her assistants, Eleanor Fogarty, Harriett Mongan and Alice Smith, tendered a reception party in our rooms in honor our new Rector, Rev. Thomas J. Love, S.J. Our Director, Brother Stengel, accompanied Rev. Father Rector to our assembly rooms and introduced him to our Captain and the Girl Scouts.

Later on during the party, Brother Stengel accompanied Father Duross, our Chaplain, Father Ruppel and Father Redmond as invited guests to the party after they had finished their other evening activities.

Merit badges were then awarded by Father Duross and Father Redmond to Edna Green, for art, home-maker and home-keeper and to Rita Cardona for home-maker, home-keeper. Also an award of ex-patrol leader chevron and class badge were made to them.

On June 3rd the Girl Sccouts will have their day at the World's Fair in New York. A special train at reduced rates will leave Philadelphia at eight a. m. traveling around the east to receive Girl Scout troops from the surrounding country. The train will then run directly into the Fair Grounds and in the evening the Girl Scouts will assemble on the train and return home by nine o'clock. All the girls will be in uniform and chaperons will be appointed, one to each group of four.

JESUIT SEMINARY FUND

Novices entering religious orders are usually required to bring with them a "dowry." Students at seminaries are usually required to pay tuition. But Jesuit novices and scholastics are not asked for money either in the form of dowry or tuition. The Society of Jesus has maintained through the centuries the ideal of disassociating a religious vocation from any concern about money. A candidate is examined for mental, moral and physical fitness; he is not asked if his family is rich or poor. Yet Jesuit Houses of Study must somehow or other be supported. This is made possible by appeals to friends of the Society. The ordinary means is through the "Jesuit Seminary Fund," an organization of friends who contribute at least $1.00 a year to aid in the work of educating candidates for the Society.

- A PERPETUAL MEMBERSHIP in the Jesuit Seminary Fund entitles subscribers year after year to all spiritual benefits offered by the Society. A somewhat larger offering is customary (usually $50.00). The perpetual membership for deceased persons constitutes the "JESUIT PURGATORIAL SOCIETY." (The usual offering is $25.00.)
- A FAMILY MEMBERSHIP includes all living and deceased members. (Usual offering is $100.00.)
- ANNUITIES: Gifts (of $100.00 or more) made to the Society on condition that 5% interest be paid to donor during life. Advantages: A good investment; safeguarding of money; regular income.
- BURSES: Scholarship Funds, for educating Jesuit priests. $8,000.00 completes a Burse. Because of few Burses, we must continue to beg.

Benefits of the Jesuit Seminary Fund are spiritual:

- 1. A share in prayers and good works of all Jesuits.
- 2. An intention in 160 daily Masses, 57,600 a year; in 598 daily Communions,
- 3. A share in the unbroken chain of first intention Masses.
- 4. A novena of Masses offered each month for all benefactors.
- 5. The frequent prayers of all Jesuits for benefactors, living and dead; the prayer "For Benefactors" is daily recited in common by every Jesuit Community.

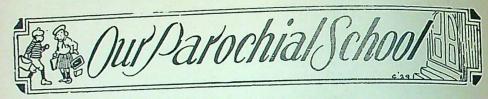

What is given for the support of candidates for the priesthood of Christ is really given to Christ Himself. In a very true sense what is given is not lost hus really given to Christ Himself. lost but transformed by God's divine alchemy into coin of the realm of Hooms. of Heaven and is stored up for the donor against the dawn of Eternity.

The Altar Boys

Did you ever notice that practically everything connected with the Sacrifice of the Mass is in itself a sacrifice? The Priest who offers the Mass has heard and answered the call, "Come, follow Me." The Church, where the Mass is celebrated, was erected through the sacrifices of the parishioners—and the altar boy, who serves the Mass, is called upon to make a daily sacrifice of time.

Yet, ask any of these, the Priest, the generous parishioner, the altar boy, "Is it a hard sacrifice?" They could truthfully answer "Yes," but there is always added, "but I am willing to make it. . . . God wanted it." So, applying this directly to our title, don't be afraid, you parents of our altan boys, that early rising will be harmful to your son (we except, of course, those times when colds or more serious ills prevent). The boys—and this is a fine characteristic of youth—are generous. Help this spirit of generosity by seeing to it that your son is up in time for his appointed Mass. This means, perhaps, a sacrifice for you, too. But God always rewards an act made for Him, so will He look with favor on this. Who knows? Many an altar boy has gone in the course of years, from the bottom to the top step of the altar. This, Catholic parents, may be your reward.

The Altar Boy

We bless the faithful Altar-boy And hail his happy face with joy; Clean hands, clear head, an upright heart, Chose from all the rest apart To stand before the King of kings, To touch and handle holy things.

He comes in snowy surplice dressed,
As heavenly Bridegroom's bidden guest;
His folded hands, his modest eyes,
Befit the holy Sacrifice.
He moves about God's altar-throne
To serve the priest; but not alone.

Ten thousand angels hover there
To worship God in rapturous prayer;
Ten thousand saints adore unseen
With our dear Mother, heaven's Queen;
Each step the server takes, each word,
By loving spirits seen and heard.

O sacred station! Happy lot
To serve about the holy spot
Where Jesus, Savior, comes to dwell
Incarnate in Love's prison cell.
O fill his heart with heavenly joy.
God keep him pure, this Altar-boy.

St. Francis Xavier and the Buddist Abbot

Our Apostle of India was preeminently noted for his capacity for friendship. No human being was beyond his charity and interest, and many are the stories recorded of conversions effected by him of persons who to human insight alone would have seemed the most unlikely.

We are not therefore unduly surprised to read of his very friendly footing in a Buddhist monastery in Japan and his long conversations with the old abbot. While there is no record that the saint converted the Buddhist leader, one subject of discussion between them brings out an interesting

Francis asked the old abbot: "In which part of your life have you been happiest-your long-dead youth, or your present old age?"

The Buddhist answered: "Youth."

Xavier: "Why?"

"Because then the body is strong and one can achieve all one's ambitions.

Xavier said: "When seamen sail from port to port, which time seems best to them, the hour in mid-ocean buffeted by every storm, or the moment when they are in sight of home?"

Slowly, the old Buddhist priest answered: "I see your meaning, but that is not my case. I know not where my journey will end. For him who knows, to him the harbor lies open, happiness is there. As for me, I know nothing of where or what is my ultimate goal."

What a lesson to Christians of gratitude for their certainty of belief is contained in those words of the old Buddhist! To know the purpose of life and its great objective of happiness in the world to come is the priceless heritage of the Catholic Faith. Such knowledge affords a steadying foundation for human thought and action, and gives a proper perspective to the trials which form an unescapable part of most lives. The Buddhist abbot was no doubt well versed in the lore of his pagan world; but a Catholic child learns in the short Catechism a wiser and happier basis of conduct than he ever knew.

Holy Name Notes

At the monthly meeting of the Holy Name Society held on Thursday, June 8, it was decided that another excursion to Riverview Beach would be held on the fifth Sunday of July, which is July 30.

Final arrangements have not as yet been completed with the Wilson Line but we believe the boat will leave the Wilson Line Pier at the foot of Chestnut Street at 9.15 A. M. and arrive at Riverview Beach about 11.45

The return trip will be made at 5 P. M.

Tables will be reserved in the beautiful picnic groves and games will be arranged for young and old. Nearly everyone brought their own lunch last year, but it grows and old. Nearly everyone brought there are many resyear, but if anyone desires to buy their dinner there, there are many restaurants where the same are m aurants where meals may be purchased at a mother work.

Last year we had over six hundred and fifty men, women and children accompany us on this picnic and all had a very enjoyable time. The trip will be made: will be made rain or shine, Sunday, July 30. Last year some people stayed away because we had a little rain in the morning, but everything cleared up before we reached Riverview Beach. Therefore don't let a little rain keep you away you away.

Tickets will soon be in circulation. Purchase yours early. Tickets cost 60 cents; children 5-12, half price, 30 cents. Remember the date—Sunday, July 30; time, 9.15 A.M.; place, Wilson line Pier at the foot of Chestnut Street.

The Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association

on Wednesday evening, May 17th, the members of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association had an opportunity of hearing Mr. Thomas Guerin, State Deputy Attorney for the Pennsylvania Liquor Con-Mr. Thomas Guerin, State Deputy Moothley for the Fernisylvania Elquor Control Board, explain in detail many points regarding liquor control in the state of Pennsylvania. Mr. Guerin expressed his pleasure in addressing our Association and spoke of the good this Association is doing for the neighborbood in keeping in touch with all questions pertaining to the different neighborhoods.

The Sociable Evening on May 24th was well attended and very much enjoyed by all present. Nice, attractive prizes were won by the lucky persons, and the refreshments did their part to insure the success of the affair. We sincerely appreciate the efforts of our workers and their friends who co-operate with us in our endeavors to make our entertainments eniovable.

We hope that our householders and others will take a personal interest in helping to keep our streets clean. The results obtained in this way will be beneficial to all. Our Association is now three years old, having been organized in June, 1936, by Reverend James I. Maguire, S.J., to whom we are indebted for his untiring interest, in behalf of our tenants and owners. We therefore take this occasion to thank Father Maguire, our officers, our members, and all who in any way helped during the past year in the work of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association. We hope they will be with us next year so that we may do bigger and better things.

Missing Mass

During these summer months there will be many closed churches about us. Needless to say, no Catholic church will be closed. There is the same God to working its to the God to worship in summer as in winter, the same religious duties to be performed, the same commandments of the Church to be observed as to hearing Mass on Sun demandments of obligation. And all this under hearing Mass on Sundays and holydays of obligation. And all this under pain of mortal sin. That is such a plain duty that it needs no elucidation.

Yet there are some Catholics who affect to believe that they are an exception to this common, ordinary rule of life. They seem to breathe in some of the irreligion about them, they become infected with the spirit which turns its back on religious worship, when it entails some personal sacrifice, and just as so many of the non-Catholic churches close up for the hot months, so do they follow the example and close their hearts tight against God in order that they may indulge their personal comfort.

Hence the ages with which so many Catholics seek to satisfy their day outing, when they will start early in the morning, and never give a thought to the duty of giving to God the worship He requires; it may be for the week's vacation, while they prevail upon themeslves that, since it one of hodily recovering to thought need be given to Mass for that is a time week's vacation, while they prevail upon themesives that, should be sunday. Indeed, there are some who will go away for the entire summer, bury themselves in a place miles distant from a Catholic church and never once go to Mass.

And what makes it more criminal is the fact that it is unnecessary In this vast country the places of vacation have been multiplied without end. There are thousands of delightful resorts adapted to every purse and to all sorts of people; resorts that are handy to the Catholic church or chapel where Mass is said on Sunday.

And apart from the question of sin, there is another consideration that ought to influence Catholics in the choice of a place of vacation. No Catholic wishes to die without the priest. No one knows when serious illness will come, and with it the urgent needs of confessing and receiving the last rites of the Church. And what a terrible thing it must be for one to face a death in a place where he himself made it impossible for the priest to reach him. Unnecessarily to put oneself out of touch with the ministrations of religion is to take a chance in regard to eternal salvation.

Girl Scouts of the Gesu

On Friday evening, June 2nd, under the supervision of our Captain, Agnes M. Sweeney, the Girl Scouts of the Gesu, Troop 25, received at a party in our apartments, the Boys Scouts of the Gesus, Troop 299 as guests for the evening. Father Duross, Father Ruppel, Father Bellwar and Brother Stengel honored us as guest on during the evening. The party was well staged under the direction of our Assistant Leader, Harriet Mongan; Patrol Leader, Edna Green and Assistant Patrol Leader, Bits Cardona, An enjoy-Leader, Edna Green and Assistant Patrol Leader, Rita Cardona. An enjoyable entertainment was rendered in which some of the Boy Scouts took part. The Boy Scouts were first officially welcomed in Morse Code by signals between Rita Cardona and Edna Green: "The Girl Scouts welcome the Boy Scouts, Troop 299." A duet was sung by John Daly and Francis Carroll. After the performance, refreshments were served. After the party the Boy Scouts revealed their friendship and courtesy by helping to place the rooms in splendid order.

On June the third, the Girl Scout excursion day took place at the World's Fair, New York. Our troop was represented in the excursion by a group of our Girl Scouts and was accompanied by our Director Brother Stengel. After a visit to the Blessed Sacrament in church we all left for the station. left for the station. More than three thousand Girl Scouts in uniform were carried in three long trains and landed on the fair grounds and again returned safely in the evening to Philadelphia. A most delightful and interesting day was enjoyed by all especially in the sail on the large moving escalators and balconies through the Trylon and by a circuit sail in the Perisphere. Everybody was cheerful and harmy during the day. Perisphere. Everybody was cheerful and happy during the day.

Those who had served a hundred Masses or more were given Berchmans' sport shirts, as reward for their service during the year.

On this occasion we also had the happiness of awarding two Gold Medals for ten years of faithful service. The recipients were: Harry McEntee and Harry Cunningham, who are Masters of Ceremonies.

Father Rector Preached and gave Solemn Benediction, assisted by Rev. Fr. Minister and Mr. Kleff, S.J.

As we close the year, we wish to take this occasion to express our sincere gratitude to the parents and guardians of our Altar Boys for their unselfish assistance in aiding these boys to attain the honors they have received, and at the same time supplying servers for so many Masses celereceived, and at the same time supplying servers for so many Masses celebrated at the Gesu each day. Surely they have a large share in each sacrifice, in which their boys play such an important part.

Alone

I realized today, Dear Lord, how much Thou art alone, In Tabernacles of the world, where Thou dost make Thy Home: How weary must the hours seem, how lonely must Thou be, As Thou dost wait and yearn for men to spend a while with Thee; I called this morning at Thy Home, to kneel before Thy Throne, And ask Thy Blessing on my day, and found Thee all alone; Alone—the God of all the world; Alone—the King of kings— The Friend Divine, the Gentle Christ, before Whom Angels sing:

The Heart that bursts with Love for men; the Eyes that never sleep; The Arms outstretched to welcome those who with Thee vigil keep; O, Lonely Heart, O, Lonesome Christ, no human tongue can tell, Thy yearning Love, Thy Burning Thirst, for souls Thou lovest well; Yet hours pass and Thou doth wait alone with no friend near, To tell Thee of their love or try Thy Lonely Heart to cheer; The busy world and restless men unthinking pass Thy Door; Unmindful that within dwells Christ, Who Calvary's sufferings bore;

For love of man Thou doth remain an Exile to the end, So Thou canst dwell with him on earth, not as His God but Friend; Forgotten Jesus, Lonely Christ, through all the day and night, With none to cheer, no company but the Sanctuary Light; For Thee the Saints and Angels yearn in Thy dear Home above, Yet Thou dost long instead to hear men tell Thee of their love; O. Jesus, light within my heart a flame of love for Thee, And let it burn throughout my life and through Eternity.

Feasts of the Month

THE PRECIOUS BLOOD—JULY 1

Why has the Church instituted the Feast of the Precious Blood and why has she so ardently urged her children to the zealous fostering of this devotion? The object of the Church was first of all to commemorate and honor our blessed Lord; secondly, she deemed it fitting that the Precious Blood which was so willingly shed for mankind should be worshipped, and, thirdly, because she realized that this devotion was a source of boundless graces. It is indeed a striking devotion and though its special of boundless graces. It is indeed a striking devotion and, though its special motive is the Presions Plant and the motive is the Precious Blood, the ultimate object of the devotion is Jesus Christ Himself Christ Himself.

That we may comprehend and enter into the spirit of this devotion, we must remember that Christ was man, with a human body and soul like ours. He could have given His life without shedding His blood, but He so loved us that He not only desired without shedding His blood, But he so loved us that He not only desired without shedding His blood, His life's He so loved us that He not only desired to give His life, but also His life's blood. The human body, in the pure blood which courses incessantly through its veins, contains all vitality. It is the blood which keeps the physical life in the body; separate the blood from the body or cause its pulsive plan to cease, and life no longer exists. It is obvious, therefore, what we mean when we say, Christ shed His life's blood.

Even in the Old Law sagrifications.

Even in the Old Law, sacrifice was always accompanied by the shedding of the victim's blood. It was, in fact, an essential part of the ceremony. The blood flowing from the victim was the visible ebbing of its life. Christ was our victim. A brief glance at the passion will suffice to recall the shedding of His Precious Blood. In the Garden of Olives Christ kneels and prays, and the agonizing pressure on His Search Heart became so and prays, and the agonizing pressure on His Sacred Heart became so strong that the very blood is forced out through the pores of His body and He kneels as in a bloody sweet. and He kneels as in a bloody sweat. We next find Him in Pilate's courtyard. Stripped and tied to a pillar. He stands unflinchingly and allows the cruel soldiers to flog His tender body with their spiked cords. Every blow brings Precious Blood. He starts on the road Calvary, burdened with His cross; His feet are bruised and bleeding. Every step brings Precious Blood. He is stretched upon the cross and nails are driven through His hands and feet. Every blow brings Precious Blood. Sad and desolate He hangs Three hours on the cross and then He bows His head and dies. A centurion pierces His side with a lance, and out from His sacred Heart flows blood and water. Drop by drop His Precious Blood has been most willingly shed for us. been most willingly shed for us.

If, during this month of July, the month dedicated in a special way to the Precious Blood, we recall these scenes frequently, surely we shall not find it difficult to enter seriously into the spirit of this devotion and so entering into it we shall not fail to derive many spiritual blessings.

BLESSED BERNARDINE REALINI—JULY 3

Blessed Bernardine Realini, a native of Italy, after years of success in the practice of law, entered the Society of Jesus in his thirty-fourth year. Desiring in his humility the humble grade of a lay-brother, he yielded to the wishes of his superiors and was ordained to the priesthood. So great was his sanctity that, shortly after his ordination. he was given charge of the spiritual formation of the novices. After two years in this difficult position, he devoted himself to missionary work in Naples and the surrounding country. Spiritual ministrations to the sick and the dying, the visitation of prisons and hospitals, the preparation of criminals for death, the relief of the rhor and needs. of the poor and needy—every form of labor, by which he could aid the suffering children of Christ, was embraced by him with ardent zeal and devotion. We also also be a suffering that the sight of God. He devotion. He closed his labors by a death precious in the sight of God. He was beatified by Pope Leo XIII.

BLESSED IGNATIUS AZEVEDO AND COMPANIONS—JULY 15

In the year 1570 a band of forty Jesuits set out from Lisbon for the mission of Brazil. At their head was Father Ignatius Azevedo, who, after two years of labor in this distant mission, had returned to Europe to recruit fresh laborers for the results of the results and the results of the years of labor in this distant mission, had returned to Europe to recruit fresh laborers for the vineyard. His thirty-nine companions were the remissionary had received more than one devine intimation that he and his ecompanions were destined to gain the crown of martyrdom. Nor was the fulfillment of the prophecy long delayed. Off the Canary Islands their fulfillment of the prophecy long delayed. Pope Pius IX raised them to the honors of the altar. honors of the altar.

OUR LADY OF MOUNT CARMEL—JULY 16

Few festivals in honor of the Virgin Mary are more gladly welcomed by the faithful than that of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. The reason is because she is the patroness of thousands upon thousands of devout clients of every rank and condition of society, who show their tender devotion to her by wearing the Brown Scapular. The word "Scapular" is of Latin derivation and means shoulder dress; because it is hung around the neck in bious memory of the habit worn in life by its blessed originator. It is not a meaningless symbol or a superstitious charm, but a pledge that we have chosen Mary as our Queen and enrolled ourselves under her banner.

It is called the Scapular of Mount Carmel; because the devotion had its foundation in an apparition of the Mother of God to Simon Stock, a man remarkable for stainless innocence of life, and one of the most illustrious generals of the Order of Carmelites, whose first monastery was established on a mountain of Palestine, by the name of Carmel. This vision occurred at Cambridge in England, on the 16th day of July, in the year 1251. Presenting her devout and faithful servant with a Scapular which she held in her hand, the Holy Mother of God thus addressed him: "Receive, dear Son, this Scapular of thy Order; it is the mark of the privilege which I have obtained for thee and for the children of Carmel. It is a sign of salvation, a safeguard in danger, the pledge of special peace and protection."

Many are the spiritual and temporal advantages accuring from the beautiful and widespread devotion. The wearing of the Scapular has often been the means of bringing to souls the priest and the last Sacraments. It is the badge which places us under the special protection of the Queen of Heaven with her promise to safeguard in life and at the hour of death those who wear it devoutly.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL, APOSTLE OF CHARITY—JULY 19

He was born in Aquitaine, and from a shepherd boy became a priest. Soon after his ordination he was taken captive by the Turks and sold as a slave. Converting his master, he escaped with him to France. The king, pleased with his zeal, set him over the galley slaves of the kingdom. At the invitation of St. Francis de Sales, he was spiritual director of the Visitation Sisters for forty years. A desire to promote the spiritual interests of the poor in country districts, induced him to found the Congregations of the Missions, or Vincentians. His Sisters of Charity are an enduring monument to his love for the poor and afflicted, angels of kindness following of hospitals.

The spirit that motivated his all-consuming charity for his fellowmen may be pondered and meditated on again and again with every-increasing benefit. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," was Christ's succinct summing of man's fraternal duty and conduct. These words of his Divine Master must have burned themselves into St. Vincent's mind and heart. The poor, we should try to put ourselves in their place that we may suffer things to all men that I may serve all." Of his own life he said: "All my and nothing remains to me save sorrow that my moment has not been

BLESSED RUDOLPH ACQUAVIVA AND COMPANIONS—JULY 27

The twenty-seventh day of July in the year 1583 saw the crown of martyrdom bestowed upon five Jesuit missionaries in the peninsula of Salbirth. With him were associated three priests, Alphonsus Pacheco, Peter gone to the peninsula for the purpose of choosing a site for a church, they God glorified his martyrs by many miracles, and many were converted in after their death, their bodies were found still incorrupt. They were beatified by Pope Leo XIII.

ST. IGNATIUS OF LOYOLA—JULY 31

There are few names that stand for more in the history of the Church of God in these latter days than the name of Loyola. It suggests at once the noble form of a soldier who, wounded in the service of his king, was led to think of his Heavenly Monarch and devote his life to the salvation of souls. It also suggests, very forcibly, all the enmities and hatreds of the enemies of God's Church focused upon one man and his work, and following him and his disciples with an unceasing warfare of calumny and persecution. Loyola stands for hostility to heresy, unceasing warfare on all that tends to rend the sacred garment of unity; he stands for the most noble work the last few centuries have known; he stands for the heroism of missionaries who have gone forth into every land, bearing the Gospel of Jesus Christ and courting persecution and death in order to save souls.

The soldier of Pampeluna was born in Loyola in Spain in 1491, and named Ignatius. While ill, he read the lives of the saints and was called by divine grace to a leadership in the army of Jesus Christ. He left the world and all its ambitions, and determined to give his life to the service of God. Near the altar of Montserrat is a tablet which records that "Blessed Ignatius of Loyola here, with many tears and prayers, devoted himself to God and the Virgin. Hence he went forth to found the Society of Jesus in 1522." In Manresa, three miles distant, in a common hospital, he found a resting place, and there he began his preparation in Christian virtue. A year later, with staff in hand, he journeyed on foot to Italy and thence to the Holy Land. Returning to Spain, he entered the University of Alcala, and then at Salamanca, and finally at Paris, which was the great center of philosophy and theology. He suffered persecution in all these institutions for certain views which he advocated, and it seemed as if all these were not only to prepare his soul for his great mission, but also to pre-shadow the life of his Order.

At Paris he had as companions those who were afterward to unite with him in the establishment of the Society of Jesus. Among them were Francis Xavier, Peter Faber, James Lainez, Simon Rodriguez and several others, who on Assumption Day, 1534 took a vow to renounce all their goods and to go to the Holy Land, and, failing in this, to go to the Pope and offer him the absolute service of their lives. They were prevented from going to the Holy Land, and their allegiance was given to the Sovereign Pontiff, who was to send them to such work as he deemed best. Thus, in September, 1540, began the Society of Jesus, destined to be the strong arm of the Church against heresy, and the ornament of religion, not only in the educational method which it was to give to the world, but also in the magnificent results which have been obtained.

MARY'S INTERCESSION

"You may be taken away young, you may live to fourscore, you may die in your bed, you may die in the open field, but if Mary intercedes for you, that day will find you watching and ready. All things will be fixed to secure your salvation; all dangers will be forested. All things will be fixed all aids your salvation; all dangers will be foreseen, all obstacles removed, all aids provided. The hour will come, and in a moment you will be translated beyond fear and risk; you will be translated into a new state where sin is not, nor ignorance of the future, but perfect faith and serene joy, and assurance and love everlasting."—Cardinal Newman.

THE HAIL MARY

The Hail Mary is a prayer of which we never grow weary. When our hands have touched aromatic plants they perfume everything they come in contact with. Let us offer our present the transfer of the Placed Virgin. contact with. Let us offer our prayers by the hands of the Blessed Virgin. She will perfume them. At the ond of the hands of the Blessed Virgin. She will perfume them. At the end of the world I think Our Lady will rest, but as long as the world leate the world I think Our Lady will rest, but as long as the world lasts she will be besieged on all sides. She is like a mother who has many children and the besieged on all sides. mother who has many children and is kept busy going from one to another.

—Blessed Cure of Ars

GOOD MOTHERS

Good Christian mothers are the salt of the earth. They are the backbone of any nation.

Theirs is a sacred office, an office whose dignity cannot be overstressed, an office for which God seems to have endowed woman with special gifts. He must have taken finer clay when He made a mother's heart. He must have formed it larger and made it firmer to stand the trials that were to with love, more gentle, more kind. It is one of the masternieces of His with love, more gentle, more kind. It is one of the masterpieces of His creation—a mother's heart.

Girl Scouts of the Gesu

The regular meetings have been discontinued until September. Day Camps for Catholic Girl Scouts are open during July and August and any of the Girl Scouts may attend at these camps which are under the care of a Catholic Girl Scout Leader.

Our Captain, Agnes M. Sweeney and her mother are touring through the West:-Visiting the Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., The Grand Canyon, Col. and Ariz., The old Catholic Spanish Settlements, N. Mex. and through California. After our Captain returns she will be able to give us interesting discriptions of the magnificent scenery of the American West.

The Senior Girl Scouts are planning a number of hikes for the troop which will be taken after the regular meetings are resumed in September.

The Girl Scouts wish to thank all who were so kind in helping them at their booth during the Bazaar.

Our Rev. Chaplain, Father Duross, before leaving for New York, presented to our Director, Brother Stengel, a number of small copies of the Sunday Missally, who devotedly day Missal to be given to Girl Scouts, as a token of loyalty, who devotedly helped during the Bazaar. -Girl Scout Scribe.

Your Neighbors

Study the boys and girls around you. Each has some outstanding virtues. Try to imitate them. Perhaps each has some outstanding faults. Try to avoid them, and in charity offer a prayer that their possessors may overcome them

Be not changeable, but remain steadfast in the way of virtue; for not he who begins well, but he who endures to the end, shall be saved.

Report on Bazaar and Raffle

Below we are listing the returns from the Bazaar in detailed form. Our purpose in publishing these results is to encourage our workers in pointing out to them what booths are most successful and to be a guide for future functions of this kind.

Although the returns are not as large as in previous years, the spirit of cooperation and the tireless efforts of the workers were just as generously manifested and our heartfelt thanks go out to all who aided, no matter how little, in achieving the success of the Bazaar.

Rev. Father Rector has already sent a letter of thanks to each and every one who worked on the Bazaar and if by oversight, anyone was neglected in these against a letter of thaths to determine the such an oversight is these acknowledgments, we would appreciate it if such an oversight is brought to our attention.

The Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association

The semi-monthly meeting of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association was held on Wednesday evening, July 5th. After opening prayer by Father Maguire, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Several neighborhood problems were then discussed and acted upon

Then came the Lawn Festival to be held in the College Yard on Thompson Street on Wednesday evening, July 19th. Plans were perfected for the entertainment of the guests by games, prizes and refreshments. The usual good time was assured to all. Although the Good Old Summer Time is here. the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association takes no vacation. It is right on the job all the time for results-SOCIAL and OTHER-

During the Summer months we wish to stress the importance of keeping your interest alive in your neighborhood. It may not seem worth while to give a few minutes each day to the appearance of your particular neighborhood, but if all will do this, by so doing, they will be rendering a worth while service to themselves, to their neighbors and to their Association.

Don't forget to help keep the streets clean. The way to have clean streets is for each one to do his part to keep the streets clean.

Try to secure tenants for unoccupied homes in your neighborhood. If there are any vacant houses that need repairs, let us know about them and we may be able to interest the owners sufficiently to have them put in the proper condition for tenants. Then, too, try to take good care of the houses occupied by you and teach the children not to damage their own homes or the homes of others.

Mary of Magdalia

0, Blessed Mary Magdalen, today in heaven fair, Thou giveth hope to hearts of men whose souls grope in despair; Thou give it to get a strayed from Christ, their Friend, from Whom His Grace has

Who think no mercy is for them, in whom all hope is dead; Thy heart all human weakness knew, thy soul, sin's scarlet stain, For thou didst lure men's souls to sin through beauty and thy shame; Until a Voice didst reach thy ears, which spoke of pardon, peace, of love and mercy and begged men from sin to find release;

And Eyes so tender gazed on thee, whose Message for thee read: "Forsake thy ways, come follow Me, to sin be ever dead;" Ah! Mary, when His Gaze met thine, when thou didst hear His Voice, Repentance deep came to thy heart, whilst Christ's Heart didst rejoice; Thou bathed His Feet with sorrow's tears, and dried them with thy hair, He told thee He forgave thee much since thou great love didst bear; Sin's shackles then fell from thy heart, for past sins thou didst grieve, Thy love, thy grief, Christ's Pardon sweet, make men hope and believe;

That Mercy too there is for them within Christ's loving Heart, If, grieving sin, they seek their Christ, and from Him never part; What privilege, Mary, thou didst know, what sorrow and what joy, To share with Christ's Own Mother sad, the last look from Her Boy; Thy presence there doth give men hope, though sinners now they be, That, sanctified, they may keep watch beside His Cross with thee;

O, Mary, thou art sinners' friend, thy life doth courage give, That men, repenting of their sins, will with Christ some day live.

Feasts of the Month

OUR LADY OF THE SNOWS-AUGUST 5

In the time of Pope Liberius, there lived at Rome a certain nobleman named John and a noble lady his wife, who had no children to whom to leave their substance. Then they vowed that they would make the most holy Virgin Mother of God their heiress, and earnestly besought her in some way to make known to them upon what godly work she would that the money should be spent. The Blessed Virgin Mary graciously listened to their pravers and heart-felt earnestness, and by a miracle assured them of her will. On the 5th of August, which is that time when the heat of summer waxeth greatest in Rome, a part of the Esquiline Hill was covered by night with snow. And on this same night the Mother of God appeared in a dream to John and his wife separately, and told them that on that spot, which in the morning they should see clad with snow, they should build a Church, to be dedicated in the name of the Virgin Mary, for that this was the way in which she chose that they should make her their heiress. John went and told it to Pope Liberius, who declared that he also had been visited by a like dream. Therefore he came in a solemn procession of priests and people to the snow-clad hill, and traced upon that spot the plan of a church which was built with the money of John and his wife. It was afterwards rebuilt by Sixtus III. At the beginning it was called by divers names, sometimes the Liberian Basilica, sometimes the Church of St. Mary-at-the Manger. Howbeit, since there are in Rome many churches called after the Holy Virgin Mary, and the Church doth excel them all, both in honor, and because of the strange sign wherewith it was dedicated, it hath come to be called the Church of St. Mary, the Greater. The memory of the dedication thereof is kept every year by a Feast day that taketh name from the wonderful fall of snow which on this day took place-From the Roman Breviary.

THE ASSUMPTION-A DAY OF JOY-AUGUST 15

That is what Fr. Lonergan, S.J., calls the feast of the Assumption in his beautiful article entitled: "Our Lady's Sleeping: An Assumption Reverie." We can quote only a few paragraphs.

"Tradition says that word of the approaching demise of Our Lady had gone out to the infant Church, and that from far and near the Apostles had gathered, all save James and Thomas, to take a fond farewell of her. James had long since laid down his life for the Faith: Thomas would come only after the lifeless remains should have been laid in the ground, though it will be to satisfy his devotion that the tomb will be reopened that the grave clothes and a sheaf of purest lilies may unfold the mystery of the Assumption . . ."

"With no worldly attachments to make her passing harder, with no regrets for the past and no fear of eternity, with her every hope in heaven—well may we fancy now, amid angelic songs, the God-Man Himself unweaves those thin bands that bind His Holy Mother to earth and frees her soul from the prison of its body even before the gazing Apostles realize that all is over. At once her spirit is with God. Thither in a few hours her holy body will be carried by the angels, for though the precious remains go down to the tomb, they shall not see corruption.

"Of the glory of Mary in heaven it is impossible to form any adequate idea, yet in the image of the Apocalypse may we behold her there, the Queen in her beauty by the side of her glorified Son, clad, as the royal Psalmist saw her in prophetic vision, in a vesture of gold wrought with divers colors. Her Assumption then becomes for us a day of joy and exultation and we are ready to hearken to the invitation of Holy Church, expressed in the Introit for the Mass of the feast: 'Let us all rejoice in the Lord, celebrating a festival day in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary, for whose Assumption the angels rejoice and give praise to the Son of God.'"

BLESSED MICHAEL CARVALHO, S.J., MARTYR—AUGUST 25

Father Michael Carvalho, S.J., was burned alive at Omura, in Japan, on August 25, in the year 1624, with one Dominican and several Franciscan friars for companions. They went to their place of torture carrying the stakes to which they were to be bound, and singing hymns of thanksgiving. Fearing lest ambassadors from Spain should procure his deliverance, Father Michael wrote, "I should feel the greatest sorrow if Our Lord, on account of my sins, should withdraw me from the path of mercy and grace now open before me . . . Nothing in this life appears to me more desirable, more delightful, and more consoling than to give my life for so merciful a Savior."

The Catholic Catechism

to learning, in science, in art, in literature and in philosophy.

bring to the grasp of the inquirer the conclusions of authorities in the world of scholarship

But have you ever called to mind that every child in our Catholic schools presented with a convenient summary of knowledge and conclusions on Catholic schools of the greatest moment to every human being? This book is the Catechism. It is one of the most useful compendiums of wisdom and true enlightenment. For it informs the mind on eternal things, it contains statements and declarations about truths which never pass away, it propounds doctrines as lasting as the adamantine hills.

The Catholic child does not merely con and "learn by heart" the answers in the Catechism. The book is thoroughly explained. Its terms and expressions are defined. This precious book, if well thumbed and studied during school days, will prove a precious help and a strong support in after life. It will be a guide when doubts arise, when temptation beats upon the young heart, when the whispers of evil companions strive to turn the youth into the paths leading down to the shadows of death.

But what is most wenderful about this book is the solidity of its teaching, the fact that its conclusions are accepted by the millions, and that it is the result of the keenest speculations on the things of God, on Faith, on Religion, on the higher and eternal life, on virtue and the necessity of clean and upright living. The Catechism is published in many languages, it is constructed on many plans and it may develop its lessons according to various principles. But ever and always it is the same grand universal and unshakable teaching taught by the Church, One, Holy, Catholic and Apostolic. What an inspiring thought this is, in an age so changing and changeable as ours, when ethical theories are constructed today to be rejected tomorrow, when so-called teachers of the higher life spend their efforts in striking at the law of God, and in "blasting at the rock of ages!"

The Catechism is not only a book of supreme knowledge for young and old, for rich and poor, for saint and sinner. It is a book of power. It contains the strongest and most convincing appeal for righteousness. It presents this proof not in the wild shrieking fashion of the half-crazed gospeler, but in the calm light of reason, supported by the utterances of Divine Wisdom.

"Literature of power," says De Quincey, "never dies." The Catechism, as a book of Christian doctrine, as a compendium of Christian faith and morality, and as a book of power, will never become out of date. It will never be replaced by a newer, better and simpler book of inspiration and spiritual uplift. As long as the world lasts, the sad old fashion of sin and sorrow, of unbelief and slimy temptation will be with us, and so long, too, will the Catechism bear a needed message of strength and hope to the wanderer through life's pilgrimage.

Guiding Principles in Rearing Children

Fathers and mothers must realize, first of all, that their office of parenthood means an exalted dignity, and, as well, a tremendous responsibility. They have been called to be co-creators with Almighty God, not in a temporary but a lifelong contract. The perfect sacramental union of Christians in marriage can be broken only by death.

Parents have no duty so important as that of caring for the spiritual, intellectual and physical welfare of their children. The child's real purpose of life and his final destiny must be the ever-present concern of right-minded parents. If fathers and mothers would but span the whole lives of their children and view things in their true proportion, they would realize that all their attention and anxiety, all the years spent in the training of their children, have but one object—to equip them as genuine men and women for this life, and to fit them for life eternal. No social obligations, no amassing of wealth for the future of their children, can compare in importance with this. No duties in civic or club life can justify parents in neglecting the supreme duty of giving to their children that time and personal attention necessary for the proper molding of their characters. We are not counseling wives and mothers to take no part in civic or this life. On the contrary, we wish to encourage interest in these; but this interest must not interfere with the much more important duty parents have of forming the characters of their children.

Today parents are transferring too many of their obligations to the school. They are willing to assume that teachers and priests can take over all these duties. They are willing to consider others better qualified than themselves to devolop the characters of their children. This is not true. The greatest character builders in the world are parents. The influence exercised by parents over their children is limitless, whether that influence be exerted for good or for evil. Good parents naturally try to build up good characters in their children; only God can measure the havoc wrought in the lives of children by bad parents, or even by those who are weak and purposeless. Only God can measure the guilt of parents who neglect their children, either by giving them over to the care of others, or by thinking themselves so occupied in any way whatsoever that they can give them no personal attention.

Parents today, as a rule, recognize their duties, in the departments of food, sleep and clothing. They erroneously think, however, that the school has taken over all responsibility about study. They say also that they cannot control the recreational element of their children's lives. As for discipline, it seems old-fashioned to talk about discipline? By discipline we do not mean physical punishment. But it certainly is the duty of parents to teach their children from their earliest years, self-restraint, self-government, self-sacrifice, consideration for others and respect for authority. The Christian discipline of the home should not be harsh, but it should be firm and unrelaxing, it should be a daily drill.—Exchange.

Religious State of Life

Parents have no right to object to their children entering the religious state of life; on the contrary, it is their duty to encourage their children to aspire to and enter that state.

Our Lord Jesus says: "The harvest indeed is great, but the laborers are few. Pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest, that He send forth laborers into His harvest." Would it not be mockery for parents, pretending to obey this precept, to pray thus: "O Lord, send laborers into Thy harvest, but I object to Your sending one of my children." What answer will parents who object to their children entering the religious state be able to give to Our Lord on the Day of Judgment, when He asks: "Who had the better right to the services of your child, I, who created him that he might know, love and serve God, I, who died on the cross to redeem him, or you to whom he was entrusted for a time that you might care for him in his infancy and teach him to know, love and serve God? Why, then, did you object when I called him to My service?"

It is a sad thing to think of parents objecting to their children entering the religious state of life.

Surely this is one of the ways in which are verified the words of Jesus. "A man's enemies shall be they of his own household."

A boy or girl who wants to enter the religious life should therefore consider and act upon the admonition of the Holy Ghost: "Hearken, O daughter, and see, and incline thine ear; and forget thy people and thy father's house," and the words of Our Lord saying: "He that loveth father or mother more than Me, is not worthy of Me."

It is plainly the duty of those who have a vocation to the religious state of life to follow the call of grace promptly, lest delay prove fatal to their good resolution and cause them to lose the grace. "Today, if you shall hear His voice, harden not your hearts." Many a vocation has been lost through unwise delay, followed not unfrequently by life-long disappointment and sorrow.

Vocations

At the close of the school term many of our boys and girls of the grammar grades, as well as the students of our high schools and colleges, are seriously considering the very interesting and important question of the state of life which they are likely to embrace.

Spiritual writers tell us that it is highly important for all to know the will of God in regard to their future state in life, in order to assure their not to follow the path which God has marked out for him; but in doing so, he will miss not only the special graces which Our Lord had intended, but also the many incidental helps that would have made the work of salvation more easy and secure.

Spiritual Theologians usually mention three distinct signs of a true vocation to the priestly, or the religious life, viz., a good intention; and no serious impediments or hindrance to admission, such as feeble health; and lastly, acceptance by lawful superiors.

It is with vocations as with plants. In order that the germ of a plant such as good soil, the light and heat of the sun, and moisture. So with a vocation to the higher life; it must be taken care of; it must be fostered and developed; and it must live in an atmosphere of holiness, otherwise it is liable to be lost.

Should parents discover a budding desire in their son or daughter to dedicate himself or herself to the service of God, they must not stand in the way; it is God that calls. They should, therefore, rather help than hinder the execution of the divine plan. They must not fail in the day of sacrifice, but generously and freely offer their child either on the altar of God in the holy priesthood, or on the altar of Christian education in one or another of the several teaching Brotherhoods or Sisterhoods.

Happy the fathers and mothers who have thus given a son or a daughter, or both, to God's special service. Pray for a great increase of vocations to the priesthood and the religious life, in order that the harvest may find many laborers, and that the precious souls of children, so exposed to dangers, may all be gathered safe at last into the household of heaven.—Exchange.

Earthly sorrows are the roots of heavenly joys. A cross is a crown beyond. Suffering is dearer to the saints than happiness; for the similitude of Christ has passed upon them.—Father Faber.

"Be as cheerful as you can in well-doing, for there is a certain grace in good deeds when they are done cheerfully."—St. Francis de Sales.

The Tortoise That Would Fly

A tortoise, first noted by La Fontaine, having walked about over familiar ground for many years, oft looked with longing at the wild ducks flying so wonderfully in the high heavens above him. How fine it must be to rise above the monotonous land surface that he frequented and get new points of view—see the countryside under the enchantment that distance lends, and fly, perhaps, to those far southern lands of which he had heard! He talked so much about his desire to rise into the sky that he wearied all with what they called his "foolish chatter"! "Who," they said, "can rise without wings?"

But one day some drakes that were flying south stopped to enjoy the cool waters of the lake where the tortoise lived. He won their good-will by his admiration of their flying-skill, and they agreed to take him to Egypt with them. Two of them would fly side by side, each carrying one end of a slender but strong twing in his bill, and the tortoise must hold on by his strong jaws to the middle portion of the twig. It was a great scheme, and all the beasts and birds came to see them great twing.

See them start off.

What a thrill the tortoise felt to rise, thus, above all his neighbors! His What a thrill the tortoise felt to rise, thus, above all his neighbors! His was a great that it soon must find expression. heart overflowed with joy—with joy so great that it soon must find expression. So when he saw some villagers below him that seemed unware of his thrilling flight, he called out to them. They looked up in time to see a falling tortoise in swift descent to the rocks below him, while two drakes were flying high on their way to Egypt.

Some will say the tortoise aimed too high, that he should have been contented his pioneer soul, his desire for a higher point of view, for the broadening of his mind by travel. They would say his handicaps were too great. They would say he should have known better!

Others will say he was justified of his ambition. They will say he had the Others will say he was justified the say he had the thrill of a lifetime in those few minutes; his name would go down in tortoise history as one who was first of his kind to soar.

But many will say, "Why didn't he keep his mouth shut?" For the sake of a few words he lost his chance to get to Egypt where he might swim in the muddy waters of the Nile River, and climb upon its banks to investigate at first hand, the ruins of a civilization in which his ancestors flourished some four thousand years ago (for, are their names not written in the Book of Leviticus in the days when the Lord spake unto Moses?).

Yes, it is true, our tortoise had taken a wonderful chance, had seen a marvelous coming-true of his dreams, but missed the consummation of his pioneering because in one important particular he lacked self-discipline. As he had dreamed he had talked, talked, and talked. Every thought and yearning had been given frequent expression—there had been no power of restraint, no habit of holding his tongue. He must speak, and he did, and that is why his story ends so abruptly.

Now, is there not a lesson for many of us in this story of one who could not attain the desire of his heart because he could not get along without talking to those who were not interested in his dreaming, his aspirations, his achievement? Yes, we too can learn, by self-restraint in speech, to save ourselves from a foolish expenditure of energy, and from a weakening of our true purpose through needless chatter.

But may we not go further and say that the fault of faults of friend Tortoise was not one of these we have mentioned. His faults, which is so often ours, was to let his emotions take first place and crowd out his thinking. He knew perfectly well that the success of his plan, so far as he could control it, lay in holding on to that twig He did not suffer fear, doubt, and worry, as some might have done, but he did let excitement and a sense of triumph flood his being, when the full attention of his mind was needed to the carrying out of his plan to the very end.

Everyone remembers an occasion when he has let himself be so ruled by the emotion of worry, so disturbed that he couldn't think of a way out of his difficulty, could only worry himself sick, thereby increasing his troubles.

Everyone remembers this time and that, when he needed to make a good impression, to say the right words in the right way, and he couldn't do it because he let the emotion of fear get first place, and the power to think and to act was paralyzed

Everyone had times when he felt so puffed up with pride in a certain accomplishment that he forgot to watch his step, physically or spiritually, and fell from his high standing. his high standing. Have we, therefore, learned as we should have done, from such experience that such experience that our emotions and desires, so powerful and effective when they get back of any desired and desired, so powerful and effective what they get back of our clear thinking to push us on to the accomplishment of what we have carefully plant in the way we have carefully planned, these same emotions, when they get in the way of the thinking become of the thinking, become our most dangerous foes, keeping us from our best good—our power to make the same emotions, when they get in the good our power to make the same emotions, when they get in the good best good our power to make the same emotions, when they get in the good best good our power to make the good of the same emotions, when they get in the good our power to make the good of the same emotions, when they get in the good our power to make the good our power to make the good of the same emotions. good—our power to make use of directed, focused thinking to control our course and to lead us to the control our directed, focused thinking to control our course and to lead us to the consummation of our heart's desire?

We might even press the point further and let the story remind us of the philosophic dictum. old philosophic dictum, "Know Thyself!" Don't enter upon any worth-while business demanding self and the story remind us business demanding self and the story remind us the business demanding self and the story remind us the business demanding self and the story remind us the business demanding self and the story remind us the business demanding self and the story remind us the story remind us the business demanding self and the story remind us the story remind us the business demanding self and the story remind us the story remaind us the business demanding self-control, when there has been no daily practice in the art of self-discipline. Holitan art of self-discipline. Habits and skills do not come overnight. Daily practice in habits is essential to successful to successf in habits is essential to success.

35 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

has perfected us in the art of directing funerals, both large and small. This is evidenced by the fact we have conducted the funerals of many prominent persons and that a considerable number of our ever increasing clientele consists of those who have been recommended to us by the people we have previously served.

The cost of our service is always a matter that is decided by our clients.

We are associated with representative Mortuaries throughout the world, enabling us to serve you regardless of distances.

fore our members by outdoor festivals. These little "GET TOGETHERS" fore our members by outdoor festivals. These little "GET TOGETHERS" have been quite successful, notwithstanding the very warm weather, and we feel sure that all who attended them were well repaid. All we can say is a great big "THANK YOU" to all who supported us in this movement for the good of our Association. The success attending these affairs has been due to their generous support. We are sorry that many more who could have attended these "Lawn Festivals" failed to do so, and we hope that they will be present at our next social event one hundred percent.

It is our sincere wish that we will have many new members and many new workers at our September meeting. We are always glad to welcome new members and to enlist the services of new workers.

Our Association has made a real effort to be helpful to all, and we know by attending the meetings, our members will receive the knowledge of other members and their respective neighborhoods. So, renew your interest in our Association on the first Wednesday of September, and if you cannot attend all the meetings, come as often as you can and encourage others

We should like to see every tenant and owner in the neighborhoods covered by our Association take a personal interest in the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Association and help along the good work we are trying to do.

Have you any suggestions? We are glad to receive suggestions at any time and will be glad to give them our prompt consideration.

Ungrateful Man

Ten lepers begged Christ make them clean, as to them He drew near, They begged Him lift the scourge from them which made men shrink in fear; And Jesus, with His Heart of Love, didst pity for them know, and bade them go unto the Priests their bodies sick to show; And as they went, He cured the ten, and once more made them, fair; He healed them of their leprosy in answer to their prayer; Just one of them, when he beheld the miracle Christ's Heart br Returned to Him in gratitude—his thanks to Christ's Heart brought;

"Were there not ten made clean?" Christ asked, "Where are the other nine?"
Have none the control of Mine?" Have none but thee returned to give thanks for this gift of Mine?"
How like the nine ungrateful ones, Christ still His children finds,
When we forget to thank Him for His gifts to us so kind;
We go to Him when trouble comes, we seek Him in distress,
We beg Him when trouble comes, we seek Him in distress, We beg Him, when our hearts are sad, to pity and to bless; When we would know some favor great, we go then to the Friend Who payons and know some favor great, we go then to the end: Who never fails us but remains Our Father to the end;

Ah! then we plead with Him to grant these blessings which we seek, And promise Him our hearts and tongues our grateful love shall speak; But When He grants our wish, our prayer, then, like the lepers healed, We come not grants our wish, our prayer, tree we feel; We come not back to let Him know deep gratitude we feel; When we ungrateful prove there comes those words from Lips Divine He spoke of the spoke of He spoke of yore: "Were ten not cleansed—where are the other nine?"

Oh, thank Gyore: "Were ten not cleansed—where are the sends, Oh, thank God for His wondrous Love, for all the gifts He sends, and be not like the lepers cured who failed to thank their Friend. WILLIAM F. SHERIDAN.

Mary's Feasts in September

THE NATIVITY—SEPTEMBER 8

If the birth of the Baptist, who was but our Lord's forerunner, was the signal for widespread rejoicing, how much greater joy must have been occasioned by the birth of her who was destined one day to be His Mother? And if the neighbors, marveling at the extraordinary circumstances that accompanied the former event, inquired anxiously of each other, "What a one, think you, shall this child be?" how much keener must have been the general interest in the future of a yet more remarkable child, whose destinies were much more closely bound up with the welfare of the human

Mary came forth from the creative hand all resplendent with heavenly loveliness and today the world is favored with a first glimpse of her beauty. as dimly revealed in the light that beams from her eyes and the radiance that illumines her tiny face. Her irresistible upward flight will henceforth be in full view of angels and of men and who shall forecast the height of sanctity to which she will attain ere her course is completely run and God severs the thread of life which is now just beginning to unfold?

The learned Suarez once made a calculation, by which he endeavored to gain some idea of the spiritual treasure accumlated by Mary, through the most exact correspondence with every grace, vouchsafed to her throughout a lifetime of more than three score years. It was an almost fabulous sum and yet Mary's initial grace, having been so stupendously great, would have forced his calculations much higher, had it been possible for him to take this, instead of unity, as his basis.

"The Church on earth was for a long time ignorant of the day that gave birth to the most Blessed Virgin. A pious solitary heard every year, on the eve of September 9, angelic harmonies descending from heaven. He besought the Lord to reveal to him the meaning of this marvel. Thereupon an angel appeared to him and said, 'The Immaculate Virgin, who is Mother of God, was born on this very night. Man knows it not, but angels chant her Nativity in Heaven'." Baronius has since proved that Mary was born on a Saturday, at daybreak, September 8, in the year 734 of the Roman Era.

THE HOLY NAME OF MARY—SEPTEMBER 12th

As God left it to Adam to give a name to her whom He had fashioned to be his helpmate, so we may be sure that the Holy Spirit reserved to Himself the privilege of partial to give a name to her whom He nau lastice to be his helpmate, so we may be sure that the Holy Spirit reserved to Himself the privilege of naming her, whom He had chosen from all eternity as His most beloved spouse. as His most beloved spouse. And we thence infer that the holy name of Mary admirably expresses the holy of hears it. Mary admirably expresses the greatness of the blessed one who bears it. Here below her life was a vest season to be be below of the Here below her life was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge of the passion of her son and the saturation of sorrow, her foreknowledge at the passion of her son and the saturation of sorrow, here foreknowledge at the passion of her son and the saturation of sorrow, here foreknowledge at the passion of her son and the saturation of sorrow is the saturation of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of the passion of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of the passion of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of her son and the saturation of the passion of her son and the saturation of the satur passion of her Son and the actual sight of His sufferings and death being a two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow, her foreknowledge two-edged sword that was a vast ocean of sorrow that was a vast ocean of two-edged sword that was a vast ocean o two-edged sword that was ever imbedded in her soul. And so she is fittingly called Mary, for Mary in Hobbs. called Mary, for Mary in Hebrew means "myrrh" or "bitterness of the sea."

But "Mary" has another, a loftier and more glorious meaning, that of "Mistress" or "Lady of the Sea." And surely, the mother of our Sovereign to her by Christians the world over. But so long as we are journeying on waves of the search of the search of the search of the waves of the search of the toward our heavenly home and compelled to be ceaselessly buffeting the waves of temptation and adversity, Mary is not merely "Our Lady," but mother of our Savior, is called Mary, as the sister of Moses, who was a type of the passage of the Red Sea, so this passage heaven he more blessed right to the Mother was a so this passage before the the passage of the Red Sea, so this name belongs by a more blessed right to the Mother of Jesus. Who constructed the state of the state to the Mother of Jesus, who conducts her children safely through stormy sea of this world even to the haven of life everlasting.

There is yet a third meaning which interpreters assign to this holy name. It is that of "enlightener" and Mary does indeed enlighten all, who turn to her in the hour of spiritual darkness, and distribute liberally who turn those actual graces whose function is at once to illustrate the to them those to enkindle the sluggish will with a heavenly flame. For Mary is the Mother of Him who is, as He Himself declares, the Light of the World.

THE SEVEN DOLORS—SEPTEMBER 15

No mention is made of Mary in the history of the passion, except as standing at the foot of the cross—standing as if for the performance of a duty. It is no mere natural sympathy that brings her there. She stood by the cross of Jesus. We know then how she must have demeaned herself in the other stages of the Passion, since even here she is so firm and courageous. What fidelity and what courage.

BL. ANTHONY IXIDA, S.J.—SEPTEMBER 3

Was a native Japanese. He was well versed in the teaching of the Bonzes. By means of this knowledge and his splendid intellectual powers, he was able to meet and refute their most learned philosophers and won many to the Church of Christ. During his apostolate of forty-five years, he traversed almost all of the provinces of his native country, with great fruit in the salvation of souls. Finally captured, he declared himself a Christian and a priest and, when his captors sought to persuade him to apostalize, he challenged them to try with all their torments his Christian fortitude. He was tortured in various ways, suspended in such a manner that all his joints were dislocated, while boiling water was poured on every part of his body. Six times daily during the course of a month, the tortures part of his body. Six times days before eight months in prison at Nagasaki and was finally burned to death by a slow fire.

BLESSED JAMES WILLIAM, ALEXANDER AND COMPANIONS. MARTYRS OF PARIS-SEPTEMBER 4

These recently beatified Martyrs of France were victims of the terrible Social and political upheaval at the close of the eighteenth century, known as the French Revolution. The fury of the leaders of the Revolution was not only directed against the King and the Nobility, but with even greater hatred against the Church and her ministers. These outbursts of fanaticism occurred at various times but with particular ferocity in September, 1792. In that month, three holy Bishops, many priests both secular and religious and a number of the faithful, refusing with unshaken constancy to take an iniquitious oath, were cruelly put to death in hatred of the Faith. All these martyrs to the number of one hundred and ninety-one have been lately added to the list of the Beatified by the Soverign Pontiff Pius XI.

Among these holy victims the Society of Jesus, in the Words of the newly approved Office in the Breviary, may justly lay claim to three and twenty priests inasmuch as they had been long enrolled in the Society and at its dispersion were with heavy hearts torn from its membership. Employed in various duties of the ministry they yet remained imbued with the Spirit of St. Ignatius so much so that they were frequently assailed because they continued to live as men who bore the stamp of their former membership in the Society. Fourteen of them received the palm of martyrdom on the second day of September within the walls of a Carmelite Convent where they had taken refuge. Seven more fell victims a day later in the Seminary of St. Firminus, another on the fourth of the month in the prison of "La Force" and still another merited to receive his crown near the Abbey of St. Germain, on September 5.

In this glorious band of Ignatius, three priests were outstanding figures among their confreres—James Julius Bonnaud, a native of the Archdiocese of St. Dominia and Viviana and of St. Dominic and Vicar General of the Archdiocese of Lyons, who never wavered in his opposition to the unjust laws and guided by word and example the clergy and the unjust laws and guided by mord and example the clergy committed to his charge; William Anthony Defaud, Archpriest in the diocese of Perigeaux and Sarlat, who fearlessly defended the rights of the Church in the was a the rights of the Church in the legislative assembly of which he was a Deputy and Alexander Land the legislative assembly of which he was a Deputy and Alexander Lanfant of Lyons, distinguished for his eloquence, who was preacher at the Court and also it is said the King's Confessor. All the others without exception, men noted for the apostolic zeal and adorned with another exception, men noted for the apostolic zeal and adorned with every priestly virtue, girded themselves for the conflict and won the victory with Christ.

RL MARK CRISMO, STEPHEN PONGRACZ AND MELCHIOR GRADECZ, S.J. SEPTEMBER 7

Suffered death at the hands of Hungarian heretics in the early part of the seventeenth century. The first was a Canon of the church of Strigonia, the others were priests of the Society of Jesus. All three were united in the work of zealously defending the faith against the attacks of heresy. Captured at length, they were cast into prison. At midnight, between the sixth and seventh of September, they were dragged from their cells to die. After being severely beaten, they were suspended from beams and their torturers burned their sides with torches, until ribs were laid bare. They were then cut down and Mark and Melchoir were beheaded, while Stephen was struck on the head with a saber and left for dead. He was found, still breathing, by the Catholics, but died in a few hours. The three holy martyrs were beatified in 1905 by Pope Pius X.

ST. PETER CLAVER, S.J.—SEPTEMBER 9

On the Feast of the Holy Name of Jesus, 1888, the year of the Sacerdotal Jubilee of Pope Leo XIII, that Pontiff canonized the three Jesuit saints, John Berchmans, Alphonsus Rodriguez, and Peter Claver.

St. Peter was born in Catalonia, in Spain. While still a young religious he was sent to the college where St. Alphonsus Rodriguez was porter. Their beauty of the college where St. Alphonsus Rodriguez was porter. Their beauty of the college where St. Alphonsus Rodriguez was porter. Porter. Their hearts were drawn together immediately. God revealed the future sanctity of this young professor to the venerable Brother who encouraged him in every way to co-operate with the extraordinary graces he received. In 1620 Claver was sent to Cartagena, in what are now the States of Columbia. This was a great port for the reception of slaves. To these the months of the rest of his life. these, the most miserable, of the miserable, he devoted the rest of his life. He lived only for them; in the holds of ships, on the plantations, he hunted them up, the physician of their bodies and their souls. Once a ship came which, in addition to the usual horrors, was infected with smallpox. Claver plunged into it and remained there for hours. A favorite resort of his was the hospital for lepers, a race of outcasts that has always had a great attraction for Catholic charity. Let us not be mistaken; the saints were not saints by nature; they became saints by mortifying themselves, their neighbors as themflesh and their spirit. So that they grew to love their neighbors as them-selves in a server of their spirit. selves, indeed their neighbor's soul more than their own flesh.

OUR NORTH AMERICAN MARTYRS-SEPTEMBER 26

June 21, 1925, will ever be a memorable day in the history of the Church of North America. On that morning in St. Peter's Church at Rome the Papal Decree was solemnly read, proclaiming as Martyrs for the Faith the six Jesuit Fathers and their two companions, who suffered and died in the United States and Canada.

Three of the newly beatified won the martyr's crown in New York State, Isaac Jogues, Rene Goupil, and John de Lalande; the others in Canada, John de Brebeuf, Anthony Daniel, Gabriel Lalement, Charles Garnier and Noel Chabannel.

Blessed Isaac Jogues and his two companions, Blessed Rene Goupil and Blessed John de Lalande, were slain at Auriesville, N. Y., where for the last forty years Catholics have been cherishing their memory at the shrine of Our Lady of Martyrs. It is hoped that soon a worthy church will rise as a memorial to the Martyrs on the site of the Indian village, the scene of their glorious triumph.

Blessed Isaac Jogues was born in 1607. He came to the Jesuit Missions in 1636 and for six years labored among the Hurons. On his way back from Quebec, whither he had been sent to obtain supplies in 1642, he was taken prisoner by the Iroquois and cruelly tortured in the Mohawk village of Ossernenon. A sharer in the captivity and torture was his faithful associate, Blessed Rene Goupil. The latter was killed on September 29, whilst Father Jogues was retained as a captive for over a year. We are familiar from childhood with his pious practice of carving the name of "Jesus" and the figure of a cross on the trees of the forest. The Dutch settlers at Albany helped him to escape to France, but he returned to Canada, went on an embassy to arrange peace with the Mohawks and was on his way back to Auriesville for the third time, when he was seized by the savages and after excruciating tortures put to death on October 18, 1646. The following day his companion, Blessed John de Lalande, met the same fate. They were slain because the Indians hated the God of the Christians. The feast of the Martyrs comes on the twenty-sixth of September.

Content and Rich

I dwell in Grace's court, Enriched with virtue's rights; Faith guides my wit, love leads my will, Hope all my mind delights.

My conscience is my crown, Contented thoughts my rest; My heart is happy in itself, My bliss is in my breast.

My wishes are but few, All easy to fulfil; I make the limits of my power The bounds unto my will.

I feel no care of coin, Well-doing is my wealth, My mind to me an empire is, While grace affordeth health.

The family, not the individual, is the unit of human society, and family life takes its rise from the union of husband and wife in the sacred bond of matrimony. The sanctity of marriage and of marital relations thereof marining. tion from within and protect it from ruinous influences from without. The sacredness of home is not an empty phrase but a living proof that the family was established by God and persists with God's benediction in carrying out His divine purpose in regard to mankind.

The demands of industry, the exigencies of social intercourse, and the encroachments of pleasure may subject the family tie to a strain more or less severe as civilization advances and life becomes more complex. But they will never destroy entirely the religious foundation of the family nor the spiritual forces that guard the integrity of the home. There is need of greater vigilance today in protecting the home from pernicious influences from within and from without, but there is no need to be alarmed over the threatened disintegration of the home, as long as Christian principles and Christian practices are allowed to predominate over the false theories and pernicious practices of the times. The family's strongest defense is in the keeping of those who make it, in their mutual fidelity and careful observance of their duties, and in their constant belief and practice of religion in the

An Abuse

Catholics are invariably silent and respectful in church. They have good reason to be. They are in the Presence of God, the dwelling-place of the Most High, the House of Prayer. Our people realize this and so their Posture is reverent, their looks guarded, their minds fixed upon things above. There with members of above. They come to church to converse with God, not with members of the congregation.

This is the rule. There should be no exceptions. But we have noticed one. It is on the occasion of a marriage. That is the only time our Catholic people on the occasion of a marriage. That is the only time our Catholic people on the occasion of a marriage. lic people seem to forget that the Church is not a theatre. The entrance of the bridge the straining of eyes, of the bride is the signal for the stretching of necks, the straining of eyes, the turning of the signal for the stretching conversation. The cerethe turning of backs to the altar, the whispered conversation. The ceremony over, there is pushing and jostling to gain an advantageous position to witness and jostling to gain an advantageous which to witness, or it may be to join in, the abomination of rice-throwing which begins, offerthis the bride is quite an begins, of it may be to join in, the abomination of rice-throwing within important figure in the marriage ceremony (who thinks of the groom?), she is not so important as God. He does not leave His House when she enters, and while He is the respect that is due Him. Yet enters, and while He is there He demands the respect that is due Him. Yet many of these like the state of the demands are drawn thither out of mere many of those who come to church weddings are drawn thither out of mere idle curiosity. idle curiosity. They come to gape and not to pray.

the Nuptial Mass is helping to correct these abuses. There is far less ill-behavior at the morning Mass than at the afternoon "show." The explanation lies in the Catholic's natural respect for the Holy Sacrifice. If the playing or singing of sentimental ballads were eliminated, the marriage ceremony with the Nuptial Mass would be the fulfillment of the Church's ideal. A ballad has it Nuptial Mass would be the fulfillment of the Church's ideal.

Save the Children

The conditions under which we live are particularly threatening to children. Of home life there is very little now in thickly populated communities. Home is a place to eat and sleep and dress in—that's all. Then for the street, the street corner, the theatre, the automobile, the trip to the next town—anything to keep moving, to change the scene before the eyes. to be diverted, to be amused, to have quick changes of interest. The children of today are brought up in feverish, restless surroundings. The greater, then, is the responsibility of parents. Theirs is the duty to calm the restless, to allay the fever; to keep their children normal or as nearly so as possible. In the early years while they still have effective authority, that authority should always be exerted for moderation, for calmness; against excess in feverish restless amusement; for a reasonable application to study; for proper hours of sleep; for attention to religious duties; against exposure to temptations. These things cannot be accomplished by occasional explosions of anger, by hit or miss exercise of the parental authority, being sternly prohibitive or in one mood one day and unduly indulgent or in another mood the next day; by being erratic or uncertain, forbidding something which might very well be permitted and allowing something which ought never to be allowed. Method, system, sense, based on, and giving effect to, the Church's teaching on parental duties; these are the essential things if you want to save your children from the dangers of the day. Conscientious realization of parental duty is necessary; and the conscience must be kept toned up by prayer, by the sacraments and by humble attention to the Word of God.—Exchange.

Our Bounden Duty

At this time of the year the thoughts of devoted parents turn anxiously to the ever-burning school question, because they realize that the choice of the right school for their children is one of their gravest responsibilities before God.

The mind of God's Church is very clear on this point. Catholic education for Catholic children, she says; the child of God must be educated and trained as such, and not as a mere thing of this world. Those who find fault with this heaven-inspired position of the Church, only show their own gross ignorance of our relations toward our Almighty Creator and Merciful Father, which are summed up in the word Religion. This is no mere matter of convenience to be used or set aside at our pleasure, nor is it like a coat of varnish that remains only on the surface; but it must permeate our whole being and become part of our very selves, inspiring, enlightening, directing and safe-guarding us in all the details of life. How can something so vital be properly instilled except by educating the child day by day under its saving influence? It would be folly to expect to impart a knowledge of arithmetic or reading or spelling by a brief weekly lesson. Only too well we know that it takes earnest systematic work day after day. Our Religion is far more vital to the child of God than any mere secular knowledge, and must therefore be given corresponding importance in education.

True to their duty as Shepherds of the Flock of Christ, the American Bishops assembled in the Third Council of Baltimore, insisted on this important matter in unmistakable terms. Here are their words:

"We order and decree that all Catholic parents must send their children by, either at home or in some other Catholic school, for the Christian education of their children. If, for one reason or another, permission is given to any children to attend other schools, the parents of such children must provide against all possible danger to their morals and faith; and the reasons for sending them to those schools must be satisfactory."

This is your duty. Our parishes are so well provided with schools that suitable arrangements can be made by any parents that really wish to do their duty. May God inspire them for their children's sake!

What Is the Canon of the Mass?

The Canon is that part of the Mass which begins immediately after the Sanctus and ends with the Communion of the celebrant. It is so named from a Greek word meaning "rule" or "fixed method," because it is almost exactly the same in all Masses.

The Power of Sorrow

God has given you the power of sorrowing. Why and to what end? For no other end but that you may use it to wash away your sins. Let an example show how true this is. Medicines were made for those diseases only that they can cure, and are useful for those only. For instance: if a medicine has been tried for many diseases and has failed to cure any of them, but when applied in the case of one disease has cured it at once, we at once conclude that that medicine was made for that disease and for that disease alone. Now, sorrow is a medicine; apply it, then, in the case of all the miseries of this life, see which one it heals, and learn from that for what it was made, and why the power of sorrowing was implanted in our hearts by God. You have lost your property and are reduced to beggary—and sorrow, does it give you back your riches? No; it was not then made for the loss of riches. You are annoyed and insulted and injured by rearrant the addition? by your neighbor—and sorrow—now, what do you gain by the addition? Does it lessen the annoyance, recall the insult, or compensate for the injury? No; it was not then made for insults, or annoyances or injuries. Again, you have lost a state made for insults, or annoyances or injuries. Do these recall have lost a dear wife or child. You grieve, lament, sorrow. Do these recall Your wife on child. You grieve, lament, sorrow is natural, Your wife or child to life again? No; such heart-breaking sorrow is natural, but it heals rather than the state of the bring back the dead to but it heals nothing here. It was not then made to bring back the dead to life. You sorrow Does this help life. You are on a sick-bed; you lose patience, you sorrow. Does this help you? Not a patience of the made to bring sach the patience of the p you? Not a whit. It only increases your sickness. It was not then made for sickness. But you have sinned. Now you sorrow from the depths of your heart. your heart, and at once the sin is forgiven. Ah; sorrow was then made for sin and for other miseries for sin, and at once the sin is forgiven. All, sollow and for sin alone. For it was used as a medicine for other miseries and failed to and failed to cure them. Applied to sin, it cures it at once. God gave us sorrow then to cure them. Applied to sin, it cures it at once. God gave us sorrow then to cure them. Sorrow then to cure sin. The Savior told us: "Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be shall be savior told us: "Blessed are they shall be sh for they shall be comforted."

Like mother's tender singing That banished childhood's tears. Sweet echoes from the golden shore Sound in my heart forevermore, The Music of the Spheres.

Unlettered in theology And isms, this, the other, Undoubted is God's Word by me-I had a singing mother: Who came through tribulations With heart still brave and strong; Who proved to me from day to day That help is given when we pray And faith fills life with song. Maud Frazer Jackson.

The Devil and I

I saw him in a busy street. Hurrying past on cloven feet.

I saw him in a church at Mass. Cursing what was come to pass.

I saw him following a priest Like some great and shaggy beast.

I saw him in a garden once Playing tempter to a dunce.

I saw him at a wayside shrine Casting slurs on the divine.

I saw him sitting down to eat In an absent husband's seat.

I saw him hold a maiden's hand His voice was low and overbland.

I saw him steal a widow's purse A widow crying by a hearse.

And yesterday he spoke to me I know he keeps bad company.

So I shall stay at home and pray That God will keep the fool away. Sadra Vechi.

I Am the Poor-Box

I am the Poor-Box. I stand alone in the back of the church ready to greet you, yet you coldly pass me by. You look upon me as just so much wood and metal, but my heart is the heart of throbbing humanity.

I am the sentinel that must stand guard until the end of time. I am hungry, forever hungry, while man treads the earth. The world cannot know, can never know, what I accomplish! I cover theft; I am the antidote for pride; I am humble and teach my followers all is vanity. I am greater than Faith or Hope. boaster's tongue is mute in my presence; the braggart's lips are numb.

I am the most powerful and easiest prayer in the world. I may be the answer to your prayers and sighs. I reach out into eternity to plead your cause in life and death. I keep men from decree and death. I keep the from despair. I bring a smile to the worried face; joy to the sad heart. Greed cannot exist where I am. helpdisappears. Without you I am help-has perfected us in the art of directing funerals, both large and small. This is evidenced by the fact we have conducted the funerals of many prominent persons and that a considerable number of our ever increasing clientele consists of those who have been recommended to us by the people we have previously served.

The cost of our service is always a matter that is decided by our clients.

We are associated with representative Mortuaries throughout the world, enabling us to serve you regardless of distances.

BLOCK COLLECTION

A LETTER FROM YOUR PASTOR

Dear Parishioner:

By the beginning of October, we shall again renew the Annual Visitation of the Parish and Block Collection. This is a duty to which we are obliged both by the nature of our work in caring for souls and by the direct command of our ecclesiastical superiors. May I bespeak a cordial welcome for the Fathers when they come to visit your homes?

There is hardly any need to explain the necessity of your co-operation. This visitation will give to us a clear indication of the spiritual life of our parish, will give encouragement in difficulties, strength in trials and God's blessings on you and yours.

At this time, it is also customary to make a contribution as large as consistent with one's means. A little over six months have passed since my coming to the Gesu. The wonderfully generous response to the Jubilee campaign of last year made possible a large number of necessary improvements in the Church. But closer examination has revealed to me how much more is absolutely necessary, if we are to carry on in a manner befitting the dignity of our marvelous place of worship and in keeping with the best traditions of the Gesu Parish.

I would like, were it possible, to make this visitation personally and tell you of these needs. We must have personally and tell you of these needs. We must have money for the renovation of the front of the church, for the parochial school, for the repair of our organ which, after many years' service, is in need of an absolutely complete overhauling. To add to the comfort of our parishplete overhauling. To add to the comfort of our parishplete overhauling the time they are attending the different divine services, I would like to provide rubber kneelers in divine services, I would like to provide rubber kneelers in the benches. Other needs there are, of which in the course of the coming year, I shall keep you informed through the pages of the Church Bulletin. pages of the Church Bulletin.

It is now no longer a question of applying the proceeds of our Block Collection to the reduction of the Church Debt, which is still a second but of using the revenwhich is still a considerable burden, but of using the revenues from different expensions of current expensions. ues from different sources for the meeting of current expenses. ses. Our revenues have decreased while the actual expenses of maintains of maintaining the Church have increased or at least remained static

May I ask you, therefore, to be as generous as you haven in the make even additional mained stationery. been in the past and if possible, to make even additional sacrifices in past and if possible to make even additional sacrifices in giving a still larger contribution.

That God may bless you and yours is my prayer and t of the comment that of the community for your generous assistance in the past.

Devotedly yours in Our Lord, THOMAS J. LOVE, S.J., Pastor.

"At the Name of Jesus

Every Knee Shall Bend"

The Gesu Holy Name Society held its second annual outing on Sunday, July 30, at Riverview Beach. The morning was clear but we had several short showers during the afternoon. Approximately eleven hundred people went on the trip from the Gesu, and all had a wonderful time. On arriving everyone ate lunch, then the soft ball game started between the married and single men which ended in a five-five tie.

The Boys' Shoe Race was won by Joe McClaine, of 1838 Ingersoll Street; Joe Woerham, of 918 N. 20th Street, was second, and Vincent Gallagher, of 1615 Parrish Street, was third.

The Girls' Shoe Race was won by Mary Driscoll, of 1634 Francis Street; Patricia Vesey, of 2918 N. 26th Street, was second, and Teresa Driscoll, of 1634 Francis Street, was third.

The Clothes-Line Hang Up was won by Marie Devlin, of 829 N. Stillman Street; second prize went to Anna Hughes, of 1749 Wylie Street; third prize went to Teresa Driscoll, of 1634 Francis Street.

The Girls' Balloon Blowing Contest was won by Catherine Campbell, of 522 E. Walnut Lane; second prize (Teddy Bear) was won by Teresa Driscoll, of 1634 Francis Street.

The winning team in the Boys' Wheel Barrow Race was Ed. Driscoll, of 1634 Francis Street, and Vincent Gallagher, of 1615 Parrish Street; the second team was composed of T. Holmes, of 815 N. 20th Street, and D. O'Leary, of 1811 Ingered Character. of 1811 Ingersoll Street.

The winning team in the Volstead Race was John and Eleanor Slane; the second team was Mary McDonough, of 2410 N. 19th Street, and Bill Welch of 2117 N. 19th Street, and 1813 Welch, of 2117 N. Park Avenue; the third team was Ed. A. Daly, of 1813 Thompson Street, and Lillian Slane.

The Holy Name Society desires to extend its thanks to James J. #### School of Social Sciences

The School of Social Sciences of St. Joseph's College will open its doors for Registration on the evenings of October 9, 10, and 11. This School was appeal of our late Holy Father Pius XI to go out among the masses and expound to them the principles of social justice that there might be a reconstruction of the social order according to the mind of Christ. The aim of this School is to train men and women in Catholic principles that they may be equipped to take the leadership in the economic and social fields.

Up to the present time the School has had over three thousand members and has had extraordinary success among the working people. This year there will be courses in Philosophy:-Logic, Psychology and Ethics; in the Political and Social Sciences:-American Government, American History, Commercial Law, Economics, the History of Labor, Politico-Social Economy, Political Science and Sociology; in Modern Life: -- Communism, Democracy, Industrial and Social Problems, the Encyclicals, National and International Affairs; courses in Art, Religion and Public Speaking. The Registration fee of $3.00 covers the cost of all courses selected. Classes are open to all over eighteen who wish to get the right answers.

Our Policy

The long dreaded war is now in progress. Tongues of fire have been unleashed and the world is in for another blood bath. In this hour of confusion the policy of Americans is crystal clear.

Pray for peace as our Holy Father asks. His coat of arms contains the following, "Opus Justitiæ Pax," peace is the work of Justice, and he is today leading the crusade that justice and understanding and sympathy may make men brothers again.

We should banish hatred and practise neutrality. Be not moved by the war-mongers, the profiteers, the hate propagandists or their suicidal agents. Above all things cultivate the spirit of concord and voice morning, noon and night your determination not to place this country, and your children, on the altar of sacrifice again. Fight, fight, fight but only against those who seek to plunge out the sacrifice again. seek to plunge our country into the abyss of catastrophe. Oppose every person every page. son, every paper, every movement which seek to put the United States into war, and denounce and war, and denounce every measure which would tend to violate our neutrality.

Work for peace, fight against war. Join with Our Saviour who says continually through His Church: "Peace I leave with you. My peace I give unto you. Not as the world giveth do I give unto you."

The Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association

The semi-monthly meetings of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association were resumed on Wednesday evening, September 7. in the high school building on Stiles Street. Until further notice these meetings will be held on Thursday evening, at 8.30 P. M., instead of Wednesday evening, as heretofore. It is hoped that this change in the meeting night will enable many to attend who have been unable to do so on Wednesday evening. These meetings have at times been very poorly attended and we are at a loss to understand the apathy of our tenants and owners toward this Association. We feel that a great many persons, even some of our present members, do not fully realize the advantages of this Association, and for the benefit of all, we cite below the aims of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association:

- 1. We make an effort to maintain friendly relations between tenants and owners at all times and to adjust any misunderstandings that may occur.
- 2. We strive to have properties in need of repairs restored to good condition, so that desirable tenants may be attracted to them.
- 3. If conditions detrimental to the welfare of tenants and owners exist, we try to have such conditions corrected by appealing to the proper authority.
- 4. From time to time we invite guest speakers to our meetings, who discuss very interestingly neighborhood problems.
- 5. Now and then social gatherings are introduced so that our members may become acquainted.
- 6. We try to keep informed regarding the real estate in our neighborhoods so that our members may have the advantages of special opportunities.
- 7. If money is needed to make repairs or improvements, we are in position to refer applicants to our Federal Credit Union, the officers of which are always glad and willing to interview applicants.

Membership dues $1.00 per year.

Have you made any improvements to your property recently? If you e, we shall and tell us have you made any improvements to your property recently.

"At the Hour of Our Death"

Mother of Christ, look down on us and open wide Thy Arms,
Let us a shelter find therein, away from sin and harm;
When we Thy Rosary say to Thee, that prayer Thou lovest best,
In each Hail Mary comes the cry made from our hearts oppressed;
That cry which brings to mind the time when comes our life's last breath:
"Pray for us, sinners, now and at the hour of our death";
The hour of our death! When we Thy Mother's Love shall need,
As we go forth to meet Thy Son and answer for life's deeds;

Stripped of all things that made up life—all treasures we have known—We leave behind friends, fame and wealth—Death's Journey is alone—Alone we wait for Death to come—it beckons each alone—Alone we walk the pathway dark that ends before God's Throne; Alone we stand before our God, to hear His Sacred Voice Condemn us to Eternal death or make our souls rejoice; Ah! is it wonder, Mother dear, when we think of Life's end, We beg Thee in our daily prayer be near us then as Friend;

Oh! in that hour, Mary dear, take Thy place at our side, And tell Thy Jesus that our souls are those for whom He died; Let not His Blood be shed in vain; let not those souls be lost, But reach at length the Home made ours at such a tragic cost; In joy or sorrow near us stay, of our lives be a part, Forget not, Mother, we are Thine, part of Thy Mother's Heart; And as we near the Journey's End, and feeble grows our breath, "Pray for us, sinners, now and at the hour of our death."

Rosary Month

The month of October has been especially dedicated to the devotion of the Rosary for over forty years, and what was prescribed by His Holiness, Pope Leo XIII, on the first day of September, 1883, to be observed in the October of that year, has been faithfully observed ever since, throughout the world.

It may be well at the present time to recall the following words from the first twelve communications issued on this subject during his pontificate by this pious "Pope of the Rosary."

"We exhort all Christians to give themselves to the daily recital of this pious devotion, either in public or privately in the home or family of each, and we also desire that the whole month of October in the present year be consecrated to the Queen of the Holy Rosary.

"We therefore decree and enjoin that, throughout the whole Catholic world, the Rosary of the Mother of God be celebrated by special and solemn services in the present year, and that from the first day of October next to the second day of the following November, in every parish church and, if the ecclesiastical authorities think it desirable, in every chapel dedicated to the honor of the Mother of God, there be devotedly recited at least five decades of the Rosary, together with the Litany of Loreto. It is our wish, further, that when the people are assembled for these devotions, either Mass be said, or that the Most Holy Sacrament be exposed on the Altar for adoration, and Benediction be given to the suppliant congregation."

Rosary Devotions

Every night during this month, in accordance with the prescription of Pope Leo XIII, we have the series of church services now known as "The October Devotions." They consist of the recitation of five decades of the Beads, the Litany of the Blessed Virgin and a special prayer to St. Joseph, during the Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, closing with Benediction.

We do not feel that there is any need to urge our people to honor our lady during the month of the Holy Rosary. Ever since Pope Leo XIII consecrated October to this devotion the Catholic faithful have embraced with an ardent love this new opportunity to honor our Heavenly Queen, and most abundant have been the blessings that the clients of the rosary have won for their souls from the faithful practice of reciting the beads every day in a serious and meditative manner. It is an instinct of our Catholic faith to love the rosary, and to know how to say it with reference to the fifteen mysteries, and with proper reflection, in so far as one can do so, on the some which the mysteries depict and the lessons which they impart.

Opportunities for Gaining Indulgences During the Month of the Holy Rosary

Those who assist at public devotions of the Rosary may gain an indulgence of seven years and seven times forty days each time.

A plenary indulgence may be gained once during the month by those who assist at the October devotions at least ten times, provided they have received the Sacraments, Penance and Holy Eucharist.

Those who are legitimately hindered from assisting at the public devotion during the month of the Rosary may gain an indulgence of seven years and seven lents each time they make these devotions in private. All and each of the Rosary Indulgences may be applied to the Poor Souls.

According to one of the latest concessions of the Holy Father Pius XI, a plenary Indulgence is granted to those, who at any time, recite the Rosary in a place where the Blessed Sacrament is exposed.

The Rosary has been called the layman's Breviary. As the Catholic priest daily reads of Jesus Christ, His Blessed Mother, and the Saints in the Divine Office, so the layman may recall the chief mysteries of his holy religion within the decades of the beads. Especial attention is called to this means of grace during the month of October. A fervent and zealous Catholic will find time each day to recite the Rosary and thus share in the rich indulgences with which this devotion is endowed.

A Beautiful Example

The following passage in Canon Sheehan's "Under the Cedars and the Stars" is very suggestive for the month of October:

"Passing along the corridor of my hotel on the way to my room I was accosted by a friend. After a few minutes' conversation he invited me to his room. Oysters and champagne? No. A game of nap? No. A whole family, three generations of them, were gathered into the father's bedroom. They were saying their night prayers before separating for the night. The aged grand—when she had finished, she looked around and said: 'Alice, go on!' Alice was a tiny tot of seven summers. She promptly took up the recitation, reslowly and sweetly 'gave out' the decade to the end. The grandmother looked around again and called: 'Go on, Willie!' Willie was the father, a gray—she had carried in her arms half a century ago. Willie finished, and the aged all were finished. Then the children kissed 'good night' and departed."

We wonder if the beautiful custom here pictured is still in vogue in the families of every parish. Surely it would be altogether a sad commentary on has been jostled out by the demands of the theatre, the moving picture show and other present-day amusement.

A Brief Explanation of the Recitation of the Holy Rosary

As this devotion is often misunderstood by non-Catholics it is well for As this time to refresh our memories with a short explanation of it that we may be able to give an intelligent reason "for the faith that is in us" if called upon to do so. Six large beads and fifty-three small beads are strung together on a chain; a sort of mechanical contributions or counting strung together of a charry a sold of inechanical contrivance or counting machine to keep track of the prayers said. A small crucifix is attached. First the Apostles' Creed is said, followed by one Our Father and three Hail Marys and the Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Ghost. These prayers form an introduction. Each decade of the beads is recited while meditating on some event in Our Lord's life and the mystery is announced at the beginning of the decade; a decade of course consisting of one Our Father and ten Hail Marys. The joyful Mysteries are: the Annunciation, the Visitation, the Nativity, the Presentation and the Finding of the Child Jesus in the Temple. The Sorrowful Mysteries are the Agony in the Garden, the Scourging at the Pillar, the Crowning with Thorns, the Carrying of the Cross, and the Crucifixion. The Glorious Mysteries are the Resurrection, the Ascension, the Descent of the Holy Ghost upon the Apostles, the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin into Heaven, and the Crowning of the Blessed Virgin as Queen of Heaven. In thus honoring Mary we are honoring her Son, who first honored her by choosing her as His Mother. We do not look upon her as having any Divine attributes; she is simply His Mother and as such all powerful with Him.

No right thinking or sincere Christian can object to the Apostles' Creed or the Lord's Prayer since the former is but an expression of our belief and the latter is the prayer of the Saviour Himself as recorded for us in the Bible. Through lack of information the Hail Mary sometimes offers difficulty to well-meaning non-Catholics, yet the first part of it is found in St. Luke, chapter 1, verses 28 and 42. It is made up of the salutation of the Angel Gabriel when he came to announce to Mary that she was chosen as the Mother of God and the greeting of her cousin Elizabeth when the Virgin entered her house. "Hail full of grace," said the Angel, "the Lord is with thee; blessed are thou amongst women." Her cousin repeated this last phrase of the Angel, "Blessed art thou among women," and added, "and blessed is the fruit of thy womb." The second part of this prayer is simply a supplication composed by the Church: "Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners now and at the hour of our death."

GUARDIAN ANGELS-OCTOBER 2 DEVOTION TO THE HOLY ANGELS

The observance of October as the month of the Holy Rosary has, to some extent, overshadowed that other devotion that is also especially recommended during this month—the devotion to the Holy Angels. St. Paul tells us that the angels are "all ministering spirits, sent to minister for them who shall receive the inheritance of salvation." This is a most consoling doctrine. From the moment of our creation, to each of us is assigned a guardian spirit, to tend and watch over us, to guard us against temptation, to lead and guide our steps in safety, among the snares and pitfalls laid for us by the enemies of our souls.

Do you realize how much we owe to the Holy Angels? The age in which we live is so given to material things that people are apt to accept only what they can perceive with their senses. The blessed spirits that are always near us, watching, guiding, guarding, counseling, yet all unseen, can justly complain of men's ingratitude and neglect. Our Lord tells us that the Angels of His little ones ever behold the face of His Father in Heaven, while at the same time they are busy in attendance on their earthly charges. Nor is it with the innocent little ones alone that the Angels are occupied. They are interested in sinners and Our Lord Himself declares that they rejoice over even one sinner doing penance.

Think of the great privilege that we enjoy in having an Angel Guardian. A Minister of the Most High, an Angel of the Most High, a prince of the Court of Heaven as a guardian, a personal friend and protector! To earthsprung, sinful nature it is not easy to realize that such a superior being should have been divinely appointed and commissioned by God to watch over you and me night and day and to keep us in all our ways. But though the truth is difficult of conception, it is none the less an actual reality. We have the warrant of the Holy Scriptures for it, backed by the constant belief and universal teaching of the Church. "He hath given His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways" (Ps. XC, 11). We learned from the Old Testament that Angels saved Lot; that they preserved Daniel in the lion's den from starvation and death; that they protected the three youths in the fiery turness; that they protected the three youths in the fiery turness; that they in the fiery furnace; that they assisted Judas Maccabeus in battle; that they accompanied Tobics to a they assisted Judas Maccabeus in battle; that they accompanied Tobics to a they assisted Judas Maccabeus in battle; that they accompanied Tobias to a distant city and shielded him from many dangers; that they restored sight that they restored sight the same shielded him from many dangers. that they restored sight to old Tobias and delivered the apostle Peter out

We learn something of the duties of our guardian angels from the little indulgenced prayer which Catholics know so well.

> "Angel of God, my guardian dear, To whom His love commits me here; Ever this day be at my side, To light, to guard, to rule and guide."

The prayer names four offices that we ask our guardians to fill; to help minds to differentiate between that our minds to differentiate between good and evil; to protect us from that evil; to govern the circumstances of and evil; to protect us from every evil; to govern the circumstances of our lives; and to watch over our every step until we stand on the threshold our lives; and to watch over task they step until we stand on the threshold of heaven. To perform this task they must be at our side every minute of the must be at our side every minute of the day and as long as we live.

A true Christian may derive real consolation from remembering from to time this simple doctrine all consolation from remembering who time to time this simple doctrine of the Guardian Angel. The man who fails to consult his spiritual manifest the Guardian Angel. fails to consult his spiritual monitor when in difficulty is merely casting aside the counsel of a prudent and trusty friend.

Let us then, not only during the month of October, but every day of our lives ask their help, frequently invoke their protection and thank them for lives ask than them for their unwearying labors for our salvation. The very thought that we have at our side a heavenly witness to our every action, one who will grieve and blush for shame at our transgressions, will give us strength to resist the suggestions of the evil one. Devotion to the Guardian Angel will then become for us the sweet consolation that it was to Cardinal Newman whose love for his heavenly companion found expression in these beautiful lines:

My oldest friend, mine from the hour When first I drew my breath, My faithful friend that shall be mine Unfailing till my death.

BLESSED TERESA OF THE CHILD JESUS (THE LITTLE FLOWER) OCTOBER 3

Few saints in our times have grown more popular than the "Little Flower." Her history abounds in wonders. Born on January 2, 1873 at Alencon (France) she entered the convent at the age of 15 and died nine years afterwards, on September 30, 1897, at Lisieux. She predicted, before she died, that she would become the wonder worker of our time, dropping roses in abundance from heaven on earth:—"I will spend my heaven doing good upon earth." The "Little Flower" was canonized only 28 years after her death and has become one of the most beloved of all saints, the world

Promises of the Little Flower

"I count fully on not remaining idle in Heaven. My longing is to labor even there for the Church and souls. I ask it of God and I am certain He will hear my prayer. Even now I know it. All my hopes will be realized. Yea, Our Lord will work wonders for me that will infinitely surpass my boundless desires.

"Nor is this impossible, since the very heart of the Beatific Vision the Angels keep watch over us. No, there can be no rest for me until the end of the world. of the world. But when the Angel shall have said 'Time is no more!' then shall I rest in shall I rest, then I shall be able to rejoice because the number of the elect will be complete.

ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI-OCTOBER 4

During the period at the close of the twelfth century, the social condition of Europe was strangely much like that of America today. There was an abundant and widespread wealth existing side by side with a degrading poverty—a poverty that robbed men not only of their physical but even of their spiritual wealth. The beggers were the despised outcasts, the rich were the favored lords of creation. The rich were despots and the poor banditti. Wealth and luxury for the one and the desire of such for the others had so engrossed men's minds that spiritual things were entirely lost sight of.

Then came St. Francis. Seeking only to restore the Kingdom of God in the hearts of men, he re-established peace and order throughout the world. The most human of saints, he despised all worldly gain. Taking as his mystical bride Lady Poverty, he dubbed himself the troubadour of God. Having cast aside his wealth, his social standing, even his name, dressed in the brown tunic and white girdle he tramped the highways of Italy. He preached to men the happiness of life free from the enthrallment of possessions. He taught men the beauty of the world of God around them. For the first time they saw the might of the Creator in the sunrise. He bade the peasants laugh their way into heaven—to lift their sullen eyes from the dust that they might gaze at the skies.

Born in the town of Assisi, in Umbria, in the year 1182, he was early distinguished by his love for the poor and the unfortunate. Yet he was very worldly for a time, nor did a prison cell or a dangerous sickness open his eyes to his folly. It was his love of the poor that made a Saint of him and brought him the beginning of those graces that soon transformed him into a seraph of divine love. In a remarkable vision God's seal was set upon him in the stigmata he bore on his hands and feet and over his heart. In the foundation of his wonderful Order of Friars Minor, many great servants of God were drawn to him to lend lustre to the work. Poverty was his favorite virtue, to which he joined a truly admirable meekness and contempt of the world.

ST. FRANCIS BORGIA—OCTOBER 10

Worldly honors and possessions, so often an impediment in the path of virtue, proved no obstacle to the sanctity of this Spanish nobleman. In the midst of the cares of the care o midst of the cares attendant upon the high offices he filled in the state, he won the admiration of the cares attendant upon the high offices he filled in the state, of won the admiration of all by the austerity of his life and his practice of Christian virtue. #### ST. MARGARET MARY—OCTOBER 17

Members of the League and all true lovers of the Sacred Heart will not Members 17th of October to pass without some very special devotional preparation for the celebration of the feast of St. Margaret Mary, the humpreparation Nun, whom Our Divine Lord chose from among all the holy souls of the seventeenth and previous and subsequent centuries to be His instrument in spreading devotion to His Sacred Heart. St. Margaret Mary was canonized, that is raised to the Altars of the Church, eight years ago.

Tuesday, October 17th, ought to be a day of general Communion for all the lovers of the Sacred Heart; thus honoring her whom Our Lord honored and showing our devotion to her by doing what she desires more than anything else as Our Divine Lord taught her, namely to receive Holy Communion in Reparation for the coldness and indifference shown Our Lord's Sacred Heart and to intercede for poor sinners.

THE FEAST OF OUR LORD, JESUS CHRIST, KING OCTOBER 29

Our Holy Father, Pope Pius XI, was most anxious that Catholics all over the world should celebrate the Feast of Our Lord, Jesus Christ, King, with all possible fervor.

The Feast of Our Lord, Jesus Christ, King, ought to be celebrated not merely in the churches but in every Catholic household of Our Lord. What more appropriate ceremony could be suggested than the renewal by all the members of each family of their consecration to the Sacred Heart of Jesus? Before the family altar with its statue or picture of the Sacred Heart, father, mother and all the children should kneel to recite their pledge to be faithful to Him, so that He may ever reign over their lives. Our consecration to the Heart of Jesus should be no mere form of words, but a heartfelt dedication to the service of Jesus Christ.

Millions of families in the United States are thus consecrated. We have recommended it year after year. All these are invited to make the oming Feast memorable by a renewal of their consecration. Families not the consecration of Jesus this Vet consecrated should delay no longer to give the Heart of Jesus this consolation consolation and to ensure for themselves the abundance of blessings promised to the sed to those who honor Him in this way.

Grant, O Lord, to Thy Church assurance of freedom and immunity from harm; give peace and order to all nations, and make the earth resound from pole to pole with one cry: Praise to the Divine Heart that wrought our salvation: to It be glory and honor forever. Amen.

ST. ALPHONSUS RODRIGUEZ, S.J.—OCTOBER 30

In a religious community of men, like the Society of Jesus, the members include priests, scholastics preparing to become priests, and brothers, all living a life in common, wearing the same cassock, with the same motive; love of Our Lord Jesus Christ; with the same goal; to glorify God by striving for personal salvation and perfection and the salvation and perfection of their neighbor. All without exception, are God's coadjutors, according to the Apostle St. Paul.

They differ in this; the priests and scholastics preparing to be priests are more directly concerned with teaching, preaching, studying spiritual things, whereas the Coadjutors' Brothers, while living a fervent spiritual life, attend to temporal things. These temporal things are the foundation, the a-b-c's of a religious community's housekeeping.

Hence a Jesuit Coadjutor Brother may be an accountant, artist, architect, baker, builder or buyer. He may be a carpenter, chauffeur, cleaner, cook, electrician, engineer or gardener. Again he may be an infirmarian or nurse, a janitor, painter, plasterer, plumber, printer, sacristan, server or refectorian, steamfitter, supervisor of many workmen, a tailor or typist.

And in the foreign Missions the Jesuit Coadjudtor Brother may have to be a little of all these and also a catechist and first-aid doctor!

What St. Joseph did at Nazareth for the Holy Family the Jesuit Coadjutor Brother does, as far as he can, for his community. St. Joseph was not a priest but he constituted as he can, for his community. a priest, but he sanctified himself and manual work by helping Mary and Jesus, the Great High Point Jesus, the Great High Priest who was to die for the sins of men.

St. Joseph was truly God's coadjutor. He was no mere servant or hired helper. His motive was love of Mary and Jesus, and therefore, love of God.

So too, is the Jesuit Coadjutor Brother, who helps priests and scholastics paring to be priests. God's and bired man. preparing to be priests, God's coadjutor. He is no mere servant or hired man. He is a real religious: a true con-He is a real religious; a true member of the Society of Jesus. He is ever conscious of the sublimity of his member of the Society of Jesus. He is ever make scious of the sublimity of his work for God's greater glory by helping to make priests.

St. Vincent de Paul, the apostle of charity, was wont to declare: "no ter how we seek, we shall always it charity, was wont to declare: "no contribute matter how we seek, we shall always discover ourselves unable to contribute to anything greater than to the result of the contribute to anything greater than to the contribute to anything greater than the contribute to the contribute to anything greater than the contribute the contribute that the contribute the contribute that the contribute the contribute the contribute that the contribute the cont to anything greater than to the making of priests." The reason is obvious. A priest is an ALTER CHRISTUS, another Christ, chosen from among men for the things that appertain to God Article Christ, chosen from is his helper. for the things that appertain to God. And the Jesuit Coadjutor is his helper.

Such a coadjutor was Alphonsus Rodriguez, born at Segovia in 1531. For my years he performed the duties of the self by a restricting of the self by a restriction of the self by a restriction many years he performed the duties of a college porter and so distinguished himself by a spirit of penance obedience college porter and so distinguished on January to penance obedience and so distinguished the college porter and so distinguished himself by a spirit of penance, obedience and fortitude that he was canonzied on January 15th, 1888. on January 15th, 1888.

has perfected us in the art of directing funerals, both large and small. This is evidenced by the fact we have conducted the funerals of many prominent persons and that a considerable number of our ever increasing clientele consists of those who have been recommended to us by the people we have previously served.

The cost of our service is always a matter that is decided by our clients.

We are associated with representative Mortuaries throughout the world, enabling us to serve you regardless of distances.

THE HOLY SOULS

Constantly we are reminded that we are living in a selfish and self-centered world: that man in general is a being totally absorbed in himself, utterly oblivious of his fellowmen. He is interested in others only in so far as they will assist him in his pursuit of self-glorification. Thank God all men are not such; thank God, too, that the precious virtue of charity, of man's love for his fellowman, can still be found in the lives of

To most non-Catholics death is a tragic end to a life of many. earthly happiness or pain. We Catholics know that death is but the gateway that leads a poor fettered soul into the eternal ages. That the soul lives after death, whether in Hell, or in the torments of Purgatory, or in the blissful enjoyment of the Beatific Vision, is for us an established fact. Catholic doctrine teaches the existence of a place of probation, called trine teaches the existence of a place of probation, called Purgatory, where the souls of those who die in God's favor must be purified before they can enjoy God for all eternity. Catholic doctrine likewise teaches that the prayers and the good works of the living can lighten the suffering of the poor souls. Here, then, is an opportunity for us to practice our christian charity by remembering the souls of the faithful Christian charity by remembering the Souls of the Church has set departed. Hence it is that Holy Mother the Church has set aside a special month for the practice of this devotion.

At some time in our lives we have stood by the casket of one of our dear ones, and our hearts were wrung with anguish.

Perhaps it was that of a sainted mother or a loving father; a brother or a sistem a grandparent or an aunt or an uncle; a brother or a sister; a grandparent or an aunt or an uncle; or perhaps we were parted by death from a life-long friend, the comrade of our youth, and the guiding light of our manhood days. The flowers we heaped upon the casket as a token the comrade of our youth, and the guiding light of our manhood days. The flowers we heaped upon the casket as a token of our affection, soon faded: the tears we short days or weeks of our loss, were soon dried. In a few short days or weeks or months these dear ones were forgotten, and in our thoughtersness we heeded not their appeal for help. This, then, is lessness we heeded not their appeal for help. Refuse not the time to return to works of Catholic charity. Refuse not this father, this mother, this husband, wife, son or daughter this father, this mother, this husband, the trivial expense of an the small pittance of your prayers, the trivial expenses the this father, this mother, this husband, wife, son or daughter the small pittance of your prayers, the trivial expense of an occasional Mass for their ease and comfort. They cannot help themselves. They are as dependent on your generosity for deliverance from the awful prisonhouse as the infant one day old is dependent on the breasts of its mother for life. Surely deliverance from the awful prisonhouse as the infant one day old is dependent on the breasts of its mother for life. Surely an appeal made by helplessness such as this will not fall on deaf ears. You must, unless utter strangers to whatever delicate emotions distinguish man from brute, send back a willing and generous answer to these sad voices. Listen! Aparting and generous answer to these sad voices. ing and generous answer to these sad voices. Listen! Apart from the busy world and strife of seething life their sad and melancholy voices call out in grim refrain,

"Have pity on me:"— "Oh, pray for me."

The Columbus Day Supper

The five hundred who came to the formal opening of the High School The five numered who came to the cheeks of the hostesses by Cafeteria caused youthful blood-rushes to the cheeks of the hostesses by their persistent and oft repeated words of praise. As we anticipated everyone enjoyed the evening and returned home pleasantly satisfied. The tired hostesses too rested contentedly after laborious hours with a hearty "Thank God, we just had enough."

To those who could not be present we give this advice; avoid regrets by attending the Gesu Socials regularly.

Reminder

On Saturday mornings at 9.30 a class of instruction assembles in the High School building. This class is especially for those children who do not attend the Parochial School. Parents who send their children to the Public School are obliged in conscience to have their children instructed in Christian Doctrine.

Lecture

On November 12th, at 8.30 P.M., in the High School Auditorium, 17th and Stiles Streets, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, Ph.D., D.D., LL.D., Agrega on Philosophia de West. Agrege en Philosophie de l'Universite de Louvain and The Catholic University of America, will lecture on THE REBIRTH OF FREEDOM.

Best seats will be reserved at $1.00. Patrons and Subscribers are entitled to reserved seats without extra charge.

The Bona Mors Confraternity

The Association for a Happy Death was founded October 2nd, 1648, in the Church of the Gesu, Rome, by Father Vincent Caraffa, seventh General of the Society of Jesus and Alberta States. of the Society of Jesus, and approved by the Sovereign Pontiff. In 1729 it was raised to an archaeffacture of the Sovereign Pontiff. was raised to an archconfraternity and enriched with numerous indugences by Benedict VIII. gences by Benedict XIII. He authorized the Father General of the Society of Jesus, who in virtue of his more designation of the society of Jesus, who is virtue of his more designation of the society of Jesus, who is virtue of his more designation of the society of Jesus, who is virtue of his more designation of the society of the soci of Jesus, who, in virtue of his office, was the director to erect Bona Mors confraternities in all abunches.

The object of the association is to prepare members by a well regulated life to die in peace with God. The longer title: "Confraternity of Our Lord Jesus Christ dying on the Cross, and of the most Blessed Virgin Mary, His sorrowful Mother," expresses the chief many to the longer that end, devotion sorrowful Mother," expresses the chief means to attain that end, devotion to the Passion of Christ and to the sorrows of Mary. Besides this the union of prayers and good works of the association have a solid instructions at of prayers and good works of the associates and the special instructions at the public meetings help nowerfully to cate and the special instructions at the public meetings help powerfully to prepare for a happy death.

In the Gesu Parish, meetings are held on the third Friday of each at eight o'clock in the curries month at eight o'clock in the evening.

Plenary Indulgence for November

An indulgence—a plenary one— may be gained by all who, having confessed and received Holy Communion, visit any church and there offer prayer, according to the intentions of the Sovereign Pontiff, for the suffering er, according to the lifetinous of the Bovereigh Folium, for the suffering souls in Purgatory. This indulgence may be gained as often during the day, as distinct visits are made. It is applicable only to the souls in Purgaday, as distinct visits are made. day, as distinct visits are made. It is applicable only to the souls in Purgatory. A person may begin on November 1st, 12 o'clock noon, and continue till 12 o'clock midnight of November 2nd. These visits may be made before or after the fulfilling of the other conditions. No special prayers are prescribed. The person must pray for the intentions of the Pope, and it is generally said that five "Our Fathers" and "Hail Marys" suffice.

Another indulgence which we can use to good purposes during November was granted by Pope Pius X on July 11, 1914. If we say the ejaculatory prayer. "Praised be the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus in the Most Holy Sacraprayer.

JESUIT SEMINARY FUND

Novices entering religious orders are usually required to bring with them a "dowry." Students at secular seminaries are usually required to pay tuem a dowly. Students at social social states are not asked for money either tuition. But Jesuit novices and scholastics are not asked for money either in the form of dowry or tuition. The Society of Jesus has maintained through the centuries the ideal of disassociating a religious vocation from any concern about money. A candidate is examined for mental, moral and physical fitness; he is not asked if his family is rich or poor.

Yet the Jesuit Houses of Study must be somehow or other supported. This is made possible by appeals to friends of the Society. The ordinary means is through the "Jesuit Seminary Fund," an organization of friends who contribute at least $1.00 a year to aid in the work of educating candidates for the priesthood in the Society of Jesus.

A perpetual membership in the Jesuit Seminary Fund entitles subscribers year after year to all spiritual benefits offered by the Society. A somewhat large offering is usual.

The perpetual membership for the deceased constitutes the "Jesuit Purgatorial Society."

A family membership includes all living and deceased members. Benefits of the Jesuit Seminary Fund are spiritual:

- 1. A share in prayers and good works of all Jesuits.
- 2. Intention in 160 daily Masses, 57,600 a year; in 598 daily Communions, 215,280 yearly.
  - 3. Unbroken chain of first intention Masses.
  - 4. A novena of Masses each month for all benefactors.

5. The frequent prayers of all Jesuits for benefactors, living and dead; the prayer "For Benefactors" is daily recited in common by every Jesuit Community.

Annuities: Gifts (of $100.00 or more) made to the Society on condition that 5 percent interest be paid to donor during life. Advantages: A good investment, safeguarding of money; regular income.

Burses: Scholarship Funds, for educating Jesuit priests. $8,000.00 completes a Burse. Because of few Burses, we must continue to beg.

What is given for the support of candidates for the priesthood of Christ is really given to Christ Himself. In a very true sense what is given is not lost but is really transformed by God's magic alchemy into coin of the realm of Heaven and is stored up for you for the dawn of Eternity.

The Dead Who Sleep in Christ

Thrice blessed are the dead who sleep with God in holy peace, Who lived and died close to His Heart, and now from labor cease; Who fought The Gold to the state of the state o Who lived and died close to His Heart, and now from labor cease;
Who fought His fight throughout their years, whose fighting victory won,
Whose lives brought joy unto Christ's Heart, and to His Lips: "Well Done!"
Now Home with God they see at last the Loving Father, Friend,
Now Home with God they see at last the Loving Father, Friend,
They know that they shall share His Home forever without end;
They now taste joys "eye hath not seen, nor ear nor heart of man
They now taste joys "eye hath not seen, nor ear nor heart of man
Can understand," for joys like these—ah! only God could plan;

Now all the trials that came in life—all pain and heartaches known,
All seem worth while—Is suffering not the road that winds towards Home?
They understand the Master's plea: "If thou My friend wouldst be,
They understand the Master's plea: "If thou My Sake follow Me;"
Forsake the world, embrace thy cross, for My Sake follow Me;"
The road that seems so hard to tread, the straight and narrow way,
The path that knew no roses fair, and few and happy days;
The path that knew no roses fair, and from their cross would part,
How weary they had often grown, and from their cross would part;
But now they know that road, that cross, led straight to God's Own Heart;

Thrice blessed souls, take now your rest, for faithful were your days,
In love and service to your King, the Christ you loved always;
What matters now life's choicest gifts—those things men make their goal,
What matters now life's choicest gifts—those of your soul—

The Heroic Act of Charity

Defined by the Catholic dictionary is that a member of the Church on earth, either using a set formula or simply by an act of the will, offers to God for the Holy Souls in Purgatory all the indulgences which he gains and all the satisfactory works which he performs in his lifetime and all the suffrages that may be offered for him after his death. It is an offering as suffrages that may be offered for him after his death. It is an offering as suffrages that may be offered for which by God in any given case suffrages that may be offered for which by God in any given case to the acceptance and application of which by God in any given case to the acceptance and application of which by God in any given case to the acceptance and application of Purgatory to benefit his neighbor. #### THE FEAST OF ALL SAINTS-NOVEMBER 1

"Let us all rejoice in the Lord, celebrating a feast in honor of all the Saints; at whose solemnity the angels rejoice, and join in praising the Son of God."—From the Mass of All Saints' Day.

On the first of November our Church celebrates a feast which should be to all true followers of Christ an event of great rejoicing. The Introit of the Mass for that day bids us all rejoice in the Lord. We are reminded to be glad of heart because of the glory that has been given to God through the lives of His saints; because of the fact that these members of the Heavenly kingdom are interceding for us; and because what they have gained is our hope and goal.

It is well that our Holy Mother, the Church of Christ, has in her wisdom instituted the Feast of All Saints. For it is a very easy thing for most of us to forget what is the actual calling of a Christian. No matter how far above us, in glory, the saints may seem to be, we must hope to join them after this life is run. Eternal life with God is the end for which we were baptized. If we accomplish that end, then we shall be among the saints; if we fail, our lives will have been wasted and the loss of our souls the price we pay.

But the Church would not have us be discouraged while we realize our lofty calling. We are to look up with the spirit of hope. For those who have won the crown of triumph were weak, tempted, sinners even, in a word, children of Adam, like us. They travelled the same road of life that we have to travel. They knew what it was to meet with those things of life that so easily turn one from the path that leads toward self-denial. Some of them even put out their hands and grasped vainly at the perishable treasures of the world. Some even fell, yet they rose again, and striving

"The doctrine that we are all of us called to sanctity is one of the principal truths of Christianity." But sanctity does not consist in doing extraordinary things, but in doing ordinary things extraordinarily well. In truth many of the spirits did bereig docds: yet there are many who did only ordinary of the saints did heroic deeds; yet there are many who did only ordinary deeds in a heroic manner. There is a Catherine of Alexander who was broken upon a wheel; but there is another Catherine—Catherine of Genoa who, although not receiving a martyr's crown, offered to God a life of per-

There is one Jesuit, Edmund Campion, who died upon the gibbet on Tyburn Hill; while there is another Jesuit, John Berchmans, who is glorified because, while there is another Jesuit, John Berchmans, who is glorified because the field becaus fied because of his devotion to rules of the Society.

A king knew what it was to wear the habit of the poor little brother from Assisi. And an Elizabeth could help to feed the poor while she lived

Some of the saints were poor, but many were rich. Some of them lived lives of penance and lacerated their flesh. Yet many of them never mortified their bodies by feating or wearing hair shirts; their hodies by feating or wearing hair shirts; mortified their bodies by fasting or wearing hair shirts; their bodily infirmities excused them.

The convent and the monastery were the dwellings where a mighty host of them found their abode. Still there were many more who made their way through life amid their families.

Missionaries journeyed to the farthest parts of the world to gain souls for Christ, and thereby gain their own place among Christ's elect. But nor Christ, and thereby gain their own place among Christ's elect. But many a parish priest won his crown while he remained at home with his

The path to Heaven may be straight and narrow, but that does not signify that there are not many ways to travel it. All of us need not be martyrs to reach Heaven. All need not be poor in worldly goods. Nor is it necessary to wear the habit of a monk or a nun to gain sanctity. But we must all be saints.

And Christ taught us the conditions under which Heaven will be won He consoles us by teaching us that the simplest virtues are so many royal roads that lead to the city of happiness. We have Christ's own words as He gave them in His sermon upon the mount:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven.

Blessed are the meek for they shall possess the land.

Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted.

Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after justice, for they shall have their fill.

Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy.

Blessed are the clean of heart, for they shall see God.

Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God.

Blessed are they that suffered persecution for justice's sake, for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven

Blessed are ye when they shall revile you, and persecute you, and speak all that is evil against you, untruly, for My sake."-Matt. V, 3-11.

These are the precepts by which the saints lived. These are the precepts by which we must live if we wish to partake of the joys of the saints. And be not discouraged in making the effort. We are to remember that we have the Sacraments which Christ has left for us in the keeping of His Church; we are to remember that Christ is always leading us forward; and we are to remember that the saints are interceding for us.

ALL SOULS—NOVEMBER 2

Mercifully look down, we beseech Thee, O Lord, upon the sacrifice which we offer Thee for the souls of Thy servants and handmaids, that, to those on whom Thou didst confer the merit of Christian faith, Thou mayest also grant its reward. Through Our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.—From the first Mass of All Souls' Day.

During the month of November each year, the Church commands and directs our attention in a special way to that part of her communion called by her the "Church Suffering." It is composed of those souls who at the moment of their death were not fit to enter Heaven at once, or so bad that they deserved to be cast forever from the face of God. It may be that they died in venial sin, or that they had not fully paid the debt of the temporal punishment due to those sins of which the guilt had already been forgiven. Temporal punishment is "punishment that will have an end either in this world or in the world to world or in the world to come." These Holy Souls can discharge their debt in two ways through a facility. in two ways, through suffering on their own part, and through the assistance of their friends

It has always been contained in the teaching of the Church that there is such a place as Purgatory and that souls suffer there for a time before seeing the face of the God Whom they love. The Council of Trent embodied the doctrine in a statement with the council of Trent embodied the doctrine in a statement with the council of th the doctrine in a statement which it is necessary to believe as a matter of faith: that statement is to the line of that faith; that statement is to the effect "that there is a Purgatory, and that the souls there detained are relief to the effect "that there is a Purgatory and that the souls there detained are assisted by the suffrages of the faithful, but especially by the most accentable of especially by the most acceptable Sacrifice of the Altar."

It is apparent from the Second Book of Machabees, that even before time of Our Lord the Jone that the time of Our Lord, the Jews believed in Purgatory. One reads there that some of the soldiers of Judge Machabeth Purgatory. some of the soldiers of Judas Machabeus, found dead after battle, had concealed under their costs of soldiers, found dead after battle, had concealed under their costs of soldiers. cealed under their coats offerings seized in a pagan temple. Scripture says that they had done what "the leaved in a pagan temple. Scripture says that that they had done what "the law forbiddeth so that all plainly saw that this cause they were slain." The Holy Spirit, through the inspired for this cause of Machabeus' action in sending an offering to Jerusalem writer approved of Machabeus' action in sending an offering to Jerusalem writer applied might be offered for the sins of these men, for the Scripture that satisfies therefore a holy and a wholesome thought to pray for the dead that they may be loosed from sins." (2 Mach, xii-46).

THE PARISH MONTHLY CALENDAR

It is morally certain that the great St. Paul himself practised the custom of praying for the dead. Onesiphorous, one of his fellow-laborers, had died, and in writing to Timothy, St. Paul is not content to recommend to him the family of Onesiphorus, but he prays for him, beseeching that "the Lord grant unto him to find mercy of the Lord in that day." (2 Tim. i, 18.)

In addition to the evidence supplied us by Holy Scripture and the Church's immemorial custom of praying for the dead, reason proclaims that there must be a Purgatory. Many die in the state of venial sin and therefore cannot immediately enter Heaven; yet these same souls are not God's enemies and therefore cannot be cast into Hell. There must be, then, some middle state where these souls can be purified, and it is this state that we call Purgatory. While the Teaching Authority of the Church, the proofs from Scripture and Tradition make no impression on many, more and more non-Catholics are being drawn to believe in Purgatory through having the reasonable side of the doctrine presented to them.

It is a natural instinct in the human heart to pray for departed friends. It is heartless and illogical to neglect our own loved ones and friends who have gone before us. The thought that we are still bound to them by the golden chain of prayer brings to their memory a comfort that words cannot express, and the knowledge that we can help them by our prayers and good works is a consolation that we feel we could scarce do without. They pass beyond our touch, beyond our sight; never, thank God, beyond our love and

SAINT STANISLAUS—NOVEMBER 13 A DRUMMER BOY OF CHRIST

I believe every boy, sometime or other, desires to be a soldier; he wants to do something great, to become famous. This longing is especially felt when war becomes a sad reality, and dad and big brother leave for the front. Have you not often heard, little reader, of the boys of your age who managed, many many years ago, to join the soldiers as drummer boys? Have you not felt at times very much like running away from home, and going up to some great general and begging him, with tears in your eyes, to accept you as a drummer boy?

"I can't do much, sir, but I can beat a drum;" and here you would bravely snow your ability to do so.

Now St. Stanislaus Kostka, the boy Saint of Poland and of the Society of Jesus, did something like this, only he did it for the sake of our Blessed Lord. He, too, desired to do great things—to be a hero of Christ.

He had been born in Poland, in the year 1550. At the age of fourteen he had come with his elder brother Paul and their tutor to Vienna, Austria, where the brothers were attending a college conducted by the Jesuit Fathers. Stanislaus' example of purity and piety, an open reproof to the worldliness and love of pleasure of Paul, so provoked the older brother that, in fits of anger, he used often to beat the boy unmercifully. Unfortunately the tutor, Bilinski, held the same opinion as Paul, and took sides with him.

The lad had no friend to turn to. The war that was raging about him, between Christ and sin, strengthened him in his desire to be a hero and the cruel treatment he received only urged him on. He decided, after two years spent at Vienna, to enter the Company of Jesus, the "flying squadron of Christ." But he knew his father would never consent to his plan, so in the month of August, 1567, he went to Augsburg, Germany, to apply for admission. Here he met St. Peter Canisius, one of the officers of the Company. This wise chief realized that the presence of Stanislaus so near Poland, his father's country, would only bring trouble to the boy, so he advised him to continue his journey to Rome.

In the Holy City, then, after a long, weary tramp of more than a thousand miles, the boy Stanislaus knelt at the feet of the general-in-chief of the Company, St. Francis Borgia, beseeching the Saint to admit him as a drummer boy of Christ. He probably did not use these words, but the words he did use meant the same.

And what did the general do? Did he turn the boy away because he was hungry and penniless? By no means; and the few short months of life that were left to Stanislaus were months of great joy to the saintly

Was Stanislaus' desire fulfilled? Did he do great things for Christ? Let me ask you, was it not a great thing to endure for two years the persecution of a cruel brother, when a word to his father would have put an end to such treatment? Was it not a great thing to brave the displeasure of a quick-tempered father? To walk more than a thousand miles to follow his heavenly vocation? Don't you think Stanislaus was a hero? I am sure

He was beatified by Pope Clement VIII, in the year 1602, thirty-four years after his death, the first member of the Company to be honored with the title of "Blessed." On the thirteenth of this month we shall celebrate the feast of the "Drummer Boy of Christ."—S. R. K., S.J.

THE PRESENTATION OF THE HOLY VIRGIN—NOVEMBER 21

This feast is celebrated on November 21. Its origin comes from the fact that under the old law Jewish parents were accustomed to consecrate their children to God that they wish their children to God, that they might devote themselves to His service in the Temple; and, according to an ancient tradition, Mary was thus offered o God at a very early age.

The Greeks and Armenians keep the feast of Mary's presentation on the same date as it is kept in the Western Church. As early as 730 it was the same day at Constantinople, and in 1143 it was among the feasts celebrated in the whole Eastern Church. At the request of the Ambassador of the King of Cyprus to Pope Gregory XI, who was then residing at Avignon, the Papal of Cyprus adopted it in 1372. Passing thence into storing at Avignon, the Papal curia adopted it in 1372. Passing thence into several other kingdoms and churches, the solemnity was introduced into the Roman Breviary by Sixtus

Many religious communities have adopted the practice of taking or renewing their vows on this day.

ST. JOHN BERCHMANS, S.J.—NOVEMBER 26

The eldest boy of a poor cordwainer, in a small Belgian town, John was ever a dutiful, prayerful, and studious child. Our Lord called him when but quite young to leave his father and his father's house, to serve Him in the Society of Jesus. And because young Berchmans was so good a son, so promising a scholar, it cost his father much to give him up to God; but he was too good a Christian to refuse outright.

When he was a boy of thirteen, his father's slackness of business and his mother's long illness seemed to make it impossible that John should go on with his studies. He was called into the sick room and there this was broken to him. It meant nothing less than the abandonment of his studies and his vocation to the Priesthood. For a moment he was silent, then in tears he threw himself on his knees, stretched out his hands, and implored his parents to let him but go on the few years longer, until he could be received in college. "Do not be alarmed at the expense," he prayed, "I shall be content to live on bread and water." His poor parents could not refuse him. They gave way, and God enabled him to continue his studies.

Three short years, and his last sickness found him sighing for Heaven; and three days before the great feast of Mary's Assumption, in 1621, holding his mile is ing his rule-book and his crucifix in his wasted hands, with his rosary twined around the crucifix in his wasted his love of suffering, and twined around them, the symbols of his obedience, his love of suffering, and devotion to his obedience, his nure soul to God. devotion to his heavenly Mother, he breathed out his pure soul to God.

The Ave Maria calls attention to an article in the New York American and Journal by John B. Kennedy, in which the author expresses his concern over the possibilities of another dry era in this country. Mr. Kennedy knows from experience how impossible of enforcement such a law would be. "When I investigated prohibition enforcement for Colliers," he writes, "I could go to any town in the country, even Waterville, Ohio, the home of the Anti-Saloon League and hoist a Anti-Saloon and hoist a Anti-Saloon and hoist a Anti-Saloon and hoist a Anti-Saloon and the Anti-Saloon League, and hoist a $10 bill and have some philanthropist lead me forthwith to a drink. It was no trouble at all." That is only half of the story however. Most readers remember the interminable abuses which followed in the wake of prohibition. Now it would seem that those memories would be sufficient to prohibition. memories would be sufficient to prevent any repetition of the catastrophe in the pear future; but election in the near future; but election figures tell a different story. Says Mr. Kennedy: "We are confronted with figures tell a different story. Kennedy: "We are confronted with actual statistics from States like Illinois showing that in local option of showing that in local option elections—themselves very good expression of popular will—the drys are outvoting the wets." In other words the good old Catholic ideal of temperance is being pushed into the background by a old Carried which insists upon abusing instead of making use of God's gifts. A growing resentment against that abuse has been responsible for the rapidly growing dry vote about which Mr. Kennedy writes. It is interesting to note that if prohibition does come in the near future, the great army of squawkers will be made up of the persons who are even now helping to bring it about by their obvious abuses of the privileges which are theirs. Parishioners should be forewarned and live and work for virtuous temperance, lest legal prohibition, with all its evils, be foisted upon them.

Courtesy requires that people should notify the Pastors when they move out of or into or change their residence within the Parish.

Heaven, Light Without Limit

Rev. Owen A. Hill, S.J.

A sky with no horizon rimmed, And light without a limit-line, Where day-time's glories twilight-dimmed To sloping shadows swift decline.

In Heaven high no nights descend, To fetter nature to their thrall; Our eyes see God from end to end, And nought escape us. God is all!

God's radiant self is Heaven's sun, We see with help of what we see; And see while endless ages run To fashion God's eternity.

Our moon and stars are beacon-fires, When darkness loosens special frets, What time day's sentinel retires; God is the sun that never sets!

With seeing every eye is filled, With hearing, every raptured ear; What beauty ever mortal thrilled, What music signals Heaven near.

That through the azure rhythmic sweep; The harmony of tuneful spheres, The sounds a dreaming infant hears An angel singing him to sleep.

And all the King's attendant throng;
Winged spirits rising choir on choir, Right's army, winners over wrong, Without an unfulfilled desire!

All Saints' Day

This month the Church celebrates two feast days that are held in honor of the members of the Church. The first is November first, All Saints' Day: the second, November second, All Souls' Day. All Saints' Day is held to honor the Church triumphant. On every day of the year the Church honors some particular Saint. The faithful are enabled to learn and practice the virtues of these holy men and women. The Saints are our most powerful intercessors in Heaven. Surely, God will listen to those holy people who have served Him well throughout their lives. Countless miracles have been worked through the Saints' intercession, who have been canonized by the Church. In the Church, we have patron Saints for countries, people and professions.

The Church had a particular reason when She ordained the Feast of All Saints. This was to honor the thousands and thousands of uncanonized Saints. We are not able to even estimate the hundreds of thousands of pious, devout Catholics who, every day stand before our Lord to be judged. Most of these are purified in Purgatory. Then they are Saints of God, although uncanonized. That is why we should pray for the Holy Souls. We may be sure that these Souls will not forget us when they reach Heaven.

All Saints' Day is a symbol of the unity of the Church. This great feast shows the union between the Saints, the Souls in Purgatory, who will soon become Saints, and the faithful, who spend their lives striving to get to Heaven; the union between the Church Militant, the Church Suffering, and the Church Triumphant.

Thanksgiving

With Thanksgiving just around the corner, our minds turn to football games, turkey dinners, and all that relates to the commemoration of that day in 1620 when the Pilgrims, who had landed on our New England shores to settle this new land of opportunity, held a feast to show their gratitude to God for allowing them to survive the cold winter.

We should do more than gratify yourselves with worldly pastimes. We should be glad that we are not in a country overrun with "isms." as the continent of Europe is today. One could not count all the blessings which and contentment, do not realize the grief and distress of the people in Europe today, especially the Catholics. We should think of the true meaning of Thanksgiving day. There is no better way to start this great day than ing of Thanksgiving day. There is no better way to start this great day than hy assisting at Mass and Table is no better way to start this great day than by assisting at Mass and receiving Holy Communion with joy and gratitude in our hearts that we live in this land of plenty and freedom—America.

has perfected us in the art of directing funerals, both large and small. This is evidenced by the fact we have conducted the funerals of many prominent persons and that a considerable number of our ever increasing clientele consists of those who have been recommended to us by the people we have previously served.

The cost of our service is always a matter that is decided by our clients.

We are associated with representative Mortuaries throughout the world, enabling us to serve you regardless of distances.

The Reverend Pastor in behalf of the Jesuit Community, extends to all parishioners and friends the hearty and sincere greeting:

Afterry Christmas!

It is a prayer that the Infant Saviour may shed His Blessings upon all abundantly.

Christmas Greetings

Kind friend, I pray
The little Christ to bless you day by day.
May His soft hand, like a white rose-bud curled On Mary's breast—
The self-same hand that rules our mighty world From north to south, from east to west, Bless you forever and forevermore.
Unfolding, may it then outpour Its graces without stint or measure.

Some such gift or treasure Would I fain impart Had I the key
That opens up and locks His Sacred Heart, But since that cannot be, But since that cannot be, But since that cannot be, I give you what I hold and next most fair:—
I give you what I hold and next most fair:—
I give you what I hold and next most fair:—
I give you what I hold and next most fair:—
I give you what I hold and next most fair:—
I give you what I hold and next most fair:—

Lecture

The St. Joseph's College Lecture Forum presents the Reverend Bernard Hubbard, S.J., the Glacier Priest, in a Lecture, with moving pictures, entitled, "Cliff Dwellers of the Far North," on December 3rd, 1939, at 8.30 P. M. in Town Hall, 150 North Broad Street. Best seats will be reserved at $1.50 and $1.00. Patrons and Subscribers are entitled to reserved seats without extra charge. The proceeds of Father Hubbard's Lecture are for the henceextra charge. The proceeds of Father Hubbard's Lecture are for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital, 16th Street and Girard Avenue.

Accounts of Father Hubbard's stirring adventures in the volcanic regions of Alaska which have appeared from time to time in the public Press, has traversed two hemispheres and plumbed the depths of volcanoes for tive craters in the world. "Moon Craters" they are called because they are surface of the moon. Father Hubbard predicted the eruption of one of them, almost to the hour. The newspapers of the world carried the story of his almost to the hour. The newspapers of the world carried the story of his miraculous escape when his plane was almost sucked into the burning depths. At Aniakchak his plane made a successful landing inside the crater walls on a small lake, the first time a plane has been known to land inside

Other important feats accomplished by Father Hubbard and his party were the scaling of Mt. Katmai, Alaska's famous ice mountain, and Mt. Shishaldin an active volce. haldin, an active volcano, in the dead of winter, both considered impossible feats due to the failures of previous climbing expeditions.

Father Hubbard has taken thousands of feet of movie film during his trips of exploration. These pictures show the daily life of the Eskimos, and hundreds of miles of Alaska's fairn lands the daily life of the Eskimos, and trips of exploration. These pictures show the daily life of the Eskimos, and hundreds of miles of Alaska's fairy lands, in contrast to the roaring inferno of the volcano craters where the Glacier Priest has taken some of the most fine sense of humor, Father Hubbard tells the tale of one of the great adventures of the age with a simplicity characteristic of the truly great. Don't newest, "Cliff Dwellers of the Far North," that it is to be given Sunday evening, December 3rd, 8.30 P. M. in Town Hall

The Monster Hobby Show

On the afternoons, from 3 to 5, and evenings, from 8 to 10, of December 8th, 9th and 10th, there will be a Monster Hobby Show at St. Joseph's High School. The main exhibits will be in the auditorium, but several rooms throughout the High School Building will be employed to house the numerous exhibits (some 200 in all). The bulk of the exhibits will be those of the students of St. Joseph's Prep; but many outside hobbyists throughout the city and elsewhere are also displaying. Eminent hobbyists, including the Manager of the National Stamp Exhibit, Mr. Gustave von Gross; Miss the Manager of the National Stamp Exhibit, Mr. Gustave von Gross; Miss Marion Boyde, Secretary of the Marianne Marionettes; Mr. John Enright, Marion Boyde, Secretary of the Marianne Marionettes; Mr. John Enright, jeweler and engraver; Mr. Fankelstein, collector of pistols, will speak on their several hobbies, as well as exhibiting. Father Thomas B. Cannon, S.J., of Jesuit Missions, will have a display of Mission Curios. Altogether some 40 hobbies will be represented. There will be cash prizes for the most popular acclaimed exhibits of St. Joseph's students and awards for guest hobbyists. Admission is free. All the parishioners of the Gesu are most cordially invited.

Ember Days

The attention of our readers is called to the three days which occur during the month of December. They are the EMBER DAYS of the Winter Quarter. The Ember Days, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, December 20th, 22nd and 23rd, will be days of fast and abstinence.

Working people and their families may eat meat at the one full meal on the Wednesday and Saturday but not on Friday.

Ember days were instituted in order to consecrate by penance the four seasons of the year and also that every individual among us may, from time to time remember that he should pass his life in the practice of penance.

Privilege

Special arrangements have been made for hearing the Confessions of the "slightly deaf." On Confession Evenings, the "hard-of-hearing" should the "slightly deaf." Avoid the Rectory fifteen minutes before the scheduled Church time. Avoid disagreeable embarrassments by taking advantage of this privilege.

The Three Christmas Masses

On Christmas Day three different Masses are celebrated by each priest of our Church, and each of these Masses has a special character of its own. God the Father gives His Son to the world; this miracle is wrought by the Spirit of Love, and the whole earth renders to the Most Glorious Trinity the homage of a triple sacrifice. He whose Nativity we commemorate on Christmas Day is manifested by three births: He is born of the Blessed Virgin; He is born by His grace in the hearts of the Shepherds, who are the first fruits of Christianity; He is also born eternally in the bosom of His Father. This triple birth is honored with a triple sacrifice. The first Mass is celebrated in memory of the birth of Our Saviour according to the flesh; the second Mass is offered to honor the birth of Jesus, Son of God and the Virgin Mary, in our souls by His grace; the third Mass commemorates the eternal birth of the Son in the bosom of the Father.—Ex.

Give a Christmas Offering to Christ's Poor

So many of us need help ourselves that the appeal to help others may seem out of place. But it is the poor who always help the poor. Only those who have been hungry know what it is to go hungry. It is true that some of our well-to-do people are generous to the needy, and give a good response to an appeal for charity. But it is the small offerings of people that maintain our charities, for the most part. We are hard pressed now. The present unemployment situation all around us makes it more imperative for us to do what we can.

What you give, give as to Christ, who will reward you. Alms giving is not only a charity but when done in the Catholic spirit is an act of religion. It is one of the ways of doing penance for our sins. By doing without something in religion's name in order to help the needy poor we are denying ourselves for Christ's sake, which is an act of virtue that will stand out to our credit for eternity.

As you enter Church you will find a box marked: Help the Poor. Please contribute something to this noble work. Love is proved by sacrifice, even the smallest. Remember, God will not be outdone in generosity.

If you can assist further in this great work, St. Vincent de Paul and the Catholic Charities Centre will tell you where you may find a needy family or they will be only too happy to use your donation to bring the joy of the Feast day to someone in need.

There is no happiness that is as great as the happiness that comes from sacrifices and there is no sacrifice that brings such joy to your heart as the sacrifice made in the name of the Babe of Bethlehem.

Pamphlet Rack

Someone has called our age a pamphlet era. Whether or not the term is deserved is not for us to decide. Certain it is, however, that small books and pamphlets are in the hands of millions of people today while a few years ago such reading matter was unknown. With that progressive spirit so usual in her history, the Church fosters and sponsors every good movement and every worthy cause. And now she is taking measures through the medium of the popular pamphlet to make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as to mind the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as to mind the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as to mind the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as to make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as to make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as to make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as well as the make herself better known to those outside her fold as the make herself better known to the m side her fold as well as to give her own children a better knowledge of their Faith. # The Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association

The semi-monthly meeting of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Association was held on Thursday evening, November 2nd, in the High School Building on Stiles Street. The attendance at this meeting was very encouraging and we trust that this interest on the part of our tenants and owners will be maintained.

Special Men's Committee: For several weeks past, a Special Committee of the men have been meeting on Monday evenings in an effort to devise methods by which the success of our Association will be assured. The various reports of this Special Committee were read at this meeting.

Law and Order Committee: At this meeting a Law and Order Committee was formed. This Committee will handle complaints from the various neighborhoods. A representative of this Committee will be present on Friday evenings in the High School Building and will endeavor to adjust complaints that may be brought to his attention.

Letter and Questionnaire: Under date of October 30th, Rev. Thomas J. Love, S.J., our Pastor, addressed our Parishioners regarding the Gesu Parish Improvement Association and enclosed a Questionnaire which he requested the Parishioners to fill out and hand to the members of the Men's Committee when they call upon them. This is a very important matter and it is hoped that it will be given the personal attention of all. When the members of this Committee call on the tenants and owners, they will be glad to receive suggestions that might be of benefit to all and to explain the aims and objects of the Gesu Parish and Neighborhood Improvement Associa-

Semi-monthly Meetings: These meetings are held on the first and third Thursday evening of each month and we sincerely hope that they will be well attended. Questions pertaining to the interest of tenants as well as owners are discussed at these meetings and much assistance can be secured from the Officers of this Association when they are advised of the problems confronting the tenants and owners.

THE PARISH MONTHLY CALENDAR

The Immaculate Conception of Our Lady

The Immaculate Conception of Our Lady is the privilege Our Lord gave to her of being the only creature ever to come upon the earth without the stain of original sin on her soul.

This is one of the greatest privileges that could be bestowed upon anyone. She was and always will be the only one exempted from original sin. We should have devotion to her in particular, because of her purity and freedom from sin.

There is one thing that some people do not agree on. No one is, they say, in God's sight better than the other. They think that God should not have given her a privilege which He gave no one else. But, is it not fitting and proper that God should ordain for Himself so chaste and sinless a mother. We Catholics should in particular have the greatest devotion to her, because when we stand before her (for she will sit beside God when He judges us) We hope we can with a clear conscience say to her, "I have been devoted to you because of your purity." Then Our Lord will say, "If you have been devoted to My Mother you have been devoted to Me." So when December the 8th comes lift up your hearts and remember Mary and she will remember you.

A Divine Birthday

"I bring you tidings of great joy that shall be to all people; for this day is born to you a Saviour, in the city of David."

This is the song Angel voices caroled on that first Christmas night, to all the countryside of Bethlehem. In couples and small groups lowly shepherds left their flocks and made their way over the winding road to Bethlehem. The glow of the stars only accentuated the bitter cold of the winter

They who sought the new-born King inquired both at the finest inns and at the most unpretentious dwellings—but in vain. By the side of the road they finally located the Infant in an unoccupied cave. Gifts such as lambs, were given to the little Babe by those who had little else to give.

The Breath of an ox and of an ass aided in warming the Divine Infant, but the warmth of the hearts of His Mother and Foster-father would certainly have been sufficient. The little Babe suffered far greater in foreseeing the sins of those He would one day die for, than from even the piercing cold.

This Child, born in humility and poverty, was the Messiah promised to the world!

-Rosemary Hayes, Grade Eight.

Nativity of Jesus Christ

Christmas! How everyone loves that happy season. But does everyone know the beautiful story behind Christmas.

One cold winter night over nineteen hundred years ago two lone figures could be seen wandering through the streets of Bethlehem. They were Mary

After making the long journey from their home at Nazareth to the city of Bethlehem they sought in vain for a place in an inn. Finally a kind person directed them to a stable. Here Mary brought forth the Saviour of the world and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes and laid Him in the manger. The Shepherds were the first to offer homage to Our Divine Saviour on the night of His birth. The Wise Men then came to adore Him bringing with them precious gifts.

We can have precious gifts to offer the Christ Child on Christmas morning. What greater gifts could we give to Him than to hear Mass and receive Holy Communion into our hearts in His honor.

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER—DECEMBER 3

Early in this month, on Saturday, December 3, we celebrate the feast of the great Apostle of the Indies, St. Francis Xavier, from whom we obtained so many favors during the Novena of Grace. Let us not fail now to show

As you may recall from what you were told about this great Apostle, it is probable that not since the day when Saul of Tarsus, unhorsed by a light-ning bolt from heaven, lay prostrate in the dust of the road to Damascus, has him our gratitude. Divine Grace achieved a more splendid victory than when, in the corridors of the University of Paris, Ignatius of Loyola, accosting his compatriot, Francis Xavier, succeeded by dint of frequent repetition of the divine warning "What dark it react a man to gain the whole world and lose his soul?" ing, "What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his soul?" in luring the great soul of Xavier from its dreams of empty honors and the withering learner and as grace once night the walls withering laurels of a professional career. And as grace once, nigh the walls of Damascus, changed Saul the persecutor to Paul the Apostle, so now in Paris the ambitious conjugat to scholastic glories was transformed into the Paris the ambitious aspirant to scholastic glories was transformed into the Apostle of the East and the Wonder-worker of modern days.

Almost incredible were the labors undergone by Xavier in his Apostolate of India and Japan—unsurpassed even in Apostolic days were the miracles he wrought, verifying to the letter the promise of Christ that his followers should do even greater things than He Himself had done. Nor did this should do even greater with Xavier's death—it endures to the present momiraculous power cease with Xavier's death—it endures to the present moment, as many of us can testify.

THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION—DECEMBER 8

On the 8th of December, 1854, the Immaculate Conception of Our Blessed Lady was raised by Papal definition to the dignity of a dogma of our faith. One of the reasons for the celebration of the feast, so dear to every Catholic heart, is the perpetuation among the Children of Mary of this ever-memorable day. The main reason, however, for the solemnity in the mind of the Church, is to honor our Blessed Mother's miraculous exemption from the stain of original sin. It is her rare and privileged prerogative, not only to have been born into the world free from all tarnish of our first parents' sin, but also to have been conceived immaculate.

The Immaculate Conception, therefore, contrary to what is frequently believed by non-Catholics—sometimes even by Catholics—has reference to but one thing, freedom from original sin. It does not mean that the Blessed Virgin was conceived as her Divine Son was conceived, by the power of the Most High; it means that, though conceived in the ordinary manner of mortals, her soul was preserved free from taint of sin.

Some eighteen years before our Lord was born on the bleak hillside at Bethlehem, the Holy Trinity began to prepare this living tabernacle of the Most Holy. At the instant her soul sprang from nothingness and was united to her body, it was encompassed by the power of the Precious Blood and preserved from every stain of sin. The blemish of guilt was not upon her property and there is not a preserved from every stain of sin. pure spirit and then instantly blotted out; this is John the Baptist's privilege. No: Mary's unique distinction, her Immaculate Conception, is that she was prevented by the love of Her Son, from every contracting, even for the duration of the lightning flash, any stain or blemish. The purity of her sinless soul was never sullied by the breath of any infection.—Ex.

CHRISTMAS—DECEMBER 25

"Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace to Men of Good Will." St. Luke 2:14.

The words addressed by Gabriel to the astonished shepherds this first Christmas night, and the canticle of glory raised by attendant angels are worthy of reverent and meditative study. Gabriel banishes fear from the shepherd's bosoms with the glad news that a Saviour is born. For sign of the Infant's divinity he alleges the swaddling clothes and the manger. The heavenly army sings, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to effects entrance into the soul with fear for helper, once inside He drives out dread, and more than compensates for the disturbance by lengthened out dread, and more than compensates for the disturbance by lengthened intervals of peaceful sweetness. On these occasions He is employing the one agency at His disposal to pick His way past obstacles; but, this accomplished, He is Himself again, He doffs the disguise of terror and assumes a more pleasing shape. The glad message He always brings has a bearing, not on success, or esteem, or applause, but on some such spiritual and eternal good as the Saviour's birth, progress towards God, growth in holiness. The swaddling sloth growth in holiness. The swaddling clothes and the manger, as characteristic marks of the divinity, can serve for reminder that God's ways are not this world's ways. Swaddling clothes are rags, a manger is a feed-box, and stables are meant for dumb animals; they are no fit dwelling for men, no proper habitation for the poorest of God's children. Crowns, and silks, with fine linen and jewelled cribs are signs of royalty here on earth, but these never fall to the lot of God's saints. God reserves their crowns for Heaven. This heavy atmosphere is too poor a Paradise to be a place of reward for God's nearer friends. It is an accursed Eden; and all its joys, even if they had no other disappointing trait, are open to suspicion of loss.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to men of good will." This sublime phrase can be taken as a mere statement, or as a wish. In the first sense it means that the birth of Christ is God's crowning glory, and at the same time man's surest harbinger of peace. God is glorious in creation, but creation pales in splendor when compared with God's birth among men. Redemption, grace and salvation are now possible; and the beauty of the heavens, the orderly march of the seasons, the grandeur of earth are as nothing when weighed in the balance and compared with a single tear or a blood-drop from the eye or the heart of Christ. Peace means the interval of rest that follows war, it means reconciliation between enemies, it means renewal of friendship after years of distracting differences. In the language of the Hebrews it stood for everything good, and comprehended in its wide scope every conceivable delight. And, as a matter of fact, whatever spiritual joy this earth can boast derives life and being from what transpired at Bethlehem this first Christmas night. Every other variety of joy we mortals know hardly deserves the name.
With sincere Christians Christmas is and ought to be the happiest day in all the year. The trees in our houses, the services in our churches bear witness to this, and familiar memory of the event could sprinkle all our days with good cheer. But the peace settling round Christmas is lost. our days with good cheer. But the peace settling round Christmas is lost on sinners. Only men of good will experience it. The heart must be right in its relations with God and the neighbor to verify the words of the angels in its relations with God and the neighbor to verify the words of intimate hymn. The wicked walk rough ways, and are never on terms of intimate hymn. The wicked walk rough ways and are never the expression is an familiarity with peace. Taken as a wish or a prayer the expression is an familiarity with peace. Taken as a wish or a prayer the expression is an exhaust the state of Housen to prayer order and more exhortation to the inhabitants of Heaven to praise God's power and mercy, manifested in this transcendent favor, and an exhortation to men to appreciate and cherish the peace it purchases and proclaims.

The first of the forgetfulness of tain, the present war in Europe. The first of the forgetfulness of the first of the come the of human solidarity and charity" which is dictated and imposed that law of human nature and our kinship as children of God redeemed by our common blood of Jesus Christ. The second is the divorce of civil by the precious every kind of dependence upon the Supreme Being and the authority creation of the absolute state, annihilating individual human rights and subjecting the individual and the family to the absolute control of the state. The combination of these errors has brought about the spiritual and moral bankruptcy of the world, the fanatical racism, the rabid nationalism, the growth of Nazism and of Communism and the inevitable death struggle that is bringing Europe and the world to the brink of destruction.

The Holy Father cries out in this encyclical to a heedless world that only "In the recognition of the royal prerogatives of Christ and in the return of individuals, and of society to the law of His truth and of His love lies the only way to salvation." Looking realistically at the events of today, the Holy Father recognizes little hope that any such return to Christ is imminent, but sees some hope of reconstruction along the lines of Justice and Charity when the forces of evil have spent their destructive strength.

The solidarity of the Catholic world, so tellingly symbolized by the consecration of twelve Bishops in the Holy City on the Feast of Christ the King, combining many races and nationalities in the unity of the Faith, is the shining example for the world to see and to imitate, writes the Holy Father. As the source and center of that unity, the first encyclical of Pope Pius XII gives him one more outstanding claim to the moral leadership of mankind and to recognition as the most potent force for enduring peace in a wartorn world. Attending to the Holy Father's paternal plea, all Catholic people must join in ceaseless, unremitting prayer that Jesus Christ, the Son of God, may once more cause the tempest of evil and the waves of hate that boil throughout the world to be abated, that there may come a great calm. In that calm may the motto of Pope Pius XII be realized "Peace—The Work

December Thoughts

The first thought that comes into the Catholic mind when thinking of December is that it is the time of Advent. That season which bids us prepare for the guitable componential of Our Lord's hinth. It is the begin pare for the suitable commemoration of Our Lord's birth. It is the beginning of the ning of the Church's year for everything begins with our Lord, the New Adam and regenerator of the race. All the feasts and devotions of the church begin over again to go the round of another year. In this sense Adam should be a time of reflection and resolution and should help to make our years better since they are growing fewer and coming nearer the end of vent should be a time of reflection and resolution and should help to make our years better since they are growing fewer and coming nearer the end of time and the beginning of eternity. It is especially the preparation for time and the beginning of our Lord, and Holy Church sings in Her services Christmas, the birthday of our Lord, and Holy Church sings in Her services the prayer of the Jews of old "Rain down Thou Just One," "Rejoice, O Jerusalem, rejoice with a great joy, because thy Saviour will come to thee."

Jerusalem, rejoice with a great joy, because the great feast of Our Lady, namely Jerusalem, rejoice with a great joy, because thy Saviour will come to thee."

The second thought of Advent is the great feast of Our Lady, namely that of her Immaculate Conception on December the 8th, How our Blessed that of her Immaculate in space—in her glorious perfection. She Lady stands as it were, exalted in space—in her glorious perfection. She is like the sun, dazzling in her glory, and like the moon, set steadily, in the heavens midst the darkness and danger of night. What joy, what comfort heavens midst the darkness our Mother, and that we are her favored well-heavens midst that she is our Immaculate and created full of grace from the assurance that she was born immaculate and created full of grace beloved children. Our Lady was made immaculate that she might be because she was to be the Mother of infinite perfection and holiness, the because she was to be the King of Glory. Let us ask our Immaculate Son of the Most High. Mary was made immaculate that she might be worthy to be the temple of the King of Glory. Let us ask our Immaculate worthy to be the temple of the King of Holiness and innocence that Christ may worthy to be for us the grace of holiness and he close that Christ may worthy to be the temple of the king of Glory. "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us."—John 1, 14.

THE ANGELS' MESSAGE

"Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, that shall be to all the people; for this day is born to you a Saviour, Who is Christ the Lord, in the city of David. And this shall be a sign unto you. You shall find the infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger."—Luke 2, 10-12.

UNTO ETERNITY

"Behold, I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world."-Matthew 28, 20.

Christmas Don't

Don't forget your Christmas duty.

Don't forget the old folks at home.

Don't look a gift-horse in the mouth.

Don't leave the religious feeling behind you in the church.

Don't upon this day of sweet memories forget those who have passed

Don't let money dominate your giving.

Don't let Christmas giving deteriorate into a trade.

Don't embarrass yourself by giving more than you can afford.

Don't try to pay debts or return obligations in your Christmas giving. Don't give trashy things. Many an attic could tell a strange story about Christmas presents.

Don't make presents which your friends will not know what to do with and which would merely encumber the home.

Don't give because others expect you to. If you cannot send your heart with the gift, keep the gift.

Don't wait until the last minute to buy your presents, and then, for lack of time to make proper selections, give what your judgment condemns.

Don't forget to give your homage to the new-born Saviour by going to Confession and Communion.

Don't insult friends by sending Greeting Cards that are pagan and non-Christian and have no reference whatever to the Birth of Christ.

Christmas Day in Wartime

The crack of guns, the whirl of 'planes, destruction in each breath, The roar of bombs, the burst of shells, all Messengers of Death; The anguished cry of drowning men, sunk in torpedoed ships, The hatred deep in each one's heart, and curses on their lips; The fertile lands, the farms, the trees, but yesterday serene, And bearing flowers, crops and fruit, all happy, peaceful scenes; Now strewn with bodies mangled, dead, with blood drenched crimson red, A day ago—Youth's fairest flowers—today—War's countless dead;

The peaceful homes that once were known in happy years gone by Are shattered now as Mothers, wives, watch sons and husbands die; And in this world so filled with hate, with grief and sorrow torn, Within a Stable, bleak and cold, is Christ, the Saviour, born; Above the roar of guns and 'planes, as bombs and shells increase, Above them all, the Voices come of Angels singing "Peace"; We hear their song with tear-dimmed eyes, our hearts with sadness fill, What mockery have these words: "On Earth—Peace to men of Good-will!"

O, Tiny Babe of Bethlehem, is this the Peace you crave? To find men locked in War and Death, and battlefields their grave; For their sake are You born today—to one day die for Love— You beg them live as brothers here, sons of their God above; Today on sea, on land, in air, these souls you love so well Are crazed with hate and hurling death with implements of hell; O' Gentle Babe, this Christmas Morn, when You shall come again, Bring Peace unto a warring world and love to hearts of men. -William F. Sheridan.

A Stern Fact

"I can't agree with confession," someone wrote to the editor of "Stella Maris," and received the following answer: "You have not grasped the question. It isn't for you to agree with anything. If you go to a doctor, and he tells you you must have an operation for appendicitis, would you say you didn't agree? It's a question of forgiveness of your sins on God's condition. If you don't accept the conditions, you must face the consecution. If you don't accept the conditions, you must face the consecution. If you don't accept the Conditions, you must face the consecution. It is laid down by our Lord that you condition. If you don't sometally, and so there's the end of it. I have to go to confession if you sin mortally, and so there's the end of it. A convert, before being received into the Church, has to be convinced that have to go to confession if you don't believe that. Protesthe Church is God's infallible teacher and that the teaching of the Church is God's infallible teacher and that it likes and rejects what it is God's truth. You can't be a Catholic if you don't believe that. Protesthe Church is God's truth you can't be a Catholic if you don't believe that. It is God's truth. You can't be a Catholic if you don't believe that the hast tantism, like every heresy, just picks out what it likes and rejects what it is God's truth. You can't be a Catholic if you don't believe that. The sinner, if he has tantism, like every heresy, just picks out what it likes and rejects what it is God's truth. You can't be a Catholic if you don't believe that. The sinner, if he has tantism, like every heresy, just picks out what it likes and rejects what it is God's truth. You can't be a Catholic if you don't believe that.

The Society for the Propagation of the Faith

1700 SUMMER STREET Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

November 15, 1939.

Dear friends of the Missions,

As Diocesan Director of The Society for the Propagation of the Faith, it gives me great pleasure to thank you in this issue of the Parish Calendar for your splendid contributions to the Annual Mission Sunday Collection, of October 22 last.

In most cases the returns indicate an increase over the previous year, and for this I am indebted to our Catholic laity as well as the clergy of the various parishes, who by their words from the pulpit in behalf of the Missions, made such increases possible.

Your generosity will be the means of gladening the hearts of many a missionary, who would not otherwise be able to carry on. Certainly I can assure you that you have done your share in aiding the spread of the Kingdom of Christ on earth, a cause so near and dear to the present Holy Father, Pope Pius XII, that of it he has said: "We shall spare no effort to cause the Catholic Religion to shine also upon distant peoples and to have the Shadow of the Cross, in which are life and salvation, fall upon the remote areas of the earth."

For this, your humble servant and Diocesan Director is and always will be eternally grateful. May God bless you.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN E. BOYLE, Diocesan Director.
